Mrs Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward's Work for Temperance.

In the latest chapter of her delightful biographical sketch now appearing in McChur's Magazine, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps tells the story of her awakening on the temperance question.

She was spending the summer as usual at her little retreat at Gloucester and, in one of her evening rides, found her way suddenly blocked by an excited crowd in front of a saloon whose very existence had been unknown to her.

She describes her own previous ignorance and the effect of this tragedy upon her.

"As for what is known, in this country, as the temperance movement, it was as unfamiliar to me as the gospel of Tabitha."

It was reared in circles which pursued their own propensities of Christian charity in their own ways, and which knew but little of this form of ethical progress.

In a word, I was without education for that kind of service to humanity, and I had, hitherto, paid no more attention to it than any woman of society.

In fact, if the truth were to be told, I had, perhaps, little more confidence in the wisdom of its prevailing methods.

Ignorance is always prejudice and I was prejudiced in proportion to mine.

"That Gloucester murder and the short hour I spent in that devastated home, did for me what all the temperance conventions and crusades of America, generally by braver and broader-minded women than I, had failed to do."

All my prejudices went down and my common sense and human heart went up. From that day I asked no questions; I had no replies; but gave my sympathy, without paltry hesitation, to the work done by the women of America for the salvation of men endangered or ruined by the liquor habit."

Like other great souls, Mrs Phelps Ward is generous to others, stern with herself. But in truth, the brave and broad-minded woman who has generally the temperance work would freely confess that, like Mrs Ward, they knew little or nothing of the need of temperance work until something brought to them as to her an "arrest of thought."

None of them, it may be safely said, entered upon the work from an abstract sense of the need and their own duty. The details have differed but the process has been much the same in all cases as in the case of Mrs Ward. And not one of them responded more nobly and fearlessly to the call of duty when once that call smote upon her ear.

The story of the meeting she conducted on the next Sabbath in the saloon where the murder took place and of her subsequent work among these Gloucester fishermen is worthy of a place among the most heroic deeds of the temperance work. Mr Ward tells less than we would be glad to hear of her work, but its results may be judged from the fact that women came to her asking her to stop their husbands from drinking."

And strange men stopped her in the streets with the words, "I hear when you talk to folks they stop drinking. I wish you'd talk to me."

The following letter signed "Frances E. Willard" and "Isabel Somers", was sent to the great Peace Convention in Buda-Pesth, Austria:

"To the Inter-Parliamentary Peace Union: HONORABLE BROTHERS:—The World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, representing half a million of members in more than forty different countries, sends you its warmest greetings by Dr W. Evans Derby, of London, secretary of the Peace Society of Great Britain."

We have had from the beginning a department of peace and international arbitration, and have worked in harmony with the great society represented by Dr Derby. Our aims and objects are identical so far as this department is concerned, and we only regret that our duties at home make it impossible for us to be present, as we had hoped might be our privilege, to witness and participate in your deliberations, representing as we do the British and American nations, which in the Providence of God seem likely to be the first to clasp hands in international amity and concord. We rejoice to recognize that this action will be the moving forward of the hand of a great procession bearing instead of sword, the white flag of peace, parity, and universal brotherhood, into lines with which procession every nation of the earth shall come.

To help bring this consummation the women that we represent, whose badge is the white ribbon, and whose motto is "For God and Home and Every Land," pledge themselves to work and pray while life shall last, and to besought the Holy Spirit to their assistance."

may be sent to our societies in all parts of the world to give them renewed energy and good cheer in their high endeavor.

"Honored brothers, we are yours for the protection of the home, the peace and freedom of the state, and the happiness of the great family of nations."

A LIFE OF MARTYDOM

Endured by Those Who Suffer from Constant Headache.

One Who Suffered Thus for Over Twenty Years Relates Her Experience, Which Will Prove Valuable to others.

From the Tribune, Mattawa, Ont.

Among the residents in the vicinity of Mattawa there is none better known or more highly esteemed than Mr and Mrs R. Ranson, who have been residents of this section for the past fifteen years.

Mrs Ranson has been a great sufferer for years, her affliction taking the form of dizziness and violent headaches, and the attacks would come upon her so suddenly that she could scarcely reach her bed unaided, and would be forced to remain for three or four days, unable to take any nourishment and suffering more than tongue can express.

She was but seventeen years of age when these attacks first came upon her, and the doctor who then attended her, said that in his opinion her life would not extend over a few years at most.

But more than a score of years have since passed during the greater part of which, in truth, Mrs Ranson was a great sufferer. But that is happily now past, and she is enjoying better health than ever she did.

To a reporter of the Tribune Mrs Ranson told her story, adding earnestly that she hoped her experience might prove of benefit to some other sufferer.

"The spalls of dizziness and intense headaches would attack me every three or four weeks, and would last from two to four days at each attack, and with each attack my suffering appeared to grow more intense. I had good medical advice, and tried many remedies, but with no beneficial result.

