SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1851.

Nihil ex nihilo fit. Our readers cannot expect anything new from us, unless we deliberately sit down and invent it, and we think they have had rather too much already of our inventions. We have been waiting patiently, like a rusty lightning-rod, for the political flash, that would cause us to explode upon the head of some unfortunate candidate for Parliamentary honours; but not a single rat has as yet ventured out of its hole—we cannot even find any body who deserves either praise or censure. Really we hope Montreal and the surrounding country is not on the high way of being congealed into a caraway comfit, for some hungry Hincks or other Government man to eat at his leisure. Really it is too bad, messrs—this comprehensive word, composed of the initial letters of the four cardinal points of the compass, to shew from how many quarters it derives its name and importance—we have none to tell, any more than the knife grinder of Southey.

Should the Pilot or the Gazette not electrify us in a day or two with an election squib, or a requisition, or a declaration of candidateship, with an address to the purest constituency in the world from the most single-hearted candidate that ever was launched out of a patriotic family, we must either die of inanition or take to abusing people—the latter of which would not be convenient for us at present, as our bat is not copper-lined, and our skull is considerably softer than an ax-handle. We hope, therefore, that our above-mentioned cotemporaries will take pity upon us, and give us something to do. We have no hope from the Herald, because he is usually so bilingual, or rather trilingual, that every one of his vaticinations always contains both an answer and a refutation in itself.

We publish the letter of "A Unitarian" which it intrinsically deserves, than to demonstrate to our readers the preposterousness and futility of argument which we have to encounter when we venture to approach any subject of public importance. Were we assured that the sentiments contained in the letter were those of the Unitarian body in Montreal, generally, we would be disposed to treat it with more respect; but being convinced, and indeed being told, that it is not so, we decline entering into the argument at all.

It may not be improper, however, to say that we strenuously adhere to our formerly expressed sentiments respecting the desecration of the Sabbath. The treaty of Quebec garanteed to the Romanists the quiet and unmolested exercise of their religion, and this guarantee has never been violated on our part; but this unmolested exercise is still a permitted exercise, which the British Government might have withheld. The country then became distinctly a Protestant country, of which the very question itself is a proof, and though it is true that the Roman Catholics prance up and down in it, as if it were still their own, and forget that they are merely tolerated by law, that surely is no reason why we should be disturbed in the quiet possession of an entire day which we esteem, and which British law recognises to be, Holy. We do not believe that the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in Canada themselves have any wish to disturb us, and therefore the question may safely be left to them and us—we can settle the matter surely without the intervention of a party hostile to both.

The following notice has been handed to us, and we recommend an early visit to all who have any taste for art or curiosity to obtain an easy view of scenes which have commanded the admiration of every age since the dawn of civilization in Europe:—

Bayne's Panorama of a Voyage to Europe, which has been so numerously attended for the past four weeks, will shortly close in Montreal, and we feel assured that it is only necessary to make the announcement to crowd the Saint Andrew's Hall. An afternoon exhibition this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at night at the usual hour.

Divine Service will be held (D. V.) on board the Shandon to-morrow, (Sunday,) at 3 o'clock, also in the Bethel School-room, Queen Street, at 9 o'clock, A. M., and 4, P. M., to which seamen and strangers are respectfully invited.

The Schools of Montreal are invited to assemble in the American Presbyterian Church at Three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, to hear an address from Mr. Gough. Admission free, but a collection will be taken up.

Mr. Gough has kindly consented to lecture on behalf of the Ladies' Benevolent Institution, and School of Industry, on Monday evening next. The meeting will take place in Zion Church, beginning at half-past 7 o'clock. Tickets 7½d. each may be procured from Messrs. S. J. Lyman, R. Chambers, H. Weir, J. C. Becher, C. Alexander, or Miss Harvey.

The claims of these excellent Institutions, combined with the celebrity of the Lecturer, should ensure one of the largest audiences which has yet been gathered in this city.

