TWO GYPSIES WERE ALMOST DROWNED. Special to The Standard.

Hartford, Sept. 14.—What nearly resulted in a drowning accident happened this afternoon near Hale. There is a band of gypsies encamped near the river bank there and two of them who were out in a boat, were thrown into the water where the current is swift and deep when it captured.

When nearly exhausted and having given up hope of life, assistance arrived from the camp and their almost lifeless bodies were dragged ashore.

E. D. Bennett Believes in Future of Western Town - Making Vast Strides Along all Lines.

"There is a town that was born lucky," said Rudyard Kipling of Medicine Hat.

Medicine Hat is also lucky in having a Frederickton boy, Mr. Spencer, as its mayor. According to the Canadian west, the town with the famous name has put the Spencerian philosophy in seven league boots.

All Medicine Hatters are great exponents of the doctrine of natural selection in connection with their town, and, though Kipling forgot to mention it, they know that the reason that their town was born lucky was because it was destined to be the capital of the Empire when westward it rolls its course.

"How did Medicine Hat get its name," the reporter asked. "Well, it is an old Indian name, arising, it is said, from the confessions of the natives," said Mr. Bennett.

"It is the place they make the weather nowadays, isn't it?" "So they say. It's a good brand of weather, too. Sometimes we have a cold snap, but only for a short time, and then you don't feel the cold much more than in St. John today.

"How has the money stringency affected affairs there?" "Quite a few enterprises have been delayed. But we have put up $3,500,000 worth of business in this year.

"The wheat crop this year will amount to 200,000,000 bushels," admitted Mr. Bennett. "That will let loose about $170,000,000 in the west.

"There is no country in the world today like the Canadian west. The land is under cultivation, and the greatest wheat producing country in the world. The United States has no area to compare with it; no such vast extent of wheat-producing land.

"I met Anna Amuller two years ago at the Parish house of St. Boniface church in St. John. She was employed as a servant there. I was attracted by her beauty. I became infatuated with her. I loved her.

"I had made up my mind that she and I could not live together. I was a priest and must remain with my church. I could not let her go away from me. So I opened the door of my flat. I awakened her. I told her I had come to fulfill my threat. Then I drew the knife across her throat. I cut the body into six pieces.

"I made trips to the Fort Lee ferry each time with a part of her precious body in a bundle. When the ferry boat reached the middle of the stream I would throw a piece into the water and when the boat reached the other side of the river I would return and go back to the flat.

"After I had disposed of the body I wanted to destroy all evidence of the crime. I took the mattress upon which I had slain her and carried it to a vacant lot at 144th street and Seventh avenue. There I buried it. I am guilty; that is all I can say. I must pay the penalty. There is nothing else for me to do. But I loved Anna Amuller.

"She wanted me to marry her, and I procured a marriage license. She trusted me. I am a priest and ordered to perform the marriage ceremony, so when she insisted upon a ceremony, I married myself to her. There was no need of any other priest. It was just as absolute as if I had called in another person with authority to perform a marriage ceremony. She was my wife.

Schmidt, after being assigned to a cell in the Tombs, removed his coat and, using it as a pillow, lay down and went to sleep.

public schools in that city until 12 years old, and then went to Mainz, Germany, where he attended college. At the age of 18 Schmidt enrolled in St. Augustine's Seminary in Mainz, and on December 2, 1904, was ordained by Bishop Kesteln, connected with that institution.

In the crowd were the "down and out," who for years had come to the rooms on Christmas day for a dinner and every February 6 for a pair of shoes, rubbing shoulders tonight with prosperous looking men, young and old, whom Tim Sullivan had placed on "their feet."

"He was a square guy," was an expression most often heard, the expression that means the most on the Bowery.

The line that passed the coffin of the dead idol of the East Side was still a long one at a late hour and it continued all night.

Another scientist condemns the light bottle. We reprint an extract from his opinion rendered in the interest of science.

"The beer in the white glass bottle had taken on disagreeable odor and taste and was absolutely undrinkable. The beer in the dark bottles did not show this peculiar odor and taste." (G. Beck.)

Dr. Robert Wahl quotes Beck in corroboration of his own opinion, to the effect that beer in light bottles will become undrinkable when exposed to light.

PACKAGE IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatism and Serious Diseases Follow.

There are other symptoms, such as pains in the region of the kidneys, nervousness, dizziness, tired and worn-out feeling, weak bladder, or urinary troubles, which are just as dangerous for the slightest kidney derangement if neglected may develop into the deadly Bright's disease, dropsy or dis-ease.

It is not only dangerous, but needless, for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, for Croxone promptly ends all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy for kidney, bladder trouble and rheumatism, than Croxone, because it reaches the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the clogged up pores, neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter, that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys filter the poison from the blood and drives it out of the system.

Three doses of Croxone a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to relieve the worst backache or overcome disagreeable urinary disorders.

You will find Croxone different from other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it should fail in a single case.

OLD CAPTAIN DROWNED. Portland, Sept. 13.—Capt. Francis Lowell of Bucksport, one of the known coastwise captains on the Maine coast, has been found adrift on his sea life, was drowned here in sight of his home and within 100 feet of the shore. He had had his motor boat and started the engine when in some way he fell aboard. His cries for help were heard but before assistance reached him the boat had sunk, while his motor boat tender attached was racing at speed around her moorings.

SCARCITY OF SAILORS. Portland, Sept. 13.—The scarcity of sailors, of which mention has been made before, is becoming more pronounced and captains are finding it more than ever difficult to procure men to man vessels in the coast trade. An urgent request was here this week from Rockland crews for three vessels which have been hung up there for several months but none could be found. Ship masters say they usually know of men to man vessels in the coast trade, but at the present time they find it difficult to get men. It is rather a far in view of the fact that better conditions generally prevail on ships than ever before.

SCHOONER CHARTERED. Articles were opened at the U. S. shipping commission Portland, Friday, for the schooner Florence Howard, to Bridgewater, S., and back here.
