Death of Archbishop Feehan.

Chicago, July 12.—The Most Rev.
Patrick A. Feehan, for twenty-two years Archbishop of Chicago, died at 3 p. m. to-day after a long illness. For more than a year the Archbishop had been in poor health. Much of his time had been passed in the quiet of his country home at Feehanville, and for months all executive business of the Church has been out of his hands.

Church has been out of his hands.

Some time ago, for the purpose of relieving him of the onerous duties of his office, Father P. J. Muldoon w.s. appointed auxiliary Bishop of Chicago.

This position is not in the line of succession, and it does not follow that Bishop Muldoon will take the place of the Archhishop.

the Archbishop.

He had been Archbishop of Chicago since September 10, 1880. He had been in America since 1852. He succeeded Bishop Foley here. R. I. P.

The Holy Father had a chair brought, and, after carefully examining the por trait, which is an excellent one—as all Tadolini's portraits are—suggested a number of trifling changes here and there in the picture—changes which the artist says were very valuable from an artistic point of view.

THE PERIL OF THE RELIGIOUS ORDERS.

Any Catholic student of events must be astonished in the pres-ence of one striking fact. It is a fact, moreover, which distinguishes our civilization from every one which has preceded it, and is a thing plicable except on one hypothesis.
This fact is that, in this age, there appears an attack that is almost universal on the Catholic religious orders.

A little analysis will show this true. In France, according to the cable, Premier Combes will to-day begin the ghastly labor of dissolving two thou-sand houses belonging to the various orders. Since the Law of Associations contemplates the confiscation of the property of the orders, as well as their expulsion, we may appear expulsion, we may expect confiscation to follow in the near future. In Germany, a few weeks ago, there began an agitation against the religious orders, backed alike by prominent Socialists and a number of Lutheran ministers. It is well known that the Jesuits are prohibited by law from entering the Fatherland. In Italy there is sporadic agitation against the orders, partly arising from Socialist opposition, but chiefly from Masonic lodges. It is significant that the godless element in Italy, aided and abetted by Jews and Protestants, bit-terly oppose the religious orders.

In Spain, disguise it how one may, the peril of the orders is practically as great as it is in France. Father Felix great as it is in France. Father refly Sarda y Salvany virtually concedes this in Revista Popular. The young king is considered their foe. Drastic measures against them are believed on the point of being taken. Another year will see great disorder.

In Portugal, up to a few weeks ago, a state of uproar existed. Convents and monasteries were brsken open or burned to the ground. Monks and nuns were stoned in the streets like condemned felons. The king stood ready to sign an order banishing them from the country, until the Catholic Party and made such course inadsprang up and made such course inadvisible. It may be doubted, however, if the volcano of godless hatred be ex-sprang up and made such course inactivisible. It may be doubted, however, if the volcano of godless hatred be extinct. Whenever Spain explodes, watch Portugal.

In England such journals as The Rock and such agitators are the gentlemen composing the Protestant Association are spreading venom against the religious orders —the Jesuits especially. If the British courts did not protect the latter they would be out of England now. The coming of a out of England now. The coming of a number of religious from France seems to disturb such journals as the Man-chester Guardian and Leed's Mercury

number of religious from France seems to disturb such journals as the Manchester Guardian and Leed's Mercury —perhaps others—from time to time. While the religious orders exist in Mexico, they are not supposed to do so by law. In Guatemala they are repressed; in Brazil they are persecuted; in Ecuador and other Latin American countries they are not welcome. Additional lands could be cited; is it not a fact that our own government desires to drive the Catholic religious ent of the Philippines?

It is impossible such world-wide persecution should exist without concerted action. There are deft links in this chain that stretches through many civilizations. Cardinal Casanas his lately stated that it is the first horof anti-Christ's universal Kulturkampf. It so seems, indeed. Whatever may be the cause, it is at least a fact that the revolt against the orders was never widespread as it is now. May Ged lead us through the darkness to morning!—Buffalo Union and Times.

WESTERN FAIR, LONDON.

In these days of marvelous achievements men have almost ceased to be surprised, no matter what strange novelty may appear, and yet we have just learned of a sensational feat of human skill, and daring that compels universal wonder and admiration wherever it is seen. It is called the Cycle Dazzle, and was originated by the world famous king of hazardous exploits. The act is performed on the smallest racing track ever construction on built at an angle of seventy-from dagree. In this strange structure two women on bicycles performed to the world famous that they defy description. One can scarcel imagine the terrific speed that must be attained by these daring riners of such a track, to set at naught completely the law of gravitation. We are all at the know that the people of Western Ontario are modeled sensation. The Directions of the Western Fair Association have fortunated been successful in securing the attraction for the thousands who will visit London rom September 12th to 20th, the date of the strain of the strain of the western of 1902 goes far beyond anything ever attempted in the same line.
