Germans Cowards When Caught Alone.

Wife of French Officer Writes Detailed Story of German Atrocities—III—Treat Old Man.

A Toronto woman has received a letter from the wife of a French officer, giving detailed accounts of the terrible atrocities committed by the Germans in Belgium and Northern France. Extracts from the letter are as follows:

"The old men from Varedes, a parish about 50 kilometres from Paris, were taken to Germany in captivity. Half the parish, nearly, had to go on foot to Germany, being fogged when tired, and not able to walk any more, and fed only once in four days. Some managed to escape and came back to Varedes. They said that one night they were placed against a wall with arms uplifted, as if on a cross, and had to witness the Germans getting their guns ready to shoot them. They were fortunately delivered.

"They tell me one cannot imagine the sufferings of those left behind. In Lunerville the rabbi and his daughter were burnt alive in the cellar of their home whilst the wife was kept close by to hear their cries.

Liars and Thieves.

"The Germans do not know what honor means. My husband, who captured many prisoners, says he never met with such liars and thieves. They are so proud when in numbers and so cowardly when alone. I wonder what would happen in Europe and the world
