provide hospital accommodation here. It was not, however, until fifteen years later that the initial hospital was constructed in London, a shed on the market square for the care of destitute immigrants.

Alfred Carter was in charge, and one year later a one-roomed shanty was erected to house smallpox cases. In 1849 Mr. Heard stated that both these buildings were deliberately set on fire, because of objection to their presence on the market square. In that year the first board of health was established in London.

Building Was Burned.

Mrs. J. Wilson, Portage La Prairie, Man, writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my nee children. My little girl two years old, had a very bad cold last winter, which I thought was croup. I had some "Dr. Wood's" in the house so gave it to her and she was fine the next day; also my baby, three months old, had a bad cold and I gave it to him. It cuts and brings up the phlegm, and is the best cough medicine I ever used."

Building Was Bunned.

London's first city hospital was erected on the Hamilton road, and this building was also burned by neighbors, and a third hospital was placed on York street. In 1866 Londemic of smallpox was prevalent.
Shortly after this calamity the government donated buildings then situ-
