Originator of "Breaking the Line." Admiral Rodney, the originator of the distinctively British naval manocuvre of "breaking the line," was born February 19, 1719. A veteran of the French wars, he had had a brilliant share in Hawke's victory of October 14, 1747, had served up der Boscawen at Louisburg in 1758, and commanded a squadron which in 1759 bombarded Havre and destroyed a flotifla intended for use in an invasion of England, had in 1762 captured a number of West' Indian Islands, had in 1780 heavily defeated a Spanish squadron off Cape St. Vincent, and had in the same year fought three decisive actions a French fleet. Then, on April 12, 1782, when he was an old man of 63, at a moment when the Revolu-tionary war was drawing to its inglorious conclusion and gloom had settled upon the nation, his oppor tunity came. His battle with Count de Grasse began in the old formal line against line formation; but when the ships were cannonading at close quarters and all was smoke and din, an accidental gap in the French line furnished the opportunity for the inspiration of a moment. In few moments the French order was dislocated and several of the French ships idle, while the British squadron was concentrated upon and destroying the remainder. The opposing commander-in-chief and seven ships were the trophies of a manoeuvre which Nelson afterwards mproved upon and put to such bril-

the British Government Has Decided Create a Native Army. The British Government has decided to create a native army in its various protectorates on the eastern coast of Africa. Somaliland, East Africa, Uganda and Central Africa. Somaliland was created a protectorate in 1884, East Africa in 1895, Uganda in 1891, and Central Africa in 1891. In both of these districts the ruling powers have erected and Teething time is the critical age in the ruling powers have erected and maintained forces composed of natives, officered by British, and serving solely under the authority of the Resident or Commissioner.

The new order combines th arate organizations into "The King's general, whose headquarters will be Entebbe, Uganda. He will be under the supervision of the British For-eign Office, and will stend a part of each year in England, advising the Foreign Secretary. The resultant army is described as the nucleus of a new native army for colonial defence. but is really the first step in the direction of making colonies out of the titular protectorates, which in two cases have come under British superics." It will not be long, probably efore the Residents or Commission ers are succeeded by Governors, and the protectorates become colonies in name as well as in fact.
The natives have shown themselves to be excellent soldiers; they have been put to severe tests in several expeditionary movements, and have left little to be desired. Detachments from two battalions of the Central Africa Rifles visited England a year ago, and made a good impression; and the new force can probably be filled several times over from natives who apply for enlistment. Six battalions-regiments in everything but name—are to be created—two Central Africa and two Uganda battalions and one East Africa and one Somaliland battalion. These will be permanent organizations, oflicered by officers detached from their regular command. In view of the successful development of the native Indian troops, which have a certain percentage of which officers appointed permanently, it is possible a similar system may be introduced in the King's African Rifles.

It has been proposed that the provisional Puerto Rico regiment of infantry and the Philippine scouts be ncorporated in the permanent establishment of the United States army. The success of the Puerto Rico regi-ment, composed of natives officered from the "Mainland," is an argument for such incorporation, and the success of the British in India with their native regiments, and in Africa and elsewhere, is still another argu-

"The New Testament in Braid Scots," rendered by Rev. William Wye Smith of St. Catharines, Paisley, 1901. This is a very curious and interesting undertaking, and one not very casy of accomplishment writes Prof. Clark, of Toronto; for, although it may be contended that broad Scotch is not properly described as a dialect of English, can hardly be said, with strict accuracy, that it is a language the sense that English was a guage before it became the received speech of the people in a number of dialects. By Mrs. J. H. Haskins, of Chicago, Ill., President Chicago Arcade Club.

Comforting Words to Women Regarding Childbirth.

All who are at all familiar with social life at the southside of Chicago know well the Arcade Club, and will tell you that it is one of the largest and most influential clubs in Chicago. It can be readily understood, therefore, that such a prominent woman as the head of this club could have only one object in view in allowing her portrait and letter to be published in connection with any medicine, and that is, to do good to other suffering mothers. Well does Mrs. Haskins know that there are thousands of women who dread the period of childbirth; thousands who are prostrated nigh unto death at the birth of each child, and for months afterwards are weak and miserable, and almost courting death as a relief from suffering.

A capable mother must be a healthy mother. The experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation. Care and careful counsel is what the expectant and would-be mother needs, and this counsel she can secure without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.

Thousands and thousands of women have been carried through this trying ordeal safely and comfortably by a faithful reliance upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. Haskins generously loans us her name and portrait to help us to convince all skeptical women that health and happiness abounds in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MRS. J. H. HASKINS,

President Chicago Arcade Club, Chicago, Ill. DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - Mothers need not dread childbearing after they know the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound. While I loved children I dreaded the ordeal, for it left me weak and sick for months after, and at the time I thought death was a welcome relief; but before my last child was born a good neighbor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I used that, together with your Pills and Sanative Wash for four months before the child's birth:—it brought me wonderful relief I hardly had an ache or pain, and when the child was ten days old I left my bed strong in health and happy in mind. Every spring and fall I now take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it keeps me in continual excellent health; $2 or $3 a year keeps me well and strong." - Mrs. J. H. Haskins, 3248 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me. I wrote you some time ago about not being able to go my full time during pregnancy. Now, after taking the treatment you advised, we have a dear little girl baby, the joy of our home. I tell my friends she is a Pinkham baby, for had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound we never could have had her. My health is good, thanks to your medicine."— Mrs. Harry Runy, Urbana, Iowa. "She is a Pinkham Baby." to your medicine." -- MRS.
