RILEY CHAMBERLAIN.

Riley Chamberlain, "the Thanhouse Veteran," was for thirty-five years on the legitimate stage. He played in "The Blue Mouse," "Tillie's Nightmare," "Madame X," and many other Broadway successes. He is a Cornell University man, and at sixty years of age, is champion roller of the studios. Mr. Chamberlain is proud of his beautiful horses. On his estate at New Rochelle, N. Y., he has several blue ribbon winners.

But best of everything in the world he loves children. Every day at rehearsal he is the centre of attraction for the little actors and actresses—the Thanhouse Twins, the two little Turners, the Kidds, Marie Elina and Leland Benham. They all cling around him, listening to his funny stories, and whenever he moves, the children's laughter follows.

Character comedy is Mr. Chamberlain's favorite work in pictures. He puts both fun and pathos into his part. An enthusiast recently has written of him: "The Jefferson of picturedom is Riley Chamberlain."
