July 15th.

Liverpool due 4 to 5 higher on near and 7 higher on late months.

At 12.15 p.m.—Was steady 4 to 3 points net higher on near and 4 to 5 higher on late. Spot cotton dull and irregular 7 points higher. Middling uplands 6.21d. Sales 4,000, speculation and export 200, American 3,000. Imports 5,000, including 1,000 American.

DETAILED STOCK GOSSIP.

So. Pac. should do better. We have for some weeks named this stock and Nor. Pac. as bull favorites of ours.

We think it and the Northern Pacific will rest at better levels as remarked, and may work higher. We favor Amal. Anc. and Utah among the copper stocks. Some deal is rising Lead on which a tip of 75 is heard. Atchison is being manipulated against the large shortage so frequently referred to by us as existing and vulnerable, and it may go higher at once. Bullish advices still come from Canada on C. P. R.. We have reasons for believing that KT is very near an upward movement of importance. We expect to see Smelters sell much higher later, but it may be temporarily irregular, many bull tips are out on St. Paul, but it must first take stock offering toward 140. Reading meets offerings around 117, but when taken the price should rise sharply. The same may be said of Un. Pac. just above 150. We get bullish reports on Penna. and B. R. T.

London, 2 p.m.—Consols 87 15-16, Anc 44 1-2, C 70 1-4, Atch 85 1-8, BO 91 5-8, CO 42 1-8, GW 6 7-8, CPR 168 5-8, D 26, Erie 20, EF 36, Ills 134, KT 29 1-4, LN 109, Mxc 14 5-8, N 71, NP 140 1-2, Sen 104 5-8, OW 40 1-4, Pa 123 1-4, RG ex. div. 117, RI 16 1-4, SR 18, SJ 45 1-4, SP 90 5-8, St 138 1-2, U. S. 41 3-4, UX 107 5-8, UP 149 3-4.

SUMMARY.

Americans in London steady, unchanged to 3-8 above parity.

Brooklyn interests go to courts to tie up $100,000,000 subway improvements.

New York Cen. will advance freight rates on commodities on August 14th.

Shares on the five principal copper companies dealt in on stock exchange have advanced $90,000,000 from low point of year.

Steel officials deny that corporation is buying common shares.

Wabash will issue its notes to take Wheeling and Lake Erie $8,000,000 issue due August 1st.

St. Paul's Pac. extension will cost $77,000,000, which is $5,000,000 greater than estimated.

Control of Mo. Pac. may be bought in the open market for $20,000,000.

Steel and iron companies will not oppose advance in freight rates.

NEW YORK FINANCIAL BUREAU.

Further bullish operations may be expected in the stock market. The market should gradually broaden. We feel that the conservatively bullish position, recommended by us for some time, should be maintained with greater confidence. News reports indicate that the crop damage reports from the Northwest were exaggerated, as expected, and that the weather in the interior is favorable, the intense heat so necessary up to within a few days ago, having disappeared with probability of welcome showers. The crops appear especially favored this year. Speyer is bullish in his interview in the Sun before leaving the city, and Gary on his arrival in Europe gives a bullish report on conditions in the Herald. The continued ease in money, with the big gains by the banks, is stimulating investments and we are informed by experts that seldom has there been so great a scarcity of good bonds. The same may be said of good stocks. Sentiment has turned bullish to a moderate degree, though we find a good many shorts out yet. Sentiment is variable, swinging with the market, and shows the state of professionalism still to be existing.

Believe the market is on its way to much higher levels.

This market looks to me as if it had had its reaction and was going to have a considerable advance. Later there will probably be a reversion of sentiment from a condition of overconfidence, and we may have a decided reaction, but that it not yet in sight.

TABLETS FOR TERCENTENARY

One Hundred and Fifty Appropriately Inscribed Permanent Memorials to be Placed.

(Montreal Herald).

No less than one hundred and fifty bronze tablets have been commissioned for erection in Quebec during the Tercentenary celebrations for the marking of spots of historic import.

The tablets, while perfectly simple, will be of the most artistic character, having each a double panel, with the inscription in French on one side and English on the other.

The Martel-Stewart Company, which has the contract for the set of tablets, is already at work on some of the inscriptions. They will immensely enhance the interest of Quebec to the casual visitor, by making clear at a glance where were situated all the points of which mention is made in the city's early annals.

One tablet, for instance, bears the following lettering:

"Here stood the Fort and the Chateau St. Louis. The Fort was erected in 1620; within its walls the founder of Quebec died on December 25, 1635. The Chateau was the residence of the Governors of Canada. Begun by the Chevalier de Montmagny, re-constructed by Count de Frontenac, enlarged by Sir James Craig, this building was destroyed by fire on the 3rd. of February, 1834."

