Regulation of Vice.

We have always stood solidly against any form of the regulation of social vice, and the recent developments in the British army in India have greatly pained us. We rejoice to know that Sir George White, commander-in-chief of the forces there, is opposed to regulation. He says in a general letter, dated July 14, 1897, that "the majority of cases are confined within a circle of men who are admitted to the hospital again and again, and thus the number of

One member arose and stated that any woman who goes to a liquor grocery pollutes the white ribbon, and another said such a woman is a laughing stock to outsiders by her ineffectualness. The conscientious members went so far as to say she would not deal with a grocer who even signed an application for license. She believed in getting at the spirit of it. She had to give up her best milliner on that ground, which, as madame president

She wore a simple dress of black homespun, and told The World proudly that it was her own handiwork. She wore a black apron of dressed velvet, which gave a happy effect to the costume, and about her shoulders a grey purple-bordered shawl of French weave, which has been long in the family.

About her throat hung a silver necklace, with heavy links of exquisite design, and a Maltese cross for pendant. Her countrywomen always wear the jacket and skirt

Flour Inspector Wanted.
Montreal, Oct. 21.—At a meeting of the Corn Exchange, held to-day, the secretary was instructed to communicate with Mr. Miall, Deputy Minister of the Interior, to request the appointment of the board for the flour standard, and protesting that the appointment had not yet been made as promised.

struction to be based upon a common text book in all Public schools, and in the voluntary schools to be such as the Board of Education may desire.

The matter was deferred.

The Board passed a number of reports, unimportant in themselves, but provocative of much eloquence on the part of those members about to seek reelection.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons, so constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, etc. I will indulge to their heart's content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Medicine, a medicine that instantly invades the bowels and is a sure cure for all summer complaints.

A Light Fine.
Alexander Jones, who keeps a disreputable place on Elizabeth street, was yesterday fined $10 and costs, or 30 days for assaulting William Bell. Bell went to Jones' house to try and induce his wife to come home, when the assault occurred. Mrs. Bell was sent to jail for a month as a vagrant.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C. W. Snow writes: "I have been afflicted with dyspepsia and indigestion for many years. Please send me a course of Pills. We are suffering from a form of Piles. We are sure that a course of your Pills will cure us. Please send me a course of your Pills for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint."—J. H. Smith, Lindon, Utah, writes: "Purative Pills are a most excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these pills have cured it."—
