WANT 4 PER CENT. BONDS

If It is Granted, the Cost of the Road Will Be Increased One-Third to the Country.

Montreal, Jan. 18.— (Special.) - A. World man got some rather startling information from a source that, while it may not be friendly to the Grand Trunk, is on the inside as far as the situation in London is concerned: First, that neither the Grand Trunk Pacific nor the Canadian Northern (Mackenzie and Mann) for that matter, can market the 3 per cent, bonds voted them by the Canadian parliament last year for their projects unless at a heavy discount. The Grand Trunk say they must have 4 per cent. bonds instead of 3. This advances the cost of the road as far as the country is concerned by one-third more than it was computed

Next, the Grand Trunk refuse to enter astern section of the Grand Trunk Pa-fic. They will run the road but they fill guarantee nothing in connection with it.

Third, that the only way out of the situation is for the Grand Trunk to consolidate with Mackenzie and Mann. abandon a lot of the eastern section and recast the whole agreement. The World's informant declared that some kind of negotiations looking to this end were now on in London, where Mr. Mackenzie has just arrived.

HOW MILLS VIEWS SOME THINGS Government Control of the Express Service. Prof. Mills has accepted the appointment of railroad commissioner. He wired his answer to the government from Trenton, N.J. He is still confined to his room at the residence of Mr.

to his room at the residence of Mr. Creelman, 63 Prince Arthur-avenue. He did not call on the cabinet officials yesterday as he intended to do.

As an evidence of how the new member of the commission feels on the transportation proposition generally, here is an extract from a speech delivered at Guelph during the Winter Fair just past, touching the establishment of a government express service in connection with the postal department: "I paid 30 cents in Hamilton for a basket of peaches. I paid 25 cents to have the basket carri d to Guelph by express. On arrival at Guelph a further charge of 10 cents was imposed. Thus a basket of fruit which cost 30 cents in Hamilton was charged 35 cents for delivery at Guelph; less than thirty miles away. Why should we not have, as they have in England, an express department in connection with our postal service? Why should not the government, which delivers your mail so cheaply and efficiently, provide an equally cheap and efficiently, provide an equally cheap and efficient service for the carriage of small parcels?"
