BUYS HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS POUNDS OF FISH IN ST. JOHN

Montreal Man Gives Two Big Orders—Mr. Paulus Says Industry Should Be Encouraged and City Would Benefit

J. N. Paulus, member of the well known firm of D. Hutton Company, of Montreal, was in St. John today on his annual business trip through the provinces. It is understood that he has placed an order with F. B. Lent, manager of the F. B. Lent Fish Company of Westport, N. S., who came to meet him here today, for one quarter million pounds of prepared fish. Another good sized order ranging also in the hundred thousands pounds, has been placed with another concern on the east coast of Nova Scotia. From here Mr. Paulus is going to Prince Edward Island in the interests of the oyster business. John Jackson and others of St. John are interested in the Lent Company. Mr. Paulus said that it was evident that the fish trade was very promising for the coming season, and this meant prosperity for this section of the country. Fish was gradually becoming more popular as an article of daily consumption and this should not surprise anybody when, almost every commodity in the market, particularly meats, was at such low prices. He felt that no effort should be spared to advertise more widely the possibilities of the fish trade and the profits that could be realized by this city in catering to the fast growing industry, one of the most valuable assets of this province.

MAY BE ANOTHER SHAKE-UP AMONG ST. JOHN BALL TEAM

Another Version of Fredericton Incident — Woodstock Falls to Land Halifax Pitcher

The Marathons returned home last night from Fredericton where they lost two games to the league leaders. It is understood that there will be another shakeup in the team before they again appear on the diamond. O'Keefe, the new shortstop, made a poor showing in yesterday's game, having two errors in each game, but he made one hit. Steve White has also been getting rapped lately and there is some talk of Fraser being released. It is believed that the management have been negotiating with one of the players who was recently released by Woodstock, and it is possible that he may report here at an early date. He is an outfielder, a good hitter and is also a utility catcher.

According to the reports of the games yesterday, George Winter and O'Brien the third baseman had a scrap on the field, the captain calling the third sacker down for missing one of his signals.

Manager George Winter of the Marathons baseball team told a Times reporter this morning that the statement which appeared in despatches which were sent to local papers from Fredericton that he and O'Brien had a scrap on the field was entirely incorrect. According to the despatches he was supposed to have thrown O'Brien a calling down on the field for missing a signal, but according to the players this did not happen.

Members of the Marathons say that the true version of the matter is this: A Fredericton player was running the bases on a hit. The ball was thrown to O'Brien who turned around and touched the runner for an out. Duffy called him safe and O'Brien ran into the plate and started talking to the umpire. Then the runner was called out. Duffy called O'Brien out from the press box "Why didn't you touch him, you yellow dog?"

Marathon players say that they heard this remark, and when they came in from the field they went to the box and gave Duffy a talking to that there was no scrap between the two Marathon players at all.

The players say they are willing to back up their statements, and feel that the league officials certainly ought to get after the official scorer at Fredericton for being drawing a salary to score the games and not to use such language to the players.

The boys also say that Umpire Duffy certainly handed them some raw decisions.

The management of the Marathons announced this morning that Duffy would not be allowed to umpire another game in St. John, and that an effort would be made to have him dismissed from the league. McCann, the new umpire, is expected to arrive here tonight. The management are endeavoring to secure the services of two good pitchers and a shortstop, and hope to land some new men within a few days.

The Greys will play off here today and to Woodstock tomorrow.

The Woodstock club are after Warwick, the Halifax Sox's spit ball pitcher. He has received offers from them to name his price, but said today that he would stay in Halifax.

INQUIRING INTO COLLISION OF DREDGE AND THE T. W. COOPER

Captain Lindsay Hears Evidence of Dredge and Tug Captains

An official investigation was begun this morning in the customs house into the collision between the American schooner T. W. Cooper, of Boston, and the dredge Fielding which occurred on May 20 last in St. John harbor. The inquiry was presided over by Captain H. G. Lindsay, of Ottawa, setting wreck commissioner under authority of the marine department. James E. Cowan appeared for the dredge captain, and H. H. McLean, K. C., acted for the schooner and tugboat. Captain M. McKeown and Captain E. C. Elkin were sworn in as official assessors. Two witnesses were called to give evidence. Captain E. Nickerson of the dredge and Captain G. M. Morrell of the tugboat Wasson, which had the schooner in tow.

Captain Nickerson, who said he had been in command of the Fielding for about seven years, told the court that on the morning of the collision he had left about seven o'clock for his moorings near Partridge Island. It was very nearly low water, the weather was clear and there was very little wind. It was during fresh time and the tide was running a little more than three knots. After the dredge had made its way to the bell buoy below the moorings, the captain saw the tug Wasson coming with the schooner Cooper in tow with a large lumber. They were approaching on the starboard bow.

The tug sounded one blast and the dredge gave answer. An alteration was made in the course and the dredge gave two blasts. The tug came on and sheered but the schooner had not been swung in time, and met the stern of the dredge, receiving the crash about the fore-rigging. Only one of the propellers on the Fielding was in working order as one of the boilers was not in trim, but even with the two, the captain said he did not think the accident could have been averted.

Captain Morrell, of the Wasson, gave evidence somewhat similar to that of the other witness. He said that he had not altered his course to port until two blasts were given by the dredge. The tugboat Helena was on the port side of the Fielding but, he said, made no effort to assist the schooner after the collision occurred. The schooner began to sink and he blew for aid. Captain Morrell said that he asked the master of the dredge what his reasons were for changing his course. He himself, before the accident had been keeping to starboard.

The court adjourned at twelve thirty to meet again at one thirty this afternoon when several other witnesses called were to be heard.
