"NONPAREIL"

Billiard Hall!

SHARKEY'S BUILDING.

OPP. OFFICERS' BARRACKS, QUEEN ST.,

FREDERICTON, N. B.

T. E. FOSTER, Proprietor

THIS HALL has been newly fitted up, and handily furnished, and for room, light, and neatness, compares most favorably with any Billiard Hall in the Dominion. The Billiard and Pool Tables are pronounced by players to be superior to any now in use in this Province.

They are the BRILLIANT NOVELTY, size 6 x 9 feet.

The main object in the construction of the Brilliant Novelty, and the one most noticeable, is that it embodies all the more salient and most important features that have rendered popular all the other styles of tables of the J. M. Brunswick & Balke

Co. & make. The Brilliant Novelty has all the advantages and good points, including the respective features claimed by the "Nonpareil" and "Exposition," "Novelty," "Acme" and "Amaranth" tables. The "Brilliant" is a happy combination of all those celebrated tables, and has rapidly taken the foremost place in the estimation of all players of Billiard and Pool Tables. The "Novelty" is finished and handily fitted in many different colors, made up from California Laurel, Burl Ash, French Walnut, Bird's Eye Maple, Mahogany,

Rose, and Red, Teak Wood and Ebony. It is supplied with the finest of Vermont Slate bed, Simmons bed, and a first-class outfit of everything necessary.

A call is respectfully solicited from lovers of the game.

Boys under sixteen not allowed in the Hall.

Temperance drinks of all kinds, Cigars, etc.

T. E. FOSTER,

Proprietor.

AN ERRING WOMAN.

Sad Experience of a Philadelphia Household.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 1, 1884.—By the death of a well-to-do farmer named Tozier, at Buxton Centre, Me., two years ago, his two daughters, the only heirs, inherited property which was readily converted into cash and securities worth $30,000. Both daughters were regarded as uncommonly handsome. The elder,

Mamie, married Samuel Bradlaugh, a school teacher in the vicinity. Shortly after Farmer Tozier's death Mr. Brad-laugh settled upon the estate, converted the property into securities and came to this city with his wife and sister-in-law.

This movement was made for the ostensible reason that the climate of Maine was too rigorous for the husband's health.

Mr. Bradlaugh, his wife and her sister arrived in Philadelphia in November, 1882, and he bought a handsome house on Dauphin street, furnished it attractively, and, establishing himself as a private tutor, found plenty of pupils. His young wife, who is scarcely 20 years of age, devoted herself to sight seeing and enjoyment. She frequently visited the Academy of Fine Arts, and on one of these visits with her sister made the acquaintance of James P. Polstrom, a young gentleman of leisure who went regularly to the Academy to study arts. A snow storm occurred one day. The ladies had no umbrella, and the young man was permitted to accompany them home, where he was introduced to Mr. Bradlaugh and invited to dine with the family. The husband says that he found him to be a most agreeable companion, possessed of a large fund of information, witty and quick at repartee. Mr. Bradlaugh congratulated himself and his wife on making an acquaintance that was so agreeable, and pressed his guest to visit his house frequently, an invitation which he accepted with alacrity, but did not call more frequently than was agreeable to his host. Mrs. Bradlaugh's younger sister was the first to warn her brother-in-law of her sister's misconduct; but no heed seems to have been paid to the warning until a fortnight ago, when Mr.

Bradlaugh found and read from his wife to Mr. Polstrom. It had been entrusted to the servant for delivery, but was mislaid. Mr. Bradlaugh then confided in his sister-in-law. Watch was set upon the erring wife, and she was followed to the house where she had been in the habit of meeting Mr. Polstrom for several months. Her bureau at home was searched, and, among other contents, revealed the following letter
