This evening Mrs. Geo. Watt will be the hostess at a dance at the Golf club, in honor of Miss Mary Watt and the guests who are here for the wedding next Wednesday.

Many friends will be glad to hear that Mrs. VanAllen (sister of Mrs. E. L. Goold) who is at present visiting in the Oganagan valley, B. C., and who has been ill with coast fever, is rapidly regaining her health.

Mrs. Thomas Watt entertained at the tea hour Wednesday, in honor of the bride, Miss Mary Watt, and her bridesmaids to be, Mrs. McLean of Chicago received with the hostess. The rooms, in white flocks and lily of the valley, spelt "bridal array."

A pleasant feature was seeing the beautiful trousseau—the art of the needlewoman, shown to perfection. In the tea room, Mrs. Harris Poppell and Mrs. David Wright were the hostesses. Mrs. Geo. Watt, St. Paul's avenue, and Mrs. Barton McLean assisted, while Mrs. C. J. Watt set the table.

Mr. Jack Hope, Toronto, is a week end visitor in town.

Messrs. Duckworth and McEwen of Mt. Pleasant Road, won the day by carrying off three first prizes on their ponies at the Burford fair.

The bridge given last evening by Miss Sadie Scarfe was rather a unique affair. It was quite jolly, quite recherche and all the rest of it.

Mr. Jack Hunter, formerly a Brantford newspaper man, now the owner of a paper in Kincardine, is a visitor in the city, the guest of his mother.

Gradually the Autumn forests shine rich as the gold in an Indian mine. A dreamy mist; a vapor smoke hangs over the arches of summer green oak.

Next Monday evening the bridal party and the guests who will be in town for the Poppell-Watt wedding, will attend the opera house to hear the popular play "Peg o' My Heart."

Rev. Charles Deacon, and Mrs. Deacon, of Tara, formerly of Brantford announce the engagement of their daughter, Ada Esther, to Mr. Alvin J. Grigg of Pembroke, the marriage to take place on October 18.

There was an enjoyable stag party at the Brantford Club last evening, given by the ushers of the Poppell-Watt nuptial event. The groom-to-be was the recipient of the heartiest congratulations all round.

Mrs. Gordon Duncan received for the first time since her marriage on Thursday afternoon, looking very chic in pale blue silk. She was assisted by Mrs. Wm. Duncan, Sr. The rooms were artistically done in pink roses.

Many callers came and went during the afternoon. Mrs. David Waterous poured tea and Mrs. Clapsett presided at the coffee urn.

Thursday a run in a motor to the country, showed nature in its lovely Autumn attire. From the highway at Lynmore, an alluring landscape greets one. Far as the eye can see the purple hedge in the distance; golden browns and yellows; makes a picture refreshing to the vision, and the bright scarlet flowers, no place like the deep blue sky and autumn tints for their setting.

The gracious host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cockshutt, received their guests at tea. After a chat over the tea cups, down to the beautiful garden where you visit the kennel of canine aristocracy. How nice they look! Six puppies with tan legs and tan faces, gazing at the humans.

real Ayralda pups, with a pedigree as long as your arm. Their coat of arms we know not, but I should say "would be, "We frolic along." Dogology is an attractive study, and all the ladies did love "the dear things." It was growing dark, and you soon enter the motor again, and home, when the evening shadows spell "dinner."

A Shower.
Miss Mary Watt, the bride-to-be, was given a useful shower. You see, Mrs. Harris Poppell and Miss L. Large, the hostesses, were for the kitchen's right. 'Twas a wise and bright conceit made Dame Fashion dictate showers. But on Tuesday of this week the kitchen shower was quite unique. Of course they sent a dipper, a pot and pan and tray, a kettle, bowl and chopper, a wrench of course and tray, and such a lot of useful stuff you could not write it down. But when the bride's kitchen is furnished and so bright—a cook, with cap and apron, will glory at the sight.

In Honor of the Bride Elect.
Never perhaps in the history of the Galt Golf Club was there a prettier or merrier function than the dinner given on Wednesday evening, in honor of the bride-to-be, prospective groom and brides maids. Away they went in motor cars jubilant and happy as youth so well knows how. With Cupid for chaperon, and a dinner-dance in view, the evening was sure to be a lovely one. When they arrived at their destination, the rooms were bright in gala attire for the guests. A bright fire smiling a welcome, and Mr. Harvey Cockshutt and Miss Elsie Cockshutt, the kind host and hostess, looking well after the comfort of their guests. Covers were laid for thirty. You may be sure after a drive in the crisp atmosphere the dainty menu was much enjoyed. The table was centred with roses and each guest was presented with a rose-favor. The bride-to-be and her maids looked charming in their smart dinner frocks. Those present were: Miss Mary Watt, Miss Elsie Cockshutt. The brides maids, Misses Gould-Uxbridge, Ward Knafman, Burden (Toronto) L. Large, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Scarfe Mr. and Mrs. Paterson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Preston, Mrs. Barton McLean (Chicago), The Misses N. Wallace, Marjory and Dorothy Wilkes, Sadie Scarfe, Messrs. Harvey Cockshutt, Harvey Watt, T. L. Watt, S. Schell, F. Caudwell, R. Scarfe, H. McMurray, S. Large, Iden Champion, M. McEwen.

