that I had to give in, and in his great and infinite mercy he forgave me all.

Peace and aSfety.

"Never before had I feit him so close as that wet and misty morning we captured Vimy Ridge. I was in the second wave. When about 100 yards from our objective, we broke into a double. The mext minute my platoon was almost annihilated. My prayer at that moment was 'Oh, God'. If it be thy will, for my mother's sake, save me.' From the moment that I uttered that prayer, I seemed to feel an invisible presence and a feeling of peace and safety entered my soul and remained there throughout the whole action. I came through without a scratch. Tuesday I had to leave the line owing to an attack of trench feet."

It seems to me that with so large a minority and the prospects of disruption and involved litigation, that it would be good sense to delay union. Further, I believe that eventually, delay at the present would be favorable to the consummation of union. Hurry in the matter would simply defeat the original aims of organic church union. With co-operation and steps to prevent overlapping in mission fields for the present, there is no reason why we should not progress harmoniously to federation."

At the recent meeting in St. Thomas, when the overture from the General Assembly was again up for discussion, the motion for immediate steps to wards consummation was carried by a majority of two, showing the presbyters, pretty evenly divided on the subject. At that, the meeting was not an entirely representative one, owing to the fact that a number of the elders were absent owing to seeding operations.
