Several gentlemen in each of the Protestant congregations in this city have either now engaged or it is hoped will shoully engage in the or annual subscriptions towards the maintenance of this mission, and from the lively interest the public has shown in the facts presented before them, the utmost confidence is entertained that the liberal subscription given will enable the Committee speedily to do much to wipe away the stain that has so long rested on the Protestant Churches in this country in relation to the Indian, both by the maintainance of this mission and the establishment among the remaining members of the tribe of some good system of general education.—Communicated.

A Telling Fact.

A gentleman in this neighbourhood, who is a member of the church of England, and not a contributor to any of the Wesleyan institutions; speech, at the recent Wesleyan Missionary Meeting, held in Brunswick chapel, in this town, was so gratified by the satisfactory explanations and statements of that respected Minister, relative to the expenditure at the Weslevan Mission-house and other matters, that he put a 5l note into the hands of his daughter, requesting her to hand it over to the Weslevan Missionary authorities in aid of their undertaking, and on Sunday evening last, that young lady (in my presence) discharged her trust by giving the money to one of our Missionary collectors. I make no comment upon this circumstance, but leave it to make its own impression upon the minds of your numerous readers.-Correspondent of the Watchman. Leeds, 7th Nov. 1849.
