PRESENTATIONS

About forty members of Baxter Lodge, L.O.B.A., gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stinson, Prospect street, Fairville, last evening and presented to Mr. and Mrs. George Triffa a handsome nut glass water pitcher. Mrs. Triffa has been worthy mistress of the lodge and a most active official. The presentation was made, on behalf of the gathering, by Rev. W. McN. Townshend of St. Columba Presbyterian church, in a neat speech in which he expressed best wishes of $7 which they very kindly turned over to the management of the Infants' Home, Coburg street.

Bryant also spoke and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Triffa a dozen silver knives. Margaret McSherry held a sale on Thursday at the home of Miss Henshaw, St. David street, and realized the sum of $7 which they very kindly turned over to the management of the Infants' Home, Coburg street.

LOCAL NEWS

NO TIMES MONDAY.
On Monday, Thanksgiving Day, The Times will not be published.

BOSTON GETS IT?
The large Hudson Bay flour shipments will, it is now said, be handled through the port of Boston.

BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES
The birth of ten infants, five boys and five girls, and fifteen marriages were reported to Registrar John B. Jones during the week.

LOCAL DIANAS
Mrs. R. Walsh will leave for the North Shore tonight on a hunting trip for two weeks. She will be accompanied by her father and her sister, Mrs. Flewelling of Saskatchewan.

THIRTEEN DEATHS
Thirteen burial permits were issued by the Board of Health during the week. The causes of death were—Senility, infection and pneumonia, two each; rickets, peritonitis, meningitis, gastro-enteritis, ulcerative colitis, bronchi-pneumonia and suppurative mastoiditis, one each.

LOCH LOMOND FAIR
The annual fair and cattle show will be held at the Loch Lomond Agricultural hall on Wednesday, October 11. All the usual attractions are planned and, in addition, it is expected that a hawking match will be arranged. This fair always is a popular event with the city folk as well as with the residents of the district and, if the fine weather continues, a big crowd is assured.

GIFT TO SOLDIER
On Thursday evening more than thirty-five friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Cochrane, St. George street, Fairville, and presented to her son, Pte. Stanley Cochrane, of the Siege Battery, a handsome silver ring. An address was read by Mrs. Duff, to which the young soldier made a very able reply. Games were played for the balance of the evening, which passed all too quickly. Luncheon was served by the hostess, and after singing "God Save the King," the company dispersed wishing Pte. Cochrane the best of luck in his military work.

The Man In The Street

This kind of weather gives one more reason for celebrating Thanksgiving Day.

Isn't it lucky that the German's don't have to spend a day giving thanks for what has happened to them in the year which has passed.

If the Kaiser were called upon to give thanks just at present, we are afraid that he could not do very much better than the cowboy who was thrown from his horse and was in imminent danger of being trampled to death by a stampeding herd of steers.

You know the story. He had not been in the habit of doing much praying but he decided this was the time to begin again; but the only prayer that he could remember at the moment was the grace his father used to say at mealtimes, and so he recited "For what we are about to receive may the Lord make us truly thankful."

It will take more humility than the Kaiser has displayed to be truly thankful for what he is about to receive.

The bulletin board should offer a grand field for the recruiting sergeants during the next few days.

The trouble with a lot of our sports seems to be that they would rather watch any game, even the greatest, the world ever has known, from the sidelines rather than take a hand.

What effect will prohibition have upon the civic campaign to save water?

Will Loch Lomond be able to meet the demand when the bar rooms go dry?

The average small boy will be willing to sacrifice his daily ablutions in order to help the city save water.

Any citizen who is planning to keep his top running this winter to keep the pipes from freezing is hereby warned that it will cost him about three dollars a day, if the water department learns of his plans and puts in a meter to record the waste.

Has any one discovered evidence of the immense amount of work the provincial government was going to do in the Marsh road this fall?

Some one suggests that, if the next attempt is not successful, the old nursery rhyme should be changed to read—"Quebec bridge is falling down, falling down."

Members of the Acadian battalion stationed here have remarked that the citizens will not need to learn French to talk to them. From the fluency of their remarks, we would say that the evidence that they can talk English is quite conclusive.

