ST. JOHN BATTLE WITH WHITE PLAGUE

Dispensary Has Cared For 540 Patients In Year

MEMBERS OF THE ST. JOHN ASSOCIATION FOR THE PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

Members of the St. John Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis...

On behalf of the executive I beg to submit the following report of the work done since the last annual meeting held in December, 1910.

The annual meeting of the St. John Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is being held this afternoon.

The total attendance of patients at the dispensary during the year has been 540, consisting of 219 children, besides which, the nurse has had an average of fifty-four visits in the homes and twenty-eight visits of cooperation a month.

Our nurse is also employed by the board of health, they paying part of her salary. She is thus able to report to them all cases of tuberculosis which come under her care.

Miss Rogers, the nurse procured from the Victoria Order, let in August, but we have been fortunate in getting another nurse from the same source, Miss Smith, who has been doing tuberculosis work and who is noted in charge.

Starting the month of September, Miss Gardner, who is at the head of the tuberculosis nurses in Boston, visited the dispensary during a clinic and also accompanied our nurse on visits to the homes of the patients.

Our committee notes with approval the action of the provincial legislature in providing for assistance in the maintenance of sanatoria erected by the municipal councils, cities or towns within the province for tuberculosis cases.

In view of such legislation, this board expresses the strong hope that the municipal council of St. John will immediately proceed with the erection of such a home and we recommend to this meeting, that the sum of money subscribed on tag day be taken in that direction during the coming year.

TEN HOURS IN AIR WITHOUT POWER WILL YET BE POSSIBLE

That is View of Orville Wright But Machines Must Be Larger and Stronger

Kitty Hawk, N. C., Nov. 10.—"There is no reason why an aeroplane cannot stay for ten hours without power as well as ten minutes and one second," said Orville Wright, the aeronaut.

Mr. Wright talked at length concerning his experiments and his ideas of flying machines, while making further tests with a motorless biplane which has given him such splendid results.

"When I say that there is no reason why a man cannot keep an aeroplane in the air for ten hours without power," continued Mr. Wright, "I do not wish to be put in the position of having my remark interpreted to mean that it can be done at once. It will mean a craft must be built larger and of stronger materials than we have at present at hand. It is true we could build the biplane stronger, but it will be expensive. The present structure is adapted to the present state of the aviation because it is economical. He can smash it frequently and have it repaired frequently without prohibitive cost.

SAYS MAN'S ECONOMIC VALUE MOST AT 20

Washington, Nov. 10.—At a session of the Congressional Joint Commission on the Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation here, Dr. C. B. Burr, of Portland, Me., in a scientific presentation of the factors that determine the value of a man's services, figured out what a workman's economic value is at different ages.

At twenty a man earning a dollar a day has a total economic value of $8,230; at fifty he is worth $4,350, and at seventy only $2,000. He said 90 per cent of the value of a man is lost by the age of 70.

It was easy to reach correct conclusions in case of death or permanent disability, he said, but not so easy in the case of temporary or partial disability. He advocated payment of full compensation to persons totally and permanently disabled, instead of 50 per cent, as provided by the bill introduced by Representative Searles, of Illinois over the compensation for partial impairment provided in that measure.

The erection of such a home is too big an undertaking for the association, but a committee have been in communication with the municipal council and have every reason to hope that some necessary action will be taken in that direction during the coming year.

PATRONAGE MAKES TROUBLE IN ST. JOHN

Being in Power Has Troubles as Well as Advantages, Leaders Find

The man in the street says today that the leaders of the Conservative party in this city are finding that being in power has its drawbacks as well as its advantages. The ever present problems of dispensing patronage are giving them some trouble, and the question as to who has this privilege has led to a dispute.

The story is told that, immediately after the election, Dr. W. Daniel's arrangement to recommend applicants for positions, that some appointments were made in return for his resignation in London, which will sail from St. John on December 9, will have a full passenger list.

In addition to the usual homeward run for the holiday season it is expected that the bookings will be quite largely increased by the return of Italians who may be summoned home on account of the war with Turkey.

The prospects for the west bound traffic for next spring are also said to be unusually good and it is expected that the record figures set last spring will be surpassed.

BETTER PROGRESS IN GETTING A JURY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—Eradicall predictions that a jury to try Jas. B. McNamara, would not be selected for at least six weeks or more, seemed extravagant today. The surprising progress of the last two days gives rise to the belief that a panel might be obtained in much shorter time.

NO ADVANCE IN WAGES NOW, NO MATTER OUTCOME

Lord Ashton's Notice

Big Lancaster Manufacturer Says Would Rather Close Down Forever Than Increase Pay Now—Declares the Present State of Things Intolerable

(Canadian Press) London, Nov. 10.—Lord Ashton, who is a big manufacturer of linoleum in Lancaster, and employs thousands of hands, has issued to his employees a notice, which is one of the most remarkable developments in the struggle between capital and labor.

Lord Ashton's notice says that his firm recently arranged an advance of wages in certain departments, but that now, for reasons of which the men are aware, no advance will be made.

"We have also to say that in the event of the works being closed, wages will not be paid. In the future when trade is bad, we shall only keep men whom we regard as friendly and loyal to their employer. We shall not, as in the past, keep those who are bereft of all sense of what is due not only to their employer but to themselves.

"It is with sorrow, much greater than we can express, that we are compelled to give this notice, but the present state of things is so intolerable that we are determined to put an end to it no matter what the cost."

Lord Ashton is said to have given $2,500,000 to philanthropic work besides his public benefactions to Lancaster.

According to the police two of the men in the White Plains jail have confessed that they were members of the gang but both deny that they did the stabbing. The prisoners will be submitted today to the inspection of the three women in the house, who escaped injury.

With three sworn jurors, three talesmen passed for jury, and a new venire of forty on hand today, attorneys on both sides were optimistic as to the possibilities of soon gathering in a panel of twelve, early this morning.
