

LOVE YOUR ENEMIES,

Why should I love another
Who treat me ill?
Because he is my brother,
And God's child still.

Because my Lord forgives me
With patient love;
Though I have sinned, He gives me
Gifts from above.

Can I be harsh and hateful,
When thus forgiven?
Nor show that I am grateful
To God in Heaven?

The least that I can render
For love outpoured,
Is to be kind and tender,
To please my Lord.

"DOUBTING THOMASES,"

Remarked an eminent divine, "must exist in ratio to the too credulous." The habit of cautiousness is not, as a general thing inborn, but is the result of a naturally generous and confiding nature repeatedly victimized by the cunning and crafty. So the many disappointments, and often injurious effects, arising from the use of various vaunted remedies, have induced an undue cautiousness, and, in many cases, entire abandonment of the use of any. We call attention to the remedies of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, which physicians are employing in their practice with the most beneficial results. His "Golden Medical Discovery," for diseases of the lungs and kidneys, heart affections, fever and ague, dropsy, and all diseases of the blood, has never failed when put to the test.

A MONKEY HERO.

A nobleman had a favorite monkey, a large outrang-outrag. This monkey was very much attached to his master, and to the baby boy, who was the pet of the whole family. One day a fire suddenly broke out in the house, and everybody was running here and there to put it out, while the little boy was almost forgotten; and when they thought of him, the staircase was all in flames. What could be done?

As they were looking up and wondering, a large hairy hand and arm opened the window; and presently the monkey appeared with the baby in his arms, and carefully climbed down the porch, and brought the child safely to his nurse. Nobody else could have done it; for a man cannot climb like a monkey, and it not nearly so strong.

You may imagine how the faithful creature was praised and petted after that. This is a true story, and the child who was saved was the young Marquis of Kildare.—Children's treasury.

"THAT'S WHAT MY WIFE SAYS."

"How are all the folks?" asked Brown of Jones. "All well, except my wife," said Jones, "I'm worried about her. She tires out so easily; she complains of a backache about all the time, and she is so low-spirited that she don't seem like herself at all." "My dear fellow," interrupted Brown, "I'll tell you exactly what she needs. My wife had the very same symptoms a few months ago, but to-day she is the healthiest woman in town. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cured her, and it will cure Mrs. Jones, too. There's nothing on earth like it for the complaints to which the weaker sex are liable. That's what my wife says, and she knows." Guarantee to give satisfaction in every case, or money returned, printed on the bottle wrapper.

A SURE RELIEF.—I suffered from a hard Cough contracted by damp feet. Having consulted a local doctor without effect I thought I would try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam as a last resort. Before I had finished the first bottle my cough had entirely disappeared, and to-day I enjoy better health than ever before. I can conscientiously recommend it. Chas. H. ## WHY WE CALL THE CAT "PUSS."

Did you ever think why we call the cat "puss."

A great many years ago the people of Egypt, who have many idol gods, worshipped the cat. They thought she was like the moon, because she was more bright at night, and because her eyes changed just as the moon changes, which is sometimes full and sometimes only the bright crescent, or half moon, as we say. Did you ever notice your pussy's eyes to see how they change?

So these people made an idol with the cat's head and named it Pasht, the same name they gave to the moon; for the word means the "face of the moon."

That word has been changed to "pas" or "pus" and has come at last to be "puss," the name which almost every one gives to the cat.

Puss and pussy cat are the pet names for Kitty everywhere. Who ever thought of it as given to her thousands of years ago, and that then people bowed down and prayed to her?

Singers, Speakers,

EVERYBODY.

Sir Morell Mackenzie refused above offer to visit a patient in this country, but writes:

I have watched the effects of mineral waters for a considerable period, and regard them as extremely valuable in obstinate catarrhal affections and diseases of the throat and air passages, both local and general. Also, I frequently find them of great service in the case of singers and public speakers.