In the spring of 1895 my appetite began to fail, my hands and feet would swell, and my heart palpitate violently. I was utterly discouraged, and felt that I would not live much longer. One day my daughter urged me to give Dr Williams' Pink Pills a trial, but I had taken so much medicine with no benefit that I refused.

However, she went to town and got four boxes, and to please her more than for any hope of benefit I agreed to take them. I did not find the first box did me any good, but by the time I had taken the second my appetite began to improve and I could sleep better.

I then began to have faith in them, and as I continued their use I found myself constantly getting better. When I had finished the fourth box both myself and friends were surprised to find that I had not had a headache for more than six weeks, the action of my heart had become regular, and I could sleep soundly all night. I was still weak, however, and decided to continue the use of the pills, which I did until three more boxes were used. Since then I have been stronger than at any time for years before and have not had a headache or pain.

I can do my work, have a new interest in life and feel ten years younger. I feel that Dr Williams' Pink Pills will do for others what they have done for me, and believing this I am glad to make my story public in the hope that it will be of value to some other sufferer."

Mrs Ranson's husband and mother were both present and say that they look upon her recovery as miraculous. They further said that many and noisy night they had sat up keeping hot cloths on her head, that being the only treatment that had helped her, before she began the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills.

This great remedy not only cures the disease, but drives it to the root of the disease, driving it from the system, and curing when other remedies fail.

Every box of the genuine Dr Williams' Pink Pills, has the trade mark on the wrapper around the box, and the purchaser can protect himself from imposition by refusing all others. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

MAKE NO MISTAKE. Your Case Demands The Use of Pain's Celery Compound.

Imitations and Substitutes Are Dangerous to Yourself and Others.

See that you make no mistake when you are making efforts to regain lost health. At this particular time safety, care and vigilance will insure a large measure of your success.

Your case demands the use of the best medicine that science has produced. The acknowledged triumph of medical research is Pain's Celery Compound, the only pure and permanent cure for all nervous diseases, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, rundown system, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles, and blood diseases.

An error made at this time by the use of common medicines, imitations and vile substitutes may lead to complicated troubles and serious results.

Thousands in this land of ours have known of the shackles of disease and suffering by the use of Pain's Celery Compound. It waits to do the same good work for you. There is no experimental work with Pain's Celery Compound; do not fear defeat or disappointment; the great medicine cures and builds up every man and woman even after the doctors have given them up.

See that you get the genuine Pain's Celery Compound from your dealer; look for the name "Pain's" and the stalk of celery.

The doctor has forbidden me to drink anything but this.

Tommy, what is a miracle?

Something that never happens, unless No. 1 isn't exactly that. But can you illustrate what you mean?

All I know is that mon says it would be a miracle if pap comes home sober.

A little girl who had mastered her catechism confessed herself disappointed because, she said, "though I obey the fifth commandment and honor my papa and mamma, yet my papa and mamma are not in the land because I am put to bed at 7 o'clock."

Excuse me, but it seems to me that I must have met you before. Are you not a brother or near relative of Major Jones?

"No; I am Major Jones himself."

"Ah, indeed; that explains the remarkable resemblance."

"Yes, ah; I sayed de mule was safe, ah. But if y' kin recollect, I can't say nuffin about wedder it was safe in his vicinity. Dat mule is able enough to be safe anywhere."

One Sunday as a certain Scotch minister was returning homeward he was accosted by an old woman, who said:

"Oh, sir, well do I like the day when you preach."

The minister was aware that he was not very popular and answered:

"My good woman, I am glad to hear it. There are too few like you. And why do you like it when I preach?"

"Oh, sir," she replied, "when you preach I always get a good seat."

A French writer has had a vision of the city of the future, Cyclopolis by name.

The city was full of wheels—bicycles, tricycles, motorcycles, petroleum cars, automobiles, and there is no telling what else. But one day the city had a sensation. All the newspapers issued special bulletins. A man had been seen walking—yes, walking on his own legs.

The Cyclopolis could hardly believe their eyes, and it was with wonderful stranger, we are assured, amidst a large throng of gazing onlookers, which soon became the fashionable sport.

A young woman at a well dinner party in St. Louis, the other day, failed to see the sugar tongs, and helped herself to a dish with her own fingers, whereupon the hostess, a pompous woman, after glaring at the offender called sternly to the butler, James, remove the sugar bowl and have it refilled. Which was done, and the Duchess of the table, who was named as the party was leaving the room, a crash was heard, and the entire guest was seen smiling down at the ruins of her beautiful cup and saucer, which she had thrown against the wall. Having defiled them by touching them, she explained she thought best to see that they were destroyed.

