SUNLIGHT SOAP does away with needless rubbing and scrubbing, and so preserves the clothes.

Notes on the Patriotic Tour.

GRAND BANK.

CHAPTER XVII.

Grand Bank being one of the principal business centres of the country, and being so well known for its independence and enterprise, it was very natural to expect that one of the largest meetings of the tour would assemble at that place, and so it was, for numerically it was a great meeting. The arrangements were made before hand by Magistrate Forsey, who in connection with Rev. Charles Lench and others of the place did all within their power to create interest in the work. These gentlemen evidently knew the feelings of the people, hence they made big preparations. Grand Bank possesses many excellent halls, such as the Masonic, Orange and the Frazet, but none of them would be large enough for the purpose in question, hence it was decided to hold the meeting in the church which is a very large and comfortable building with spacious galleries, and splendid organ.

To add to the comfort of the deputation the good friends of Grand Bank had a large platform erected, such as is used on the occasion of missionary anniversaries. At 8 p.m. the meeting opened, and about one thousand persons were present. The Rev. Chas. Lench stated that it was the largest gathering that he had seen during his stay at Grand Bank. There was no doubt whatever as to the earnestness of the people, and Saturday night, and all as it was, the whole public seemed to have let everything else stand and to give the meeting first place. Magistrate Forsey occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen words introduced the speakers of the evening. Rev. Mr. Lench was very cordial in his remarks, and assured the deputation of Grand Bank's zeal in the matter, and of the readiness of its people to bear their share of the burden. Both the chairman and Mr. Lench discharged their whole duty in connection with the meeting, and whatever success may have been accomplished and whatever good may have been done, we are very conscious that the chairman and the pastor were largely instrumental in its success.

The speaking and the singing and the music of the pipes were all in keeping with the importance of the hour, and everybody felt that Grand Bank had risen to the occasion, and in doing honour to those who had been sent to them in the cause of Empire, they had done equal honour to themselves. There was one special feature in connection with Grand Bank's meeting that singled it out from all the other meetings, it was the singing of the "Marsellaise," during which the entire audience stood. The singer was Mr. Garardin, from St. Pierre, and his rendition of the Anthem was both an interpretation and an inspiration. He seemed to have thrown his whole soul into the singing, and to abandon all thoughts of self and surroundings. To watch him was a study in the power of a song upon a singer. He threw out his arms and smote his breast, and passionately interpreted the spirit of the ode.

After Mr. Garardin had sung the "Marsellaise" the chairman called upon Mr. Devereaux to address the meeting, which he did in a very able manner. In his speech Mr. Devereaux made special reference to the splendid rendition he had just heard, and Mr. Devereaux being a very excellent scholar, and being well versed in the languages, was qualified to speak with authority upon the passion and pathos and beauty of Mr. Garardin's singing, and all the large audience present seemed to agree with the speaker's statement.

The meeting closed amidst the best feelings, and the audience returned to their homes, and the deputation repaired to their boat and boarded their ship in the offing. The night was dark and the weather threatening, but Grand Bank had done its duty and we were satisfied. At night our ship left for St. Pierre, but owing to stress of weather was obliged to run back to Grand Bank where she anchored at 8 a.m. At 10 a.m. the writer landed with the intention of being on board again within two hours, but, storm arose, and his two hours stretched out into twelve days, and he has not seen the Fiona nor one of his party since. The weather proved very heavy for several days and the good ship had to run for shelter to Belleoram on the other side of the bay. She however reached the other ports of call between Grand Bank and Burin, and carried out the work upon which she had been commissioned. But there was still plenty to be done at Grand Bank, Fortune, and elsewhere; and though the two hours extended into twelve days, every day saw something accomplished so that after all the disappointment of being separated from the company resulted in a greater work being done.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman and full Board were present at last night's meeting of the City Commission.

"After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mr. Jackman presented a petition signed by 173 taxpayers of Hayward Avenue and vicinity, protesting against the erection of the new sanitary stables on the present site. The principal reason set forth for the petition was the conservation of the public health.

