CRICKET

There will be a practice match Wednesday afternoon between the following teams to commence at 3 p. m., sharp, and all those whose names appear, and any others, are requested to be present on time.

The local club will probably be reinforced this week, by two good cricketers who have secured situations here.

The tour of the western team is nearly assured, to be composed of the best in Detroit and Chatham teams, to represent us in a week of cricket at Toronto and Hamilton.

Charming Summer Resort

Two interesting little books of the illustrated folder type have been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System, one being entitled "Songs of the Nipissing," and the other "The Eastern Coast of Lake Huron."

The illustrations are very numerous, are of all sizes, and are scattered through the pages to elucidate the text and appear to the eye just as the story told in the letter press does to the mind.

The prevailing note in these little works, upon which a profitable half hour may be spent by the reader, is the craving for change, and there can be no doubt that men and women who live in the stress and strain of to-day, and feel the throes of advanced and advancing civilization, do require change—complete change for mind and body.

The haunts described here minister to the intellectual as well as the physical health of judicious dwellers in cities. The physical exercises that can be obtained among the woods and waters create and promote a perfectly sound bodily condition, while the multifarious life that is to be found, stimulates the intellectual faculties and prompts inquiry and investigation into nature's ways and fauna. The maps which are in these pamphlets enable the visitor to the lake, to realize his bearings at whatever part he may be, and the general information given enables him to economize his time and spend it to the best advantage.

Copies may be had on application to W. E. Rispen, 115 King street, Chatham.

THE CANADA PAVILION.

That at Wolverhampton Has a Colonnaded Front and a Lofty Gilded Dome—A Striking Building.

At Wolverhampton, Eng., the Canadian Government has a separate building, a pavilion with a colonnaded front and lofty gilded dome. It is one of the most striking and beautiful buildings on the grounds. It is rectangular in plan, covering an area of 8,000 square feet, and situated between the Industrial and Machinery Halls, the main front facing the park. On passing through the portico, which emphasizes the main entrance, one is immediately under the dome which gives an imposing and dignified effect to the interior, and which is further enhanced by a most pleasing color scheme in royal purple and white. Additional entrances are varied in design, facing the Industrial and Machinery Halls.

The first object to claim the attention on entering the Canadian Pavilion is the magnificent trophy of grain, grasses and cereals. This forms the centrepiece of the large circular dome, which rises to a height of 40 feet. The trophy is circular at the base, and rises almost to the top of the dome. It is the base of which, about 40 feet in circumference, four large arches are sprung to the walls, the whole being so arranged as to form a sort of temple of cereals. The grain and grasses are shown in sheaves and bunches, festooned and wreathed in many varied and artistic forms. On the immense stand in the centre are grouped hundreds of bottles of all shapes and sizes, containing specimens of wheat, oats, barley, rye, Indian corn, peas, fax, millet, buckwheat, and in fact all the leading varieties of grains, grasses and fodder plants which grow to such perfection in Canada. These samples are all carefully labeled, giving the name and address of the grower, yield per acre, etc. The collection contains thousands of samples, comprising over five hundred different varieties. The exhibit is probably the best of the kind ever seen in England. It is an object-lesson that cannot fail to impress every one who sees it with the fact that Canada is a country rich in agricultural resources of almost endless variety. The list of varieties of grain shown is as follows: Oats 107 varieties, two-rowed barley 30, six-rowed barley 38, fall wheat 22, spring wheat 117, peas 61, Indian corn 27, millet 9, Soja beans, horse beans, fax and hops.

To the right of the trophy there is a splendid display of food products, in which many Canadian firms are represented.

Canada is celebrated for her fruit, and here we find four pyramids containing fruit of all kinds preserved in antiseptic fluid. A long table, artistic in design, contains fifty varieties of apples, which have been preserved in cold-storage since they were packed last autumn.

