KINGSTON DOOMED

Capital of Jamaica Wiped out by Earthquake—Heavy Casualty List

London, Jan. 17.—Reports received here from St. Thomas district estimate the casualties at Kingston at about 1,000 killed; say that about some 9,000 persons are homeless and place the damage done at about ten millions of dollars. Concerning the latter, while fire insurance companies all liability, under the earthquake clause in their policies, marine, insurance societies are likely to be pretty hard sufferers, risks of fire to merchandise, wares and warehouses having been largely carried by those companies of recent years, and their policies do not appear to include an earthquake clause.

WIPED OUT

London, Jan. 17.—Kingston has been wiped out, the damaged area comprising about one square mile. All the large warehouses in the lower part of the city were consumed, while not a single house anywhere remained undamaged and the majority are unfit for habitation. When the disaster was fled, the bodies of many whites, who had been staying at the Myrtle Bank hotel, were still beneath the wreck, as it was impossible to secure workmen to search the debris.

A conservative estimate of the casualties, made by the police of Kingston, places the number killed at 1,200, judging from the number of bodies already discovered in the few buildings which have been examined. This estimate, the correspondent adds, is likely to be increased when a thorough search is made of the buildings.

The treasury on Harbor street is standing but the post office and the court house are in ruins. The government offices are unsafe for occupancy. The government houses were badly damaged. The colonial bank was burned out. Nova Scotia Bank was a heap of ruins, and the residence of general Marshall went down like a pack of cards. Marshall was dug out alive, but slightly injured.

At Port Royal, at the entrance of Kings street harbor, one of the batteries sank and a gunner was killed. The ships in the harbor were converted into hospitals. The deck of the steamer which brought Sir Alfred Jones and party to Jamaica, resembled an ambulance. Dr. Vans, the ship's doctor was busy performing operations from 5 o'clock in the evening to 3 o'clock next morning.

CITY SHRIVELLED

London, Jan. 17.—Details of the Kingston disaster are given in one of the latest despatches received here dated from Holland Bay, January 15th. According to this report the whole city shrivelled up, buildings crashed together, and fell in a crushing mass, like egg shells under the first shock. The business streets, at the time were well filled with tourists, who were shopping, and, according to the correspondent, no doubt many of them were caught in the falling brick work and buried in the debris.

Fire broke out immediately after the crash at three points. The fire department station in Station street was wrecked, rendering resistance to the flames impossible. The conflagration continued unchecked till Tuesday morning, by which time the whole business section of Kingston was wiped out.

W. J. BRYAN TO BUTTE ELKS

Great Commoner Says Honesty Will Soon Not Mean Keeping out of Jail

Butte, Jan. 19.—Addressing the Elks Club in this city at an informal banquet William Jennings Bryan in responding to a very flattering reception said: "A man in public life must be praised more than he deserves by his friends to make up for the abuse he gets from his enemies. I shall store all these things up, and when the republicans say a lot of mean things about me I shall still be ahead."

"As a matter of fact," continued Mr. Bryan, "men in public life are often given more credit than they deserve. In the army the general gets the credit and the private dies on the field. I don't want to transfer to my shoulders the credit. Because I have been conspicuous in the fight, do not shower all the commendation upon me, when there are thousands who fought for me who deserve most of it."

Mr. Bryan said he had been called into politics because no one else wanted the nomination. He had been a candidate for high office. The very prominence these honors gave him had been a great help to him. "But I should like," he said, "to transfer a large share of the praise given me to those heroic souls who fought the same battles and at a greater risk. I know of men who were threatened with bankruptcy for the part they took in the fight, yet they braved it for their principles. I know of men working for corporations who were told how to vote, and who replied 'We sold you our labor, not our citizen-ship,' and they lost their places. God has made the path easy for me, and he has laid an obligation on me that I will take a lifetime to repay. My great solicitude is not to hold office, but to hold the confidence of those with whom I live.

THIS NATION BEST

"I believe that this is the greatest government in the world, not because it is perfect, but because we have the machinery to make it as good as we want. There is more virtue in the people than is expressed by their representatives always. I want to make this government as strong as I can. We have governmental problems to solve, and they will not pass away with this generation. Every generation finds some unfinished work for it to do, and it leaves still more for the one that follows. If our government is not good it is our fault. It was Plato who said that if the people would not discharge their duty, their punishment would be to live under the wicked."

hall will be secured for the show and will be fitted up with the most modern coops for all exhibits. Mrs. Page of Moosomin reported that the town council at that point had promised for competition a shield to be known as the "Moosomin Challenge Shield" and valued at $100. The president, S. Chivers-Wilson and the vice president, Seymour Green, Moose Jaw, have also offered silver cups as prizes and several other equally valuable trophies received from different sources, will be included in the prize list which will, indeed, compare most favorably with old established shows. The association is anxious to stimulate farmers to take a keener interest in the production of market poultry and winter eggs and as a means to this end a special will be offered to be competed exclusively by them.

The Minister of Agriculture has promised to help along the good work in every legitimate way and it is expected that the department of agriculture will provide an expert judge to place the awards. The prize list is being compiled with all possible haste and will be supplied to those interested on application to the secretary, Fred Bradshaw, Regina.