The Chairman suggested that a special meeting be held to deal with the matter and that the Board visit the locality in the meantime and report on existing conditions.

Mr. Harris thought the matter was one of importance and that it should be discussed fully at a regular meeting.

Mr. Mullaly was of the same opinion and thought that in order to discuss the same thoroughly the Board should visit the place and inspect the surroundings.

It was decided that the petition be fully discussed at the next regular meeting.

The Minister of Agriculture and Mines acknowledged receipt of application from the Board for the right to use the waters of Mobile, for an improved water service for the city, and informed the Board that his department was looking up records in connection therewith.

Mr. J. M. Kent, K. C., on behalf of the Commercial Cable Company wrote that his clients in asking the Board to accept the payment of the special tax of $250 under protest, did so to protect their legal rights, arising out of the action pending between the Company and the Government.

The Solicitor's report on the same stated that the Board had no interest in the action referred to and that permission to the Company to lay "leads" to the city demanded the payment of the tax.

It was decided that the Board will not accept the amount under protest. C. J. Fox, Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Animals complained of the lack of flowing water at the public drinking troughs. Several horses, he said, were suffering from sore throat, and to prevent this he suggested that the water be kept running.

The Chairman thought the matter could be dealt with by the horse owners carrying some kind of drinking pail.

The matter was referred to the Engineer.

The question of enforcing the Municipal Act dealing with the owners of tenement houses keeping them in habitable repair was introduced and will be fully discussed at a special meeting.

With the passing of pay rolls and the granting of requirements, the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock.

THE TALE OF THE TOOTH
Many of us are careful of our brushes and clothes brushes, but few remember the humble toothbrush. To keep the teeth perfectly white, perfect the tooth brush should be as well.

A good tooth brush if used continuously should not be in use more than two weeks at a time, and better to keep two in use so that you may have a period of drying out. It never pays to buy a cheap brush if the price is to place a poor set of bristles with place, a poor set of bristles will their work well, and, in the place, loosely fastened bristles very dangerous if they slip down throat, where they may catch a cay or penetrate the walls of the gastic tract.

Always wash out the brush thoroughly after each application, and the way, a new brush should be used in a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda for two hours both to disinfect it from shop handling and to soften bristles so that they will not be so readily.

The teeth should be brushed night, after each meal and upon the last thing before retiring. It is particularly important to brush the last thing before retiring, that food particles will not remain in the teeth crevices to decay over when the mouth saliva is not enough to prevent it.

During a long illness the teeth should be carefully cleaned when cannot receive attention from a dentist. If this were done fewer

Nerviline Stops Fixes Tooth

It Seems to Possess Almost Divine Power Over Pain.

RUB ON NERVILINE.

Toothache is usually due to nerve pain in the gums or to the congestion and swelling of the nerve pulp. "As Nerviline" relieves congestion, you can easily see why it cures toothache.

Nerviline does more—cures ache or pain—in any part of the body. It matters not where your pain may be in a joint or muscle; it may be neuralgia or lumbago; it may be a surface pain in deeply situated the back, side or chest. Nerviline will reach it; Nerviline will drive it out.

What is Nerviline, you ask?

BRUCE'S SEEDS For 1915

Like the Highland Regiments of the British Army, of whose glorious record we are so proud, Bruce's Seeds have established a record. Bruce's Seeds are the best in the world. Bruce in connection with seeds sets the standard for quality. For 6 years we have served the Canadian Farmer, Gardener, and Amateur so well that from a small beginning this business has grown to large proportions, doing business from coast to coast, and outside Canada.

Our success is owing to our thorough knowledge of the business and the requirements of this country, attained through our long experience, and to the extreme care exercised in every department; to the excellence of our stock, which is unequalled in quality; and our high-class growers, who have been in the business for generations, also to our thorough testing for germination, our careful system of packing and our prompt attention to orders. In seedsmen's work nothing pays to buy the best, do not buy seeds you know nothing about; cheap seeds are dear, if you obtain them for nothing.

Our 112-page Catalogue of Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, Fodder Supplies and Garden Implements, full of valuable information, is now ready, and will be mailed free to all applicants.