BASEBALL EXTRA

The Times will publish a later edition giving the result of the world's series game in Boston today.

WRITES OF DEATH OF PTE. LOGAN

Letter From Comrade of 26th, L. Corp. G. ass

"SLEEPS IN HERO'S GRAVE"

Warm Tribute to St. John Soldier and Comment on Number of Young Men Who Still Stay at Home

Mrs. Howard D. Logan, of 121 Millidge avenue, mother of Pte. Howard Logan, who made the supreme sacrifice in the war, as announced in the Times this week, has received from Lance-Corporal Geo. F. Glass of the signal section, 26th Battalion—a comrade of Pte. Logan—the following letter in reference to the soldier's death:

Somewhere in France.

Dear Mrs. Logan:

It is with deepest regret that I offer you my sincere sympathy in regard to your dear son, Howard's death. As you know, I have lost a dear brother out here, so I can very well imagine what a blow it will be to you.

I have been in the trenches with him very often since the battalion came out here, and I assure you there were not many better soldiers than Howie. He was always there when he was needed, and a favorite with all with whom he came in contact. He has done his little bit and has made the supreme sacrifice and now sleeps in a hero's grave.

Dear Mrs. Logan—You must not grieve too much over your loss. Rather feel proud that you were the mother of a soldier's son.

Again offering you my deepest sympathy, I remain,

Yours very truly,
GEO. F. GLASS, L. C.
Signal Section.

The brother referred to by Corn Glass, Walter, who gave up his life on the field of honor on Oct. 27, 1915. Corporal Glass also writes to his mother, expressing thanks for a parcel sent him, particularly welcome socks, and referring to the recent fighting. He was in the thick of it and is thankful to God that he came through without a scratch. The soldier announces that Arthur Dickson has his discharge, as invalided, and is in England before returning to Canada. Bob Turner and W. Ealey, he also says, are on their way home.

The other day, he writes, he met one of the boys from St. John and he was asking about certain ones: were they thinking of going across to do their part? "It surprises me," he writes, "that they are able to walk around with their heads up. They must feel awful mean at times. I have lost all my admiration for quite a few who, I thought, would be out here long before this."

Corp. Glass makes a special request that a couple of pairs of socks be sent him, as the weather is beginning to get colder.

CORPORAL DUGUAY OF 165TH ONE OF EIGHT BROTHERS IN KHAKI

Acadian Family Holds the New Brunswick Record For Recruiting

Possibly we will be less prone to criticize our fellow citizens of French extraction when we remember that it is an Acadian family which hold the New Brunswick recruiting record. Eight sons is the contribution of one Shippegan family and when we think of that mother's patriotism and then reflect upon the result of the two great recruiting meetings in St. John last evening, there is not much ground for self-complacency. When the 165th Battalion arrived in St. John the hall form and splendid physique of Corporal Duguay of Shippegan attracted the attention of the members of the ladies' committee who welcomed the battalion at the armory, and a group shook hands with him and learned that he was the eighth brother to enlist and he modestly added that he was the smallest of the lot. Corp. Duguay is for this month in charge of the detail to look after the Soldiers' Club. Mrs. Kubring, president of the club, has written to his mother congratulating her upon her son, and upon her splendid patriotism.

It may be added that while the 165th Battalion were at Valcartier not one man was up for drunkenness, and no battalion had a better record for good conduct. It is up to the citizens of St. John to show their appreciation of these splendid fellows of the Acadian race, who have made so fine a record since they donned the khaki.

INJURED SOLDIER BROUGHT HERE FOR TREATMENT

Pte. Frank Santol, of Salisbury, a member of the 145th Band, who was badly injured in an automobile accident on June 5, and has been in the hospital at Riverview, Albert county, ever since, has entered the local military hospital here for further treatment. The accident happened at Chapman Hill, when a party in nine automobiles were coming down from Maxton to hold recruiting meetings, the band accompanying the party. The car in which Pte. Santol was seated was skidded over a bank to the marsh. His case was considered hopeless, so badly was he injured internally, as well as externally. He is now slowly recovering, and it was decided that the treatment and change he would undergo here would be an advantage. He has suffered untold pain. His many friends will hope for a speedy recovery.