One night three men were in the Fall-staff Inn on God's Hill, and Dickens and his guests went over to enquire into it. Amid the confusion a man complained that the landlord had struck him with a tankard. "Is that true?" Dickens asked. "Well, sir," said the landlord, "whether it be that man on the bed or a pewter pot, or whether it did not 'it that man on the bed or a pewter pot, but it is not for me, sir, to say; but the innkeeper has my mind, sir, his that he did not. Dickens suppressed a chuckle, and with dignified gravity responded: "Whether you hit that man on the head with a pewter pot, or whether you did not, it is not for me to say."

You won't feel the Wind even tho' you're out all day, when you have your clothing interlined with Fibre Chamois. Because it is a complete non-conductor of heat and cold, and preserves the natural warmth of the body, keeping out every breath of raw air and frosty wind. What's more, the water-proof Rigby process makes it impervious to the driving sleet or an all day's rain. Prepare to enjoy thorough comfort outdoors in all weather by seeing that this popular interlining is put in all your ordered clothing, and only buy the ready-made garments which have the Fibre Chamois Label. It only costs 25 cents a yard, and will provide a healthful warmth of which nothing can rob you.

Granby Rubbers It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick, and best. Don't Draw the Feet They Fit the Feet.

A Kings County Man Who Has Circled the Globe Three Times. R. E. Pines has probably seen as much of the world if not more, than any other Nova Scotian. He has travelled many thousands of miles and is now in Halifax, the guest of J. J. Hunt, barrister. He has crossed the Atlantic eighteen times and has thrice travelled the circuit of the globe. He has made nine visits to India which alone is equal to 100,000 miles of travel. Mr Pines is a native of Canning Nova Scotia, which place he left when he was 23 years of age. He went direct to Boston, and from there took passage on a sailing vessel for India. He had no fixed object in view, but started out as an adventurer. The passage to India occupied 128 days and during all that time land was only sighted twice. He was in India in 1857 during the Indian Mutiny. His business qualifications soon gained for him a standing in Ceylon. He went into coffee raising and made a success of it. For 23 years he has been the representative of Loring Bros., in Ceylon, 60th superintendent of estates and then 5th inspector, and for thirty years he has been a tea planter in the same place. He has amassed considerable wealth and was appointed director and secretary of the planters' tea company, of Ceylon. He was the first mover in the matter of introducing Ceylon tea in America. In 1873 the export to America of Ceylon tea was only a few chests. In 1894 the export was 70,000,000 pounds. Mr Pines was one of the chief organizers of the tea planters' association in Ceylon, the promoters being Hon. J. J. Greig, Hon. G. M. G. Hon. W. W. Mitchell, Hon. T. E. Kelly, Hon. W. H. White, and R. E. Pines. His tea association has a membership of 1,500 planters.—Halifax Herald.

MONEY SAVERS For Families Who Desire to Economize. Diamond Dyes the Agents.

It would require many large volumes to give a complete record of all the strong testimonial letters written by the women of the country in favor of Diamond Dye. These indispensable aids in good house-keeping are gaining in public favor every week, and once tried they become permanent household favorites.

Just think of it! One package of Diamond Dye will color from one to six pounds of goods, according to shade desired. This is wonderful work when the small expense is considered. Your last year's jacket, suit, cape, dress, and your husband's suit and children's clothes may be soiled faded and unshiny; but with a ten cent package of Diamond Dye you can work wonders, and make the old things look like new for this season's wear.

Have you ever tried this work with Diamond Dye? One effort in this direction of true economy will convince you that Diamond Dyes are money savers in the family.

The severest test of manhood is sure to find its good times but only in bad times. It is not the man who has success when others are doing well, but it is the man who keeps up his courage and struggles on when everybody else is wavering or going down, who is the hero in the sight of God and man. It is an easy matter to make good times when both wind and tide are in one's favor; but when one is moving with the current; but it requires character and skill and daring to make head in spite of opposing forces to work successfully against the current.

He Alled Many Years. Kidney Trouble of Some Kind—Lame Back and Weakness—Cured by a Few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 12, (Special)—As stated by Mr Wm. A. Stage himself, the facts of his quite recent perfect recovery from weakness and ailments many years' duration are as follows:—I received a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was my complete cure from weakness and lame back which had clung to me for many years. As soon as I decided that the cause might be from a derangement of the kidneys I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am glad to say that only a few boxes were taken before I was as well as ever.

Look here, sir, said the irate customer to the dry goods clerk, you sold me this piece of goods warranted a fast color, and it was green when I bought it, and now it has turned to a sickly light in less than two weeks.

Well, madam, expostulated the clerk, you could hardly expect a color to go faster than that.

Minards Liniment Cures Colds, etc. As a blood maker, blood purifier, health giver and system renovator Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is unrivalled.

The erysipeles on the face particularly have been removed, and the erysipeles on the neck as well, and I feel like a new man. Consider Manley's Celery Compound better than any other medicine for blood and liver troubles, as it has proved so in my case."—Dutch Letter, Waterloo, Ont.