The London popular hostess is Mrs. Katan Tata, wife of the well known Indian millionaire. Mrs. Katan Tata lives in beautiful York House near Turckenheim, and invitations to her parties are much sought after.

Another extremely popular hostess is Miss Monica Grenfell, daughter of Lord and Lady Desborough.

Col. Logie of Hamilton and Mr. Harry Watson, city, were present at the obsequies of Miss Vivian Atkins Paris.

Mr. Hamilton, who was the guest of Miss Veigh, returned to Picton, N. S. this week.

In one of the largest silk manufacturers in London which keeps many Lyons firms employed and which produces wonderful colors, the latest color is called "Hirondelle" and is the color of swallows' wings—a most ravishing and quite delicious blue. Others are variations on faded rose, and a lovely new shade of tempered emerald green.

The news of the death of Miss Vivian Atkins of Paris came as a shock to her friends in this city. The late Miss Atkins was so bright, so good, so clever. The only remaining daughter at home—the light of the home circle. What a blank! Some day the sunburs will come when family recollections will be happy, that all the dark shadows will vanish. We are like children "crying in the dark with nothing but a cry."

A Window.
A window—what a story could be written about windows. To-day we write of a window on Colborne Street a passing glance reveals such a unique window, that one pauses to investigate. Trophies are in evidence to celebrate a century of peace, between ourselves and our neighbors to the south of us. Colonial and Indian relics that have come down to tell an interesting tale of the past. There is Canada's first governor, Simcoe, looking on the passers by reminding them of what hardships he endured bravely for our new struggling country's sake. Chief Brant is there, also his tomahawk having a long rest, after terrible tribal fights. A head purse made by Brant's sister, Indian money (wampum) used by the Indians when making their treaties. Some native pottery four centuries old; an Indian mill and pounder used by the red men to pound corn over two centuries ago. Space forbids a detailed account of the window's interesting treasures. Tribal pipes, old flutes (flintlocks) used in the war of 1812, and many unique specimens, makes a visit to the window quite worth while. A chair with the general owner Mr. John Wallace adds to the interest, as he is well informed regarding Colonial and Indian history. The contrast and convenience of present day living compared with the past tells a story of what inconvenience the early settlers endured in days of yore.

Nuptial Notes

MCGREGOR—VANDERLIP.
A happy event transpired this morning at the manse when Rev. D. T. McClintock united in marriage, Miss Mable Vanderlip of Langford, and Mr. Wm. McGregor of this city. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor will reside in the Holmedale.

Silver Wedding.
Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glass, 27 Oak St. north, observed their silver anniversary when thirty invited guests, which included relatives and friends, were entertained at their pretty home. Music and speeches enlivened the evening. A dainty lunch was served. Many gifts were received and wishes extended for the future happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Glass. Among the guests from out of the city were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Hopkins, Toronto; Mr. Frank Springstead, Toronto; Miss Springstead, London; Mrs. W. T. Kerr, Dundas, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Rounds, Galt.

very interesting programme was carried out and those present thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the affair was noted a great success in every particular.

The first part of the evening was given up to games. In the Bulls Eye Competition, Miss Callender won first prize and Mrs. John Hoe, second.

Captain E. H. Newman, commander of the company was master of ceremonies. After the games a short programme followed. Those who contributed to the same were: Address, Capt. E. H. Newman; song, Pte. Warner's institute last night.

The social affair was a success in every way a large number of Capt. M. Colquhoun; song, Miss Callender of the company and their leader; address, Capt. D. Gibson; song, lady friends being in attendance; A Capt. H. McLean.

At the conclusion of the concert, a dainty luncheon was served by Caterer S. Crumback. After justice had been done to the good things which were provided for the occasion Major Genet presented the prizes to those who were successful at the ranges at the recent company shoot.

In presenting the prizes Major Genet congratulated the men on their shooting and asked them to give this department their careful attention and to be constantly on the ranges.

A pretty, little dance, brought the affair to a close shortly before midnight.

Home comfort and Cromptons' handsome floor rugs go together.

The Success of Your Evening Gown Depends on the Richness of its Fabrics This Season!

Shimmering Brocaded Silks, Velours, Satins and Velvets, reign supreme. The day is past where a plain silk if well made and trimmed could hold its own with the best. To-day only the young girl may wear simple or flimsy fabrics.
Weight to give draping quality. Suppleness for close-clinging lines; these are essentials and then, on top of that to get the fascinating new shades; and still more to get the reasonable pricing—there is the problem which we have triumphantly solved in our lovely unequalled offering.
Brocaded Velvets, Crepe de Chene, Ninons' Chamois. These have richness and sheerness combined; colors come in Purple, Hemter, Green, Brass, Dutch Blue, Midnight. From $1.50 to $5.00 a yard.
