QUITE SUFFICIENT.

A child-loving man was on his way to Denver to transact some important business. During the afternoon he noticed, in the opposite section of the Pullman, a sweetfaced, tired appearing woman, travelling with four small children. Feeling sorry for the mother, he soon made friends with the little ones.

Barly the next morning he heard their eaget vuestions behind the curtains of the berth, and the patient "Yes, dear," of the mother as she tried to dress them, and looking out, he saw a small white foot protruding beyond the opposite curtain. Reaching across the aisle he took hold of the large toe and heran to recite:

the aisle he took hold of the large too and began to recite:
"This little pig went to market,
This little pig stayed at home;
This little pig had a piece of roast beef,
This little pig had none;
This little pig cried 'we-wee' all the war, nome."

"How is that?" enquired the eager man.

Then the foot was suddenly with-drawn and a cold, quiet voice said: "I should think it was quite sufficient."—

LAND FRAUD CASES,

TULSA, Kkla., May 10.—Again today the federal grand jury here took up an investigation of the Muckogee town land fraud cases, involving charges against Gov. Chas. N. Haskell and half a dozen others. As previously those whose names were used by the alleged conspirators in securing these lands have been subpoenaed from Ohio, Michigan and other states to testify before the grand jury.

Some eleven nations were represented at the commission; in some cases by men hurriedly appointed who were themselves actually in the opium trade. Canada may well be proud of such a commissioner as Hon. W. L. Mackenzic King, M. P., who practically saved the situation from the Reform standpoint. In the next place, the acknowledgment of sincerity on China's friends feared for her on this count. It was so easing to the conscience to say; "Well, even if we are wrong, so is China herself." But now all hostitating subterfuges are swept away, and China within a measurable period will be free from the foreign import, Finally, opium divans, lengthed curve must be supprised.

LONDON, May 8-A spicy play that has been drawing big crowds in London is the farce "Mr. Prudy and the Countess." The Daily Mirror commenting on the show says that the dialogue is full of slang, new slang, and the newspaper prints the following as samples of the slang:

OTTAWA, Ont., May 10-Mr. W. L. MacKenzie King, M. P., Minister of Labor, made his first appearance in the Commons this morning, taking his seat at the opening of the house. Before the orders of the day were called Hon. Mr. Pugsley called attention to some incorrect statements in the speech of Mr. Crockett during the debate of last week. Mr. Crockett had practically declared that $5,600 had been assigned and paid to David Comnell of St. John in settlement of some old claim which he had against the Minister of Public Works. Dr. Pugsley declared that Mr. Connell had no claim whatever against him at all and the $5,600 had been paid in connection with a promisory note of the New Brunswick Coal and Railway Co., which Mr. Connell has discounted. The money was all used in payment for steel rails used for branch lines of, the railway company. There was nothing at all irregular or improper in the transaction as Mr. Crockett had insinyated. In reply to Col. Sam Hughes the Prime Minister stated that the government had not yet considered the question of establishing a school of technology at Ottawa or elsewhere in Canada.

SHANGHAI, May 8—In the matter of opium suppression in China the recently published resolutions of the International Opium commission head in Shanghai, though not as drastic as some of us wished, nevertheless mark a distinct step in advance, for which we thank God and take courage. The agitation against suppression of the foreign export from India for many years seemed to make no headway until at last the public conscience to make no headway until at last the public works of the faithless and unbelieving, suddenly declared that the moral question must take precedence of all other considerations, and a trade moral question of the conscience of China, once fairly active, had been slowly drugged, and Mam mon in the eyes of the government was worshipped rather than righteousness. But the Christian conscience was being steadily brought to bear upon the nation, and the result was that the better spirits responde SHANGHAI, May 8-In the matter body of public opinion among their own subjects by which those efforts are being supported, and the real though unequal progress already made in a task which is one of the greatest magnitude.