At a meeting of the Congregation and Building Committee of St. Ann's Church, held in the Vestry Room, on the 1st day of October, 1851, it was unanimously

Resolved,—That the grateful thanks of the Congregation and Building Committee of this Church, are especially due to the Rev. Dr. Adamson, for his great and labor in advocating with unwearied diligence, its claims on the generosity of the Congregations he was permitted to address, in the sister Dioceses and neighbouring States.

Resolved,—That while this Congregation entertain a lively recollection of the circumstance, that in the former building, the first sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Adamson; that moreover, he never took a deep interest in the welfare of the Congregation, and, that when the calamity occurred, which deprived them of their Sanctuary, he not only evinced in his counsels an earnest desire to restore their ruined structure, but has since testified by his labours and success, the reality of the interest he expressed towards the members of this Congregation.

Resolved,—That while the Building Committee and Congregation tender their thanks to Dr. Adamson for his remembrance of them during the season of his necessary absence from Montreal, as also do they wish to record their gratitude to the Clergy and Laity, who so kindly and liberally contributed towards the restoration of their Church.

It also,—That the foregoing Resolutions be communicated to the Rev. Dr. Adamson.

(Signed,) M. H. Gault,
Alex Smith,
Church Wardens.

Alfred Gough,
Secretary to the Building Committee.

My Dear Friends,—I have received with much gratification, your kind and unexpected expression of thanks, for the humble efforts which I had an opportunity to make, to obtain aid for the rebuilding of your ruined church. The kindliness, the hospitality, the ready desire to further my views, and the christian sympathy which met me wherever I proposed to urge your claims upon your fellow churchmen, rendered mine no laborious task, but on the contrary, an exertion which carried with it its own reward, in eliciting that benevolence which was already felt towards you, and only required to be called into action. It will therefore afford me much pleasure, to be the medium of communicating the testimony of your gratitude to the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese of Toronto, and of the city of Buffalo, who have so liberally contributed to the restoration of your House of Prayer. Your kind recollection and mention, that it was my privilege to preach the first sermon in the structure which fell a prey to the flames, brings forcibly to my mind the fact, that of the many munificent contributors on that occasion—from the princely nobleman who then guided the councils of this country, to the amiable and charitable widow, who "did good by stealth, and blushed to find it fame"—by far the greater number—short as the time is, have been called from this scene of trouble and uncertainty to the eternal world: a solemn lesson "to us who are alive and remain," that while we relax not our efforts to promote the worship and glory of God upon earth, we seek diligently after that holiness by which we shall attain admission into "the Temple not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Believe me, my dear friends,
Yours faithfully and sincerely,
W. Agar Adamson.

Committee of St. Ann's Church,

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

London, September 19, 1851.

Were it not for Foreign and Colonial items of intelligence, the press here would have great difficulty just now in satisfying the wants of its readers. It is one of the most fortunate things in the world for the newspaper editor and London Correspondent, that Austria has had her constitution withdrawn by Francis Joseph the 1st. The hunting of Lopez and his fellow brigands in Cuba, has saved many a journalist from hours of anxious toil. The proceedings of Sir H. Smith at the Cape have come to hand at the very nick of time to keep up the supply of news; and even the discovery of gold in Australia has done good service to the "press-gang." All these things have come most opportunely, for rarely has there been such stagnation in the news department. When Victoria left her Southern residence and took up her abode among the Scottish hills, all the island, as it were, went to sleep. One might almost imagine that it was out of respect to Her Majesty's personal comfort that such was the case, and that there was an anxious desire amongst all classes that the quietude of her retreat should not be marred by any rude echo from without. Those hard-worked Whig Ministers, who for so many months have been endeavouring to persuade the public that they were doing something, have abandoned red tape and Downing Street, and are now either at their country residences, rusticating among the heather, or cruising about the coast. Even the "Ecclesiastical Titles Bill" has had its day, and its Irish opponents, who but the other week raved against it, are seemingly resting in regard it as ought but a scarecrow in the hands of Her Majesty's protest advisers. True, a few Railway and Mining accidents have of late slightly ruffled the otherwise stagnant pool of general news, and been a perfect god-send to the penny-a-liners, who were reduced to the dreadful necessity of finding out aged Colonels who lagged in a single day enormous quantities of game, prolific sows, and wonderful pears, and such like odds and ends, or as the French term them, Canards. But even Railway accidents have lost their novelty. They have occurred, and are occurring, so often, that none minds them now but those who are unfortunate enough to be amongst the sufferers. The greatest talk of the season, the Great Exhibition, is now rapidly approaching its close, and the Crystal Palace itself, with all its "peaceful conquests," is likely soon to pass away, and be numbered with the things that were. Some men are speculating on its fate, but whilst they are speculating, its probable end draws nearer and nearer. How to get rid of this state of things continues a puzzle to every one of the leaders of that party, and it is not likely that either Sir J. Graham or Mr. Gladstone will be prepared to surrender their opinions for the sake of sharing the responsibilities of Government with Lord Palmerston. But even supposing those gentlemen so anxious for office as to compromise matters with the noble Lord, a great difficulty would present itself in the person of Lord Aberdeen, of whose policy they approve, and with whom, to a certain extent, they are identified. Whatever may be the nature and extent of the contemplated changes, these can be little doubt that the next Session will witness the complete overthrow of the Whig Ministry. The people are disgusted with Whigs and Whiggism, and they only await the opportunity of a General Election to effect the complete overthrow of one of the most imbecile Governments that ever presided over the affairs of this country.

