Increased Munitions
Make Possible New Plan of Campaign.

After the apparent deadlock on the Western front for the past four months, and the great retreats and abandoning of fortresses and lines of defence by the Russians in the East, it is cheering to learn that something encouraging was being done last week. It will be remembered that months ago called for more and more guns and more and more shells of a highly explosive character. The character of the German trenches showed that they must be pounded and pounded continually by high explosive shells, a mere pounding for a few hours and then an infantry charge led to very great casualties. Last Wednesday the news came along that the entente allies on the Western front were in a position owing to the increasing supply of guns and high explosive shells to begin their new plan of campaign which involves the almost continuous use of artillery in a vast scale. A report issued last Wednesday, says: "The allies are now methodically maintaining their shell fire for days at a time without infantry attacks, dropping projectiles upon the charred front in every fifty yard square, and repeating the process—a deadly, automatic, unceasing pounding. The heavy calibre guns send their storms of shells upon entrenchments of first reserves behind the lines, and upon bridges and provision trains."

"Official reports obtained by the French army officers from their own observers, from prisoners, and from photographs made by aviators show that parts of the opposing lines which have been subjected to this unceasing bombardment have been rendered entirely untenable, and that the best the Germans can do is to reoccupy their abandoned works after the bombardments have let up and then leave quickly when the showers of projectiles begin to fall again."

According to the message received yesterday, this continuous bombardment for several days was followed upon Saturday by attacks all along the front with good progress. The enemy lines were pierced after an energetic attack north of Arras. The most notable gains appear to have been in the LaBasse district and the Western outskirts of Hulluch and Lens, mining works and hill No. 70 being wrested from the Germans. Hulluch is between LaBasse and Lens, and Lens is about 2 1/2 miles N.W. of Lens. Hill 60 is 1 1/2 miles north of Lens, which is itself about 9 miles N.N.E. of Arras.

This news, although it is scanty up to the time of writing, owing to the storm having demoralized the wires, is encouraging, after the long continued absence of cheerful news from the various fronts.

In this connection, the following clipping from the Times, is illuminating:—

"Mr. Arthur Henderson and three other Labour members—Mr. F. W. Goldstone, Mr. G. H. Roberts, and G. J. Wardle—have returned to London from a visit to the front. They were accompanied by four members of the Advisory Committee on War Output. Giving his impressions of his visit Mr. Wardle yesterday said to a newspaper representative:—

"Victory will be accomplished when we have so increased the supply of munitions that whatever objective is made it shall be prosecuted without stint and without limit of ammunition. The victory will be won in the workshops of this country. It is nothing less than a crime to fail our men at the front. Whether those who may be responsible are workers or employers they will incur the heaviest condemnation if they fail to exert to the utmost all the activity, and all the capacity which are required to win the war. The sooner this is realized the sooner the war will be over."

GEORGE CRUIKSHANK born 1792. English caricaturist, chiefly remembered by his squibs against George IV and the Comic Almanack, the predecessor of Punch. He illustrated many of Dickens' books but it was as a moralist that he is desired to be known in most of his later works.

BATTLE OF BUSACO 1810. An engagement between the French and Wellington in which the latter was forced to retreat, which he carried out in such a masterly way that the English troops reached Torres Vedras undefeated and in good order.

At the College Hall.

The Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh, M.A., conducted both the Cochrane Street Church services in the College Hall yesterday. After announcing the following double text: "Neither will I give to the Lord my God that which cost me nothing; Upon the first day of the week let every one lay by him as God has prospered him," the rev. gentleman prefaced his remarks by saying that he was now on his fourth year in the city ministry and had not as yet delivered a sermon altogether on Christian giving. Three points in the sermon were especially emphasized, that of individual giving—everybody to give, a giving that costs, systematic giving, regular weekly giving to the cause of God, and proportionate giving, as God has prospered us. We were also to consider our money as a part of ourselves, money is given for high and holy uses, giving is a Christian act and thoroughly scriptural.

An important announcement was made on behalf of the Finance Committee for the consideration and signing of the cards for the new church building fund, which have been distributed amongst the congregation. Several substantial donors have been promised and during the coming month it is confidently expected that the majority of the congregation both old and young, will return the cards duly signed at any of the church services.

The Pastor at the evening service, spoke on the "nature of the transformation in human character and the helpful sermons suitable for the times, bright singing and devout worshippers tends to make the Sabbath services in every way the success that they really ought to be.

Indian Island Notes.

Since the 15th September every day has been a stormy one with more or less rain. To-day we are having almost a hurricane, and our men are kept busy securing ropes, chains and anchors so that no mishap may befall the schooners.

The schr. Emma Brown, Capt. Holdinott, arrived from St. John's yesterday. She will now take a full load of fish to St. John's.

The Carrie Steer left for St. John's yesterday with a load of dry fish for Steer Bros.

Perry's Island school has done well again in the C.H.E. exams. Two in Intermediate Grade passed with two distinctions, and one in Honors in Preliminary Grade with five distinctions; one Primary sat and we congratulate that little fellow in securing a pass. This school is closed from July until Nov. 15th. Out of a total of five candidates, four passed, so we may well say, Well done, Perry's Island school!

On Sept. 15th the Methodist Sunday School held their annual picnic. At 12.30 p.m. teachers and scholars assembled at the appointed place, and with flags flying paraded around the village. One feature of the parade was worthy of notice. On reaching the church a circle was formed around the flag, and all joined heartily in singing God Save the King. They then paraded to the picnic grounds where the teachers did all they could to make the afternoon an enjoyable one for the little folk. Racing and games were indulged in and cake and tea was served sumptuously, and on the whole the day was a very enjoyable one.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURE

GARGET IN COWN.

McMurdo's Store News

MONDAY, Sept. 27, 1915.

Croup Cough Cure is extremely useful in cases of bronchial cough and where there is a good deal of expectation. In many cases, too, of long standing cough and what is known as "winter cough" this remedy if taken with some persistence will usually effect a cure. Taken at the beginning of a cold it will nearly always cut the attack short. Very pleasant to take and does not affect the appetite or disturb the digestion. Price 25 cents a bottle.

To reinforce D. D. D. the famous Eczema remedy, D. D. D. Soap is often necessary to assist the cure. It is good, too, as a general toilet soap for those who have tender or sensitive skins. Price 35c. a cake.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

W. S. PINEO.

YOUR BOYS
GIRLS

The real home, in which the parents are good pals, can give points in rearing children to the old order. The wise make comrades of their growing up or grown children. There is a drawing together of youth and middle age that is good; good for the elders, and conducive to freshness of spirit. The high wall between parent and child is down, and they do not talk a strange language to each other as do many.

To make real comrades of your children is to let them feel that you have gone with them step by step all the way, and one day you will realize they are falling into your step, going back to childhood and blaming themselves for their failures toward you, even as you failed toward yours, and never again will you complain of their ingratitude.

LIEUT. J. B. MITCHELL.—John Brine Mitchell, B.A., son of Mr. John B. Mitchell, and a Rhodes scholar, who joined the Canadian Army Service Corps in Vancouver, is now a second Lieutenant with the Regular Forces and in the London Rifles.
