German Officials Prepare To Crush Communists' Plans

PITS START AS MINERS RESUME

SUNDAY TO TEST POWER OF PARTIES

German Communists Plan Big Demonstration to Show Strength.

OTHERS ACTIVE

Orders are Issued to Suppress Public Meetings and All Parades.

(Canadian Press)

Berlin, July 25—The attempt of the German communists to make next Sunday's "anti-Fascisti" demonstrations a test of their political strength is considered by the authorities as destined to founder on the preventive measures taken by the Federal and Prussian authorities and the complete disavowal of the communists aims expressed by the United Socialists and organized labor.

The two latter factions are openly backing away from the extermists attempt to drive the working classes into the streets, especially since the outbreak at Frankfort which resulted in the public murder of Dr. Haas, the city prosecutor, under revolting circumstances.

Is Warning Signal.

The Socialist Vorwaerts reminds its followers that the Frankfort episode is a warning signal which should teach the workers of moderate views the folly of allying themselves with the extremist element as they did in Frankfort in connection with the public protest against the mounting food prices.

Both the Federal and the Prussian ministers of the interior have authorized the various state and local authorities to suppress public meetings and parades, the decrees being aimed at nationalistic as well as extermist demonstrations.

In selecting Sunday for the so-called anti-Fascisti protest, the communists are believed to have had in view the recruiting of large numbers of holiday makers in the general excitement they expected to work up.

Dr. Haas Badly Beaten.

Frankfort, July 25.—The autopsy on the body of Dr. Haas, public prosecutor, killed during the communisitic disturbance here Sunday, seemed to show that the victim was literally clubbed, stagged and stoned to death. The murder occurred in front of the prosecutor's residence. Afterwards the mob ransacked the dwelling. One placard carried by the demonstrators read: "No justice without blood." The police have arrested several suspects.

CLERIC CHARGED

Case In Colorado Court Over Liquor Shipment For Home.

Denver, Colo., July 25—The case of Father A. Grace, whose trial began yesterday, probably will go to the jury today.

The defendant, former pastor of the Shrine of St. Anne, at Arvada, a Denver suburb, is charged with forgery in connection with applications for a permit to ship liquor to the Mullen Home for the Aged here. Sister Germaine, superintendent of the home, whose name was signed to the application, says she did not sign it.

The cleric claimed that in obtaining liquor for the institution he was actuated by the highest motives. Some of the whiskey found its way into the cellars of Denverites who are prominent socially, according to government agents.

Sister Germaine testified that Father Grace signed an application for a permit for one barrel of liquor, returned later and told her the application had been cancelled, whereupon she signed another application, supposing it to be for one barrel. The application presented as evidence in court yesterday called for ten barrels.

Play Mean Trick on A Famous Big Eater

Chicago, July 25.—For a year "Professor" Bengo has astonished onlookers here by eating enormous quantities of food and drinking copious draughts of liquids. Today he is in a hospital near death as a result of a trick played on him while giving an exhibition last night, and two men are held in jail pending the outcome of his condition.

Bengo had downed his seventeenth stein of beer in a saloon last night after dispatching a quantity of sausage and a half dozen of eggs. Someone poured oil of mustard in the eighteenth stein. He drank the doctored beverage and collapsed. Physicians say he may die.

Minister's Tribute to Late Dr. Rutherford

Victoria, B. C., July 25.—Referring to the death of his friend Dr. Rutherford, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, former minister of agriculture, said last night:

"Dr. Rutherford rendered immensely valuable service to Canada and his loss is all the more serious because of the fact that his career was cut short while he was at the height of his usefulness.

"He was one of the rocks on which the livestock industry of western Canada was founded and one of the ablest judges of stock this country has ever known."

A BIG RESPONSE TO VERMIN CALL

Laboratory's Request For Bed-Bugs For Experiment Brings Flood.

Washington, July 25.—A public spirited response to the recent announcement of the insecticide laboratory of the department of agriculture that it would pay one cent each for 1,200 bedbugs, in sound condition, has over supplied the demand. The department announced today that it had received more than enough speciments to carry on its tests of various insecticides, which apparently have yet some fields to conquer.

From far and wide in all manner of containers the subjects have arrived, in several instances accompanied by letters explaining that they were caught on foreign premises. The shipping experiment itself has suggested one means of extermination as a great proportion died in transit. Of one shipment marked "1200 more or less" only 45 survived. Helpful suggestions in some of the accompanying letters included the designation of hotels, hospitals and jails as possible sources of supply.

Premier Veniot's Views.

Fredericton, July 25.—Premier Veniot said this morning that Mr. Mitchell, who then gave his residence as Amherst, N. Liquor Findings In U. S. Delayed

London, July 25.—The McNeil liquor investigation committee has not yet reported its findings, and the Government has given no indication of a retreat from the statement made by Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in the House of Lords on June 28 that there was no chance of Great Britain agreeing in any circumstances whatever to the proposal that the U. S. authorities be given the right to search vessels for liquor within a twelve-mile limit

TURKS WIN, IS OPINION IN LONDON

Press Admits Victory Won Over the Allies at Lausanne.

GAINS ARE MADE

New Treaty is Regarded in Some Quarters as a Good One.

(Canadian Press)

London, July 25.—The outstanding note of all comment in this morning's newspapers on the signing of the Near East peace treaty, at Lausanne yesterday is a frank admission of Turkey's complete diplomatic victory over the Allies. The new treaty, nevertheless, is regarded by some commentators as a good one.

The Times, for instance, describes the document as a model of generosity and justice, while the Daily Telegraph which takes a gloomy view, expresses the opinion that if the treaty of Severes had been ratified the settlement created thereby would very soon have been shattered.

