OUR TIMBER RESOURCES ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

Prof. Fernow Gives a Word of Warning—May Mean an Increase in Taxation.

"Some morning you may wake up and find your tax list has changed its aspect," was the warning Prof. Fernow gave, speaking of the timber resources of Ontario at the Canadian Club yesterday. The forests had been drawn upon to lighten the tax bill, the golden goose was very near its end, he declared, and other resources must be drawn upon to make good the deficiency.

He had read in the papers that the forest had done no damage because they had only run over old slash. This was where the government had failed to realize their responsibility. The forest fires were destroying the young growth and preventing the recuperation of the lands for future wood cuts.

It was a disgrace that in spite of the large expenditure for this purpose they could not cope with the evil. There was either carelessness or deplorable mismanagement. There was a lack of moral-evidence also among those who contributed to such waste.

The Ontario Government was proud to be able to say that in the limits there were ten or twelve billion feet of white pine. But this was only four years' supply of the United States consumption.

In the timber area of British Columbia, he estimated 300,000,000,000 feet, but as the United States consumption was 40,000,000,000 a year this only represented ten years' consumption.

He was glad to see the Ontario Government had begun in a small way to encourage the reforestation of waste farm lands.

"There is more poor forest growth in Canada than you have any idea of," he said, speaking of the intractable ice of the Laurentian rocks which decayed but slowly, and gave no soil for tree growth.

"Hemlock is the skinn milk of the woods," was another remark. Balsam was a much better pulp wood than spruce, but it did not grow so well and could not be got out without railway development.

Natural philosophy must come to the aid of the student in interpreting the reports of explorers on the timber resources observed. Reports only existed where someone had gone in a canoe. Nothing was known of the country behind the railway route, and the question arose whether he was an optimist or a pessimist. (Laughter.)

Fifty per cent of the timber lands was burned area, burned over and again. The rest was not commercially available in the north, the rivers flowing in the wrong direction.

In taking the chair Horve Smith said it was important that the educational club should be kept up. It was the intention to have a series of lectures on the resources of the province. Prof. Miller on the geological aspects of Ontario would be the next speaker.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE. Under the auspices of the British Schools and Universities Club, the birthday of King Edward was celebrated at New York with a dinner at Delmonico's. Locking Up on Charge of Theft of $16,495 From the Farmers' Bank.

Donald Cameron McCallum was handed over to Detective Harry Twigg by superintendent W. H. Welch of the Canadian Detective Bureau at his office yesterday afternoon. He was locked up on a warrant sworn out by Charles R. Hill, manager of the headoffice of the Farmers' Bank, charging him with theft of $16,495. Of this sum $5083 has been recovered in undisposed assets of McCallum.

The loss of the balance, $11,412, will fall upon the Fidelity Guarantee Company.

It was stated last night by one who has been on the inside track from the start, that no one else is implicated in the conspiracy made by McCallum, but that any help he received in working his schemes was innocently given in the regular course of bank business.

HURLED DYNAMITE AT THE DETECTIVES

Attempt of Woman Blackmailer at Denver Foiled in a Remarkable Way.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps, divorced wife of Lawrence Phipps, a Pittsburgh millionaire, narrowly escaped death by dynamite at the hands of a woman, who for two days had haunted the Phipps home and had at last got hold of Mrs. Phipps and demanded $30,000 under penalty of death, immediate and horrible.

She was identified to-day as Mrs. Allen Reed, wife of a druggist of this city. Mrs. Reed returned recently from Springfield, Mass., whither she had gone to attend the funeral of her father, whose name has not yet been learned.

"When foiled in her attempt the woman cast dynamite at detectives from Mrs. Phipps' automobile, in which she was forced to continue past the woman, but she was prevented because the dynamite struck a cushion of the seat. The woman was quickly placed under arrest."

The woman persistently refused to give her name, and insisted that she was under the influence of a hypnotist and that she had no memory of her attempt to blackmail Mrs. Phipps.

On Saturday she repeatedly telephoned to the Phipps home and called there in an effort to induce her to meet her in the society leader. When the calls were repeated Mrs. Phipps became alarmed and went automobiling in City Park to avoid the woman.

The woman evidently saw Mrs. Phipps leave in the machine for she attempted to attract the attention of Mrs. Phipps. She was driven to the home of one of the park druggists. The woman was standing behind a tree at the time.

Mrs. Phipps directed her chauffeur to continue past the woman, but the woman leaped from behind the tree and into the machine as it was going by. She quickly engaged Mrs. Phipps, who was driving, and told her that she had a message from Mr. Phipps, who had not desired to do injury to Mrs. Phipps. She reassured, and they rode together for fifteen or twenty minutes.

Suddenly the woman produced several sticks of capped dynamite and demanded that Mrs. Phipps give her $30,000 within an hour, or she would destroy her. She directed that the automobile be driven to the Wolcott School and that Mrs. Phipps' daughter be taken along, evidently to have a hostage. Mrs. Phipps agreed to go, her bank and get the money, and thither the party headed after stopping the school to get the little daughter of Mrs. Phipps.

The police are at a loss to know why the woman failed to accompany Mrs. Phipps to the bank, for once inside the building to collect the money, she related her experience to a bank official and police headquarters was communicated.

The two city detectives arrived before the woman became suspicious, and quietly opened the door of the tonneau opposite the sidewalk. The woman, resembling a stout, well-dressed woman, jumped out, and the two officers, the explosive struck Mrs. Phipps, and she fell to the floor without injury.

Taking advantage of Chief Hamilton Armstrong's momentary absence from his office, where he had been interviewing her for the time to-day, Mrs. Reed made an attempt to end her life with morphine. Chief Armstrong knocked down the door of the room, and she was in the act of placing them in her mouth.

MANY DON'T KNOW HEART AFFECTED. More People than Aware of it Have Heart Disease.

"If examinations were made of everyone, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease."

This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquiry. "I should not like to say that heart disease is as common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large."

"Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent."

"But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living, the hurry and rush of modern business life, have a lot to do with that trouble."

There is no doubt that it is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Price 50 cts. per box or $3 boxes for $1.25, all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price, The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

UTTERING OF THE HEART. Mrs. G. L. White, Williamstown, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with weak spleen and itching of the heart. I was so bad I could scarcely lie down in bed. I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they have made a final cure. I cannot speak too highly of them. I think they are worth their weight in gold."

McCallum will appear in police court this morning, and should his counsel arrive from Owen Sound, will likely plead guilty without delay.

Bank officials say that their action in taking out the warrant was hurried by the crown, but was intended to prevent further delay.

No effort was made last night to secure bail.
