

inhumane or unmerciful in the enforcement of the penalties which the law pronounces; but in relation to men of this class, who, time and again, have been candidates for the extreme penalty of the law; who have demanded mercy when it was given them before, I would give the answer to appeals for mercy which was given those who proposed to abolish capital punishment, in France: "Very well, but let the assassina begin."

ve necessary;
ountry, that
mination is
to execute
riminal and
Executive
rieve on the
st trial, it
of the Exe-
to exact the
ent effect of
n this case
orleves. It
they had a
d under the
to say, as a
was never
ization did
from hold-
recognized
land; and
Executive,
opinion by
hich repre-
is, if that
ining what
to demand
ise justice.
he country
clamour-
no reason
which was
e reflection
exercised.
ument as a
other class
um. Had
ht to have
Executive
that Riel
ng, I ask,
et and of
ction and
ne humane
under the
he chose;
hink that
atch upon
next time.
the words
tention to
that the,
called, in
e Indians
on which
making a
commit-
punished,
em the
the law
the arch-
im their)
emporary
s, and to
vernment
of justice
of capital
ty is for
ed to be

[The remainder of the page contains extremely faint and illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the document.]