The Celebration of the 4th at Philadelphia.

AN IMMENSE MULTITUDE PRESENT.

Philadelphia, 4th.—The day was ushered in at sunrise by the firing of a national salute in Fairmount Park and ringing of chimes throughout the city. The troops were reviewed by General Sherman in front of Independence Hall. The stand, with seats for four thousand invited guests, which had been erected, was entirely filled. The members of the Japanese Centennial Commission were among the first to take their place on the platform. The arrival of Governor Hayes, General Sherman, and General Sheridan was a signal for great cheering. General Howley then called the immense assemblage to order, and the orchestra of 250 musicians, under the leadership of Gilmore, opened with a grand overture—"The Great Republic"—arranged by Geo. F. Bristow. While the music was in progress shouts of enthusiasm signalled the arrival of Dom Pedro. At the conclusion of the music General Howley made an address. Richard Henry Lee, of Virginia, made the declaration of independence from the original manuscript. Following the reading of the declaration came the greeting from Brazil, a hymn for the first centennial of American Independence, composed by Carlos Gomez, of Brazil, at the request of Dom Pedro. The announcement of this portion of the programme was received with every manifestation of favor. The Emperor arose to his feet, with the rest of the distinguished personages present, and listened with great attention. Bayard Taylor recited a national ode composed by himself.

The statue of Humboldt erected by the Germans in East Fairmount Park was unveiled to-day in the presence of the German societies and with appropriate ceremonies.

THE VICTIMS OF "THE FOURTH."

Dr. Henry H. Beecher, proprietor of a drug store, Philadelphia, while making preparation for colored lights for display, was instantly killed by an explosion which set fire to the building, completely destroying it. His brother, John H. Beecher, and Bernard Kausman and Wm. Young were also killed. J. C. Beecher, father of the doctor, was badly burned, and his wife was with difficulty removed from the house.

In addition to the casualties previously reported, five men were killed during the celebration in New England on Tuesday.

This overskirt is quite different from any other, though very simple and gracefully the elastic or paper back effect is produced by the novel way of draping, and, though it has the appearance of a separate part, it is all one thing, and one of its chief attractions is its convenient shape for making over by any other pattern. It is intended for any kind of goods, and will be a great favorite for washing materials for the coming summer. Paris houses are now using it for their model in preparing suits for the spring season.

Price of Pattern with Cloth Model, 50 Cents, Mailed
