If you trust in God and yourself you can surmount every obstacle. Do not yield to restless anxiety. One must not always be asking what may happen to one in life, but one must advance tearlessly and bravely.

London, Wednesday, Jan 10.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, with its morning and evening editions, covers the ground. With one exception, it is The ONLY EARLY MORNING DAILY IN ONTARIO, Outside of To-

-Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appended in print will be published in these columns.

-Since the outbreak of smallpox in Hamilton there have been numerous vaccinating parties.

-The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is offering a rate of 1 cent a pound on wool from Sydney, New South Wales, to any part of Canada. The C. P. R. is bound to promote trade between Australia and Canada if tempting freights will do it.

-Dr. Talmage reasons that human existence is too long, but we venture the prophecy that the longer the Brooklyn preacher lives the more tenaciously will he cling to existence. It is natural for the things are of good report. man who enjoys bodily and mental health to wish to live as long as he can.

-D. C. Fraser, M. P. for Guysboro, N. S., has been renominated by his constituents, Mr. Fraser made many friends in London, Middlesex, and other western places which he visited last year. His constituents do well to nominate him early. If he lived in the west, he would be in much demand. He is one of the best parliamentarians in the House, able and elequent, also, and a progressive free trader.

-Lady Aberdeen paid a graceful compliment to Canada, and caused much pleasure by wearing during her recent visit in Montreal a golden maple leaf. Her Excellency suggested that jewels made of purely Canadian minerals or precious stones would assist in some measure the national idea. If Canadian interests are not advanced during the next four years, it will not be from lack of hard work and effective counsel by the occupants of Rideau Hall.

-As we anticipated, the Nor'-Wester, Mr. W. F. Luxton's new paper, which is about to be published in Winnipeg, disclaims the intention of being the organ of any political party. This statement is made in its prospectus. But that document is mum on the great tariff tax question, and Mr. Campbell, the defeated Conservative candidate in Winnipeg, who by the way is a director, has stated that it is intended to promote the interests of his party. These contradictory statements may be reconciled by the paper when it gets under way, but to the outsider they are, to say the least, not easily made to hitch at this stage.

-The Montreal Star does not like the Liberal tariff plank. No believer in a class, centralizing system of collecting the national taxes takes kindly to the Liberal tariff policy. Therefore the organ of the sugar refining monopolists could not be expected to take kindly to the Liberal policy. Moreover, is not the Star rated in "Class A" of the Conservative journals to which the Government at Ottawa steadily extends its favors? A newspaper cannot serve Sir John Thompson, Senator Drummond and other individuals intensely and relfishly interested in maintaining the present tax law, and unselfishly champion the public interests at the same time. The ADVERTISER has no political axe to grind, therefore it advocates every reform that will lead to the goal of trade freedom, and that tends to enable the taxpayer, no matter what his position in life, to obtain a full return for his labor. The less a Government interfa trade the more profitable v

THE "GLOBE" AND WOMAN'S RIGHT TO A VOICE AT THE BALLOT BOX.

We regret to see the Toronto Globe for the second time since the plebiscite vote talking covertly against the enfranchisement of women. It introduces the old platitude that many women appear to be indifferent to the franchise, and advances the recent vote to show that many women in Toronto who had votes did not vote, not even for prohibition. Some of our contemporary's points are two-edged swords.

1. Doubtless many women did not vote, for various reasons, not necessarily because of disinclination. But more men-voters than women voters failed to vote at Toronto in the recent election. Why not, because of the neglect of some Toronto men, disfranchise all other Toronto men?

2. Some women may be indifferent to the right and privilege of voting-some may even as yet be opposed to it. Is it in accordance with justice that those women who do want to vote should be deprived of the franchise because there are others who do not want to do so?

3. The Globe seems to think it makes a point because of the woman in Toronto who voted, 25 per cent. voted against prohibition. Who said that all women would vote alike? Do all men vote alike? There are two ways of putting a thing. You may wring your hands that 25 per cent. of the women of Toronto who voted did not vote for prohibition, or you may rejoice that 75 percent. of the women of Toronto who voted did vote for prohibition. We hope the Globe is not stealing a march to give the impression that 25 per cent. of the women of all Ontario who voted at all voted against prohibition. When the full returns are in it will be found that, no matter what Toronto did, of the women who voted throughout the Province, the vote was nearly unanimous for prohibition. 4. The Globe talks as if the mass of the wemen of Ontario had had an opportunity to vote in the plebiscite. The very opposite is the case. The mass of those women of vigor and brain who are the life and soul of the churches, the day schools, the Sabbath schools, temperance and missionary work, the wives and mothers especially, had no votes during the recent plebiscite, though they earnestly desired the ballot opportunity of saying "Yes" to whatsoever things in legislation are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever

5. A plebiscite in Ontario on the subject of allowing or denying equal rights to women at the ballot box would have as large an affirmative majority as had the "Yes" in the prohibition plebiscite. With insignificant variation, the same people who voted "No" on the plebiscite would vote "No" on the question of equal rights for women at the ballot box; while the same people who voted "Yes" in the prohibition plebiscite would vote "Yes" on the question of equal rights for women at the ballot box. At the same great inaugural plebiscite convention at Toronto, which foreshadowed a popular majority of 75,000 for prohibition, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"That this convention rejoices that at least a section of the women of Ontario are to vote in the coming plebiscite, and trusts that the time is not far distant when they will no longer suffer disability in any election because of sex."

THE THREAT EXPEDIENT.

The threat method is always resorted to by the monopolist when he finds the trend of public opinion in favor of tax reduction. It has a powerful influence with men who know that they have again and again escaped popular condemnation by the joint influences of the money bags of the combines and the gerrymander. But the day of reckoning is approaching.

GET A MOVE ON AT OTTAWA. The United States House of Representatives has got down to the business of considering the bill for the radical reduction of taxes in the adjoining Republic. Mr. Wilson, chairman of the committee of ways and means, introduced the measure in an admirably plain and comprehensive speech, in which he showed the evils resulting from a system that discriminates in favor of the few at the expense of the many.

While the United States Congress is thus actively engaged in promoting legislation and forwarding a settlement of a question that will tend to revive business, the Dominion Government appears to be afraid to call Parliament together to consider its scheme, if it has any scheme, until such time as it hears from Washington. This hesitancy does not tend to the improvement of business, but rather keeps the country in an unsettled condition. Parliament should be already in session, instead of as yet uncalled. Work as the legislators will, when the House meets at a late date, there is always an unseemly and unsatisfactory rush to get the business completed, and to escape from the capital before the warm weather sets in. Thus public interests are sacrificed to meet the of the private conveniences or political scheming of the men in power.

Call Parliament together, and produce our mouldering branch remover, Sir
