About the only thing that showed a lower range of prices last week, as compared with the week previous, was port cattle. The top price on Tuesday at the Union Stock Yards was $5.50 as the Union Stock Yards was $5.50 as compared with $5.55 a week ago. Pleked lots could have been sold higher, but drovers preferred to sell good and had together, rather than take a chance of selling without the cholecat ones. Export seters, good to choice, are quoted at $5.