The Daily News and Times have published some interesting letters from some officers at the Cape. One of these went from the Cape to the port of Buffalo, and thence up to King William's Town. On the journey he fell in with Pato. He found this Chief, upon whose fidelity we wholly depend, surrounded by State Councillors, huddled over a fire of green wood. The old Chief was sulky and cold, and had no covering but his dirty blanket. By degrees he became more communicate, and at last confiding enough to trust our traveller with a secret. After some unintelligible appeal "for a shilling to buy tobacco." The officer could not refuse such a trifle to so important a personage, who went away chuckling that the ninny could be so easily talked over. It is not generally known that there are about a score of these Chiefs with whom we have treaties, and we pay tribute to them to keep them in tobacco and good humour. The renowned Moshesh, who threatens to give Major Warden, our resident in the Orange River Sovereignty, some trouble, is paid £75 a year, in order to secure his alliance. This is the policy which is to civilize and bring over a parcel of blood-thirsty savages to the paths of peace. I wonder how long John Bull will stand quietly looking on, paying two or three millions every third or fourth year, just to carry out his "peace policy," which perversely insists of him, war is becoming frightfully expensive. Her Majesty's screw ship Vulcan is getting ready at Portsmouth to convey 600 more troops to the Cape. I really do not see what is to be done with the Kafirs. They will not be won over to our views; and when they fight they never stay to be killed.

The near approach of the time when the Exhibition is to be closed begins to tell on the masses. On Tuesday, the sum of £3,068 9s. 6d. was taken in shillings at the doors, and on Wednesday the cash taken amounted to £2,531 1s. 0d. The sale of season-tickets has been discontinued.

The accession of Lady Georgiana Fullarton to the ranks of the Roman Catholic faith is announced. Her Ladyship is endeavoring to raise a fund for the erection of model lodging-houses for the lower orders of the Irish frequenting the Metropolis. She is sister to Earl Granville, Vice-President of the Board of Trade, and niece to the Duke of Devonshire, and is known in the literary world as the authoress of "Ellen Middleton," "Grantley Manor," and other novels.

The obituary includes the names of the Earl of Donoughmore, well known as Colonel Hutchinson, for his noble conduct in aiding the escape of Lavalette from Paris, and Mr. Bersford, M. P. for Bradford. There now three Parliamentary seats vacant, viz.—for the East Riding of Yorkshire, East Retford, and Bradford. The fresh elections will not, however, alter the relative strength of parties.

—The Paris Opera continue to speculate about the Prince de Joinville's candidature, which will probably be announced officially in the season, after M. Thiers' visit to Claremont. The President has just laid the foundation stone of a great central market in Paris, and taken the opportunity to court popularity in French Billingsgate. We hear nothing further of the last "plot," but Constitutionnel Parisien.

