Confesses 17 Breaks in City -Policeman Earns Praise of Chief.

Through the arrest of Gordon Dobson the police have captured the perpetrator of seventeen robberies in this city, and thus brought to an end an epidemic of breaks which have baffled the police departments for more than a month. The daring of the young desperado proved to be his undoing and it was a case of playing his luck once too often. His series of crimes was brought to an abrupt ending about two o'clock this morning, when he First and exclusive portrait of George Henry Hubert Lascelles and his mother, Princess Mary of England now the Viscountess Lascelles, to be taken tince the youngster was a month old. He is approaching his first birthday, which will be celebrated with pomp and ceremony in February. pressing against his head he felt the cold steel of the handcuffs close over his wrists. It was spectacular. Twenty-nine skeleton keys, some money and a few trinkets were found in his pock-

Tried It Once Too Often.

As day after day reports were received at police headquarters that more business establishments in the city had been entered and goods stolen the numbers of the detective department went forth in an effort to apprehend the burglar, but to no avail. His methods were those of an experienced criminal and not once did he leave behind him a substantial clue that would lead to his identity. That he was well equipped with the necessary tools to ply his nefarious trade was evident and that he possessed a nerve and cuning that offset detection was apparent. The only hope that the detectives entertained was that he would force an entry once too often and eventually entry once too often and eventually fall into their hands. It was due to this daring that he did land behind the ecution and papers were issued against them.

The couple were scheduled to appear before Federal Court yesterday and be convicted and sentenced. Ewing's wife had died in the meantime. bars for his last venture was on Charlotte street in a section well illumin-

A Stirring Scene.

The story of the arrest follows. At 2 o'clock this morning Policeman Alexander Chisholm was patrolling his beat and while passing along Charlotte street thought he detected a shadow pass in the Paradise restaurant. "Sandy" proved too shrewd to show that he paid any attention to it at the moment and apparently continued along down the street, but he had no sooner passed the large plate glass windows than he silently slipped down the alley and, vieing with the thief in silence in his methods, he opened a side door and, like a shadow, moved through the room until his eye defected the form of a man.

As he stepped forward with his revolver covering the culprit and his flashlight ready to be switched on, the man slid into a corner and, apparently man slid into a corner and, apparently realizing that his tenure as a "free-agent" had come to an end, cowered down. As the light flashed and the voice of the policeman demanded that he raise his hands, the thief slowly straightened up and with eyes watching every move of the officer slowly raised his arms. Policeman Chisholm was taking no chances and as he slipped his handsuffs out he kept the revolver pressed against the head of the thief, and with a quick movement of the wrist, had his prisoner manacled. He then took him to central station, where he was safely lodged behind the bars in one of the cells.

This morning the prisoner was brought before Magistrate Henderson and heard a charge read against him, which inumerated fourteen breaks. In addition three more were added to this long list. The prisoner although only seventeen years of age looked to be twenty-four or five. He stood with a downcast demeanor and apparently (Continued on page 2, column 4)

Nova Scotia Elopers Are Set Free By Death To Spend Happy Christmas Boston, Dec. 19—Twice deserting his wife in Nova Scotia and defying the immigration laws of the United States by entering this country with a pretty Canadian girl, Frank Ewing had jall doors yawning for him yesterday when death, Cupid and the spirit of Christmas stepped in and saved Freedom, thanks to Assistant U. S. District Attorney Schenck, Ewing's Christmas gift from Uncle Sam, Instead of a jall sentence he faced. And, after wedding bells mingle with the peal of Yuletide chimes for Ewing and the girl—Miss Gladys Sherburn—down in Hailfax, N. S., they will be allowed to come here once again and spend a happy Christmas honeyon together, instead of being separated by prison bars, where both were For two years Miss Sherburn and Ewing defied the laws of country Ewing was a married man in Nova Scotla when two years ago he became enamoured with Miss Sherburn. Clandestine courtship was followed by a flight to this country. For a few weeks they lived together as man and wife until, after the deserted wife had made known her plight, the law reached down over the border and both were arrested and deported.