The mineral section contains a great number of specimens, suggestive of Canada's richness in mineral resources and the immense possibilities which will follow in the way of development from increased investment of capital. The exhibit is an extensive one, including gold nuggets, gold-copper ores, nickel and nickel products, various gold ores from different provinces, petroleum, graphite, coal, silver-lead ores, iron and steel exhibits, mica, asbestos, manganese, antimony, mineral paints, copper ores, ornamental and building stone, bricks and clays, corundum, etc.

Canada is famous for her richness in the wealth of her forests. The display in the forestry section in the pavilion is a most attractive and pleasantly varied in the large number of exhibits of different classes of timber, many being shown in the log, square, as well as finished and planed. The specimens are all labeled. Photographs of many varieties of Canadian trees are displayed in frames made from the wood which they represent. A few pieces of furniture are also here shown, illustrating the manufactured product. This section includes splendid specimens (stuffed) of some of the noble animals in which sportsmen take great interest and in which Canadian forests abound.

Prominently displayed on the walls of the Canadian Pavilion are some solid facts regarding Canada's varied resources: forests, mineral, agricultural, fruit, fisheries and dairying. These are so arranged that they can be taken in at a glance, and in a minute or two enable the visitor to judge for himself of the progress which has been made of recent years.

The Fugitives From Slavery.

We observe a paragraph going the rounds of the press, originally published in a western paper, which estimates the number of colored persons who have entered Canada during the last three years at no less than 30,000. We have the very best means of ascertaining the truth of the matter, and we can state positively that the highest computation by well-informed persons does not make the number more than 3,000. There are not more than 30,000 in the country altogether, although so early as 1826 the American Government complained "to Great Britain against her harboring of fugitive slaves in Canada," which shows that a considerable number must have come over even at that early day. In New York State, with its three millions of population, there are not more than 50,000 colored persons resident.

—From The Globe of June 10, 1852.

Canadian Arch in London.

The Canadian Arch in London, in Whitehall, London, will certainly be one of the novelties of the coronation. The structure of wood will be only a background for a representation of the coronation products of the colony. The leaves of the maple and other representative trees and flowers of Canada will figure on its surface, and beneath the archway under which the procession will pass will appear the motto "The Future Granary of the Empire."

Eight British commanders have been granted dukedoms.

THE DARRELL SCRUBS

Oh, have you heard of our fame! The "Darrell Scrubs" is our name; Old Darrell City is our town, While for Scrubs they set us down.

In our shining pants of blue, We will scrap like soldiers true, With our sweaters all so black, We will never turn our back.

O, the Red Caps think we're green, Say we never will be seen, But we'll get there just the same, For we play a grand old game.

For our forwards they are keen, And our backs the best you've seen, And our boys they all play fast, So we're sure to score at last.

But the girls they say we're proud, Say we're all a bunny crowd; And the boys call us very small, Say, in short, we "can't play ball."

We will fool them just the same, For they'll find us very game, We won't let them turn us down, For we do our job up brown.

We were fortunate in making our contracts for stock previous to the advance in prices. Everything is not only of the latest style, but is being sold on the CASH and One Price Principle that dominates our store. Pleased to show you through whether you think of buying or not.

Clothing

One of the Most Stirring Offerings That We Have Ever Made

Saturday, July 19th

A glance at the facts and figures below will tell you that better than the words here.

No matter what kind of clothes you want, no matter whether you are going away, or going to stay at work at home, here are exactly the clothes you need, at the lowest prices for which thoroughly good clothes were ever sold and there are plenty of them.

You never meet disappointment in coming to our clothing store. We never tell of a few dozen good suits in order to top you with buying suits of indifferent value when the good ones are gone. We'll do bigger selling than we dare hope for if we don't have plenty of all these garments for everybody who comes all day long Saturday. And that's the wonder of Austin's Clothing Sales. That's why this clothing store is famous in Kent County and round about. That's why thousands respond to such an offering as we will make Saturday.

The garments are handsome as man or boy could wish, as good as hand-made, and at prices better than you'd dare hope for, till this word came. Read on.