THE SENECHAL'S COURT.

On the old building next door to the Anglican Cathedral will be mounted the following legend:

"This ground, which formerly exended to the east and was partly occupied by the Senechal's Court about the year 1650, became in 1681 the property of the Recollets, who erected on it a church and monastery, which were destroyed by fire in 1796. The old Court House, built at the beginning of the nineteenth century, was also destroyed by fire in 1872, the present edifice taking its place shortly afterwards. The adjoining Anglican Cathedral occupies part of the grounds once held by the Recollets."

Another tablet declares that:

"On this site stood the Jesuits' College, founded in 1635. Destroyed by fire 1640.; rebuilt 1647; considerably enlarged in 1739 to 1776, as a barracks from 1776 to 1871, and finally demolished in 1877. The church attached, which extended towards St. Anne street, was erected in 1666, and demolished in 1800."

The house of Madame de la Peltrie, subsequently occupied by Bishop Laval, the trading house of the Hundred Associates, the house where Montcalm lived from 1758 to 1759, the Prescott Gate, the first chapel erected by Champlain; the Duke of Kent's residence; the original Quebec graveyard, used up to 1687; the house occupied by the Venerable Mother Marie de l'Incarnation; the Palace of St. Nichols Gate; the house of Charles Aubert de la Chesnaye; the original convent of the Nuns of the Congregation, and many other features of the city of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are commemorated in this way, while more modern matters are touched on by the memorial to "La Canadien," the first French newspaper, 1806; and to F. X. Garneau, the historian, on the house where he lived and died.

NOT IN THE GUIDE BOOKS.

Other inscriptions which will shed a light not to be had from all the guide books, are as follows:

"In this place was buried, on the 4th of January, 1776, along with his two aides-de-camp, McPherson and Cheeseman, and certain of his soldiers; Richard Montgomery, the American general who was killed during the attack on Quebec of the 31st of December, 1775. In 1818 his remains were exhumed and removed to the precincts of St. Paul's Church, New York."

"On this site the Intendant Talon erected a brewery in 1668, which was converted into a palace for the Intendants by M. de Meulles in 1686. The building was destroyed by fire in 1713. Reconstructed by M. Begin. It was again damaged by fire in 1726. Restored by M. Dupuy in 1727. It was finally destroyed during the siege of Quebec in 1775."

"On this height, called Mount Carmel, there stood in 1690 a stone windmill whereon was mounted a battery of three guns, and which served for a redoubt during the siege of Quebec by Phips. It was called Le Cavalier du Moulin."

"In 1746, Louis XV., King of France, took possession of this area of ground in order to establish a new ship-yard for the building of his vessels. Here stood the first Customs House erected by the British Government in Quebec, after the Cession."

It is a safe conjecture that after the placing of all these tablets Quebec will be the most heavily memorialized town of its size in the world.

AIRSHIP LINE CONTEMPLATED

Company is Being Formed in EuropeTo Establish Service Between Capitals.

Berlin, July 14.—A company with a preliminary capital of $125,000 is being formed to establish a line of passenger airships between Berlin, London, Paris, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Copenhagen and Stockholm. The Krupps and a number of bankers are interested in the company.

Rudolph Martin, author of the novel "The Coming War in the Air," and other novels dealing with aviation, is organizing the German Aerial Navy League. These and other similar movements have long been discussed, but the actual initiation of the foregoing is due to the success of Count Zeppelin's latest airship.

Prof. Schiemann crystallizes the national pride in Count Zeppelin's airship in an article in the Kreuz Zeitung, hailing its successful manoeuvres as a great political as well as scientific event. He contends that Germany leads the way in applying aviation to warfare, the airships she already possesses being effective weapons of war. He hails the Kaiser as the founder of the German war fleet.

ARGUMENT FOR PROHIBITION

Hartland, N. B., July 13, 1908.

Editor Evening Times.

My attention is attracted to the item "This happened in St. John" on the first page of your issue of Saturday the 11th inst. Can there be a stronger argument for prohibition advanced, than the publication of such certified fact. If the rum holes of St. John were closed entirely, such a thing could not happen. And I wish to say here that the rum shops of St. John are responsible for a very large proportion of the drinking in Scott Act countries. I have the opportunity of knowing definitely that considerable amounts are sent from the this place at in vals to liquor dealers in St. John and then within a day or two there is usually a wild orgy on the part of the drinkers of the community.

The liquor is sent up by express. If the Scott Act were adopted in St. John, and enforced, a great boon would be conferred on up river Scott Act counties.

I am
PRO SCOTT ACT.