Return of one of the Vessels of the American Arctic Expedition.

New York, Sept 30.—The brig Advance, of the American searching expedition, has arrived up to the New York Pier.

The Commercial has received the following account of the American Expedition in search for John Franklin—it will be remembered that the latest previous intelligence from the Rescue and the Advance, was to September, 1850, received through the English papers.

On that day they parted company with the English squadron, as mentioned in the despatches of Capt. Penny, on the same night they were frozen in at Wellington Channel. From that point commenced their northern drift, and they were carried up the Channel to lat. 75 25, the greatest northing ever attained in that meridian.

From that latitude they commenced drifting again to the South, and in November, 1850, entered Lancaster Sound. During this time the violence of the eruptions of the ice were so great that they could keep no fires regularly on account of the motion of the vessel. The mercury in the thermometer would fall below 0. The bedding from sea, to Louise, second daughter of the late F. every apartment, and the coffee and the soup became congealed as soon as taken off the fire.

The principal eruptions in the ice occurred on the 11th November and 6th December, 1850, and 12th January, 1851, on which latter day the expedition entered Baffin's Bay. During the continuance of this ice the vessels were lifted up by the stern as high as six feet seven or eight inches, and the dangers and inconveniences of which may well be imagined.

During this whole time, also, the men had to have their knapsacks constantly prepared, as well as sleighs, &c., not knowing but that any moment the vessels, strong as they were, might be crushed by the ice. They were three weeks without taking off their clothes—sometimes only the latter lifted up rather than crushed the vessels, which lay often at a considerable elevation on the crest of the upturning ice.

It was at this time that the scurvy broke out, attacking all the crew and officers. Capt. Haven and Dr. Kane succeeded by assiduous efforts in curing them all.

From this ice the vessels emerged on the 10th of June 1851.

During this time they had drifted 1000 miles—a polar drift unprecedented; during the whole imprisonment the two vessels suffered comparatively little damage.

The Advance lost part of her bulwarks and part of her false keel. The Rescue and her cutwater and bowsprit literally chipped off.

Having got both the vessels liberated, Capt. Dehaven determined again to try to prosecute his search, and turned the Advance's head to the North ward. He succeeded in reaching Upper Melville Bay, but was therein hemmed in with ice.

From this he was not liberated until Aug. 19th, so far advanced that it was impossible for him to proceed. He therefore reluctantly determined to return home.

The Advance called at the Greenland posts, where she obtained full supplies of fresh meats, vegetables, fruits, &c.

Dr. Kane soon had the happiness of seeing the scurvy entirely disappear. The expedition has returned without the loss of a man, which speaks volumes alike for the officers and the men.

The American vessels last saw the English ship Prince Albert on the 12th of August, standing S. S. E., after having given up, as Capt. Dehaven concluded, all hopes of getting round the bay ice, and making for the Southern passage. Capt. Dehaven thinks it probable that she would reach Prince Regent's Inlet.

Dr. Kane thinks, after seeing the regions and the resources on shore, that Sir John Franklin and his crew are probably yet alive. The Advance has brought home the relics of Sir John's visit to the place where three of his men were buried.

We learn from Mr. Grinnell that Lady Franklin entertains the same opinion as Dr. Kane, with respect to her noble husband.

David Hume declared that he would rather possess a cheerful disposition, inclining always to look on the bright side, than with a gloomy mind, be master of ten thousand a year.

Punch says, an astronomer being asked what the use of an eclipse was, replied—"Oh, I don't know; it gives the sun time for reflection."

A merry bachelor says that wives who are good needle-women are like the enemy spoken of in the parable; they sow tares while the husbandmen sleep.

"Shakspeare haunts me night and day," said a stage-strutting hero. "That he is so eternally haunted," remarked a bystander, "is not to be wondered at at all, for he has most cruelly murdered him in everything he has undertaken."

A person who had got some little smattering of zoological lore, said one day to a novice that crocodiles were often seen in tears. "Oh, that's nothing," rejoined the novice, "I've often myself seen whales blubber."
