Gardening is farming in the superlative degree; the plough is an inverted spade, and the harrow is a horse rake. Many of the best practices in farming have been transferred from the garden to the field, and the nearer that field culture can be made to approach to gardening, the nearer it approaches to perfection. And, though a very strict analogy may not exist, yet, the connecting link is evidently not very lengthy, and may be much shortened. Gardening is very generally believed to be unprofitable, and an employment of luxury and a source of amusement. But, domestic gardening, when properly arranged and conducted, may be made a source of much profit, as it affords materials for the kitchen, the cow stall, the piggery, and the poultry yard; and to these ends, our views will all be directed. Fine fruits, and a profusion of flowers, are not much in the farmer's way; but the family table must be supplied with vegetables, the most wholesome and innocent of all human food.

Nothing can be done in the open ground during this month.

Fruit Room and Cellar.—Examine the fruit in barrels and on shelves, and the vegetables, pick out and remove the decayed and tainted.