Friendship with Turkey is a more or less traditional policy of the British Conservative party and in that quarter there was no disposition to complain over what Turkey gained.

Elsewhere there were serious misgivings regarding the future, particularly as it pertains to Armenians and other Christians who remain under Turkey's dominion.

U. S. Press Opinion.

New York, July 25.—Commenting on the Lausanne treaty, The Times this morning says that on the principle that pease is better than war one can be glad that the Lausanne negotiations have ended in the signing of a treaty, but that is about the only occasion for rejoicing.

The treaty writes into history the fact that the great powers were beaten by the Turks because of their own moral and intellectual shortcomings, declares The Times, adding that, while the Allies were beaten, the Greeks and Armenians will have to pay the bills.

WILL RETURN FIRE ON RUM RUNNERS

Order Issued By Coast Guard Commander After Affair With Canadian.

New York, July 25.—Any rum runner who opens fire on United States coast guard cutters is going to get it back.

Captain Byron L. Reed, commanding local coast guard headquarters made this quite plain today when Commander A. J. Ahearn of the Seminole reported to him that he had withdrawn his craft from the Canadian schooner Thorndyke off rum row last night, after the alien had threatened "to fill the prohibition agents full of lead."

"If they fire on you, return it," was the order Captain Reed snapped out after Ahearn had reported withdrawing for fear of bringing on an international incident. Ahearn, however, did not depart before seizing a motor dory with twenty cases of liquor which he said he had found alongside the Thorndyke.

The case of the Thorndyke has been referred to Washington.

Damage in Wyoming District is Placed at Nearly $1,500,000.

WIRES ARE DOWN

No Loss of Life Reported in the Meagre Details Received.

(Canadian Press)

Casper, Wyo., July 25.—With unofficial estimates of the damage placed at nearly $1,500,000, the region west and northwest of here, extending as far as Thermopolis, is struggling to get its head above flood waters which deluged that section yesterday.

The damage to the Burlington railroad between Armington and Thermopolis, a stretch of eighty miles, is estimated at close to $750,000. Because wires are down most of the way between Armington, 35 miles northwest of here, and Thermopolis, it is difficult to ascertain the exact amount of damage. No loss of life is reported thus far.

Three cloudbursts swept Casper yesterday, one about four o'clock in the morning, one in the afternoon and one last night.

Platte River is running bankfull, but is not considered dangerous at present. Water is rising at Thermopolis and many buildings are flooded.

TO EXAMINE SANS

Obsessed With The Idea That He is Engaged to Mabel Normand.

Martinez, Cal., July 25.—Albert Sans, alleged author of threatening letters to Mabel Normand, film actress, and to Mack Sennett, motion picture producer, was held today pending a hearing to determine his mental condition. Police declare Sans apparently is obsessed by a hallucination that he is responsible for the death of Wm. Desmond Taylor, screen director, slain in Los Angeles in 1921.

The missives to Miss Normand were so loosely written as to be nearly incoherent, but the text of some indicated that Sans entertained an idea he was engaged to wed the actress.

In spite of the similarity between the name of Sans and that of Edward Sands, valet, who was sought in connection with the killing of Taylor, authorities scouted the theory that the men are related.

Ignoring the struggling men, the monster charged other boats in the vicinity and sent them scampering to all parts of the bay. Finally a fisherman put out in a power trawler and succeeded in killing the fish after ten minutes of shooting.

Find A Pre-Historic Monster That Hisses Like Steam Engine

(Canadian Press.)

Alliance, Neb., July 25—A pre-historic monster, between 75 and 100 feet in length, with a head as tall as a giraffe's and which hisses like a steam engine, is the object of an expedition of members of Alliance Anglers Club that plans to invade the lonely Alkali Lake territory, thirty miles from here, in the depths of which the creature is thought to have its lair. The club has sent to Boston for a harpoon and a whaling gun, and just as soon as these weapons arrive the expedition will get under way.

The last appearance of the monster was about two weeks ago, when a party of four anglers became stranded in the mire near Lake Alkali and were forced to spend the night in their automobiles. In the early morning they saw the huge reptile emerging from the lake, "hissing like a steam engine exhaust." The men fled.

The monster has been seen on several occasions by several persons, and the club has become convinced of its existence. Remains of such animals have from time to time been discovered in the vicinity of the lake.

OPTIMISM IN THE FUTURE EXPRESSED

Corner Stone of New Agricultural School at Capital Laid.

Fredericton, July 25.—A spirit of optimism in the future of New Brunswick was reflected in the addresses given yesterday at the laying of the corner stone of New Brunswick's new agricultural school, which is the first in Canada to be established by a Provincial Government in conjunction with a Dominion experimental farm.

Lieutenant Governor W. F. Todd, expressed the conviction that Canada was gradually rounding the corner after a period of depression, during which the agricultural class had suffered more extensively than any other, into a period when the farmer would fare better from the products of his labor.

Analyzing the trend of present migration from the farms towards the industrial centres of the United States, Premier P. J. Veniot, emphatically declared that American industries had reaped the harvest of the war, which won through self-sacrifice of Canada while America retained a neutral attitude, had brought depression to Canada not to be found to the south. The war had brought a reversal of conditions from the pre-war prosperity which had prevailed while depression had then been noticeable through the United States.

Concurring with His Honor, the Premier also expressed the conviction that the turning point had been reached.

Hon. D. W. Mersereau, Minister of Agriculture, Lieut. Col. W. J. Osborne S. B. Hunter, M.L.A., John A. Campbell, ex-M.L.A., and C. F. Bailey, Superintendent of the Experimental Station, were the other speakers.
