A Combined Treatment
That Really Cures
Catarrh.
Canadian weather, with its extreme cold and sudden changes, gives almost every eye Catarrh, and makes it hard to cure. Some recommend internal remedies—some external applications.
Father Morrissy used both—tablets to be taken three or four times a day to invigorate the system, purify the blood, and help it throw off the disease, and a soothing, healing, antiseptic mixture to be applied inside the eye.
This combined treatment restores the eye to its normal condition. This combined treatment

"Father Morrissy's No. 26" attacking the disease from within and without, soon cures.
Mr. F. L. Mills, Box 251, Springhill, N. S., wrote on August 23rd, 1909:
"I have had two operations for Catarrh from Father Morrissy's No. 1 Catarrh and No. 2, but I think No. 1 has done me the most good, and that is the one I am getting fixed from this time on."
I would recommend the presentation of Father Morrissy's No. 26 tablets as the only remedy I can get to cure my eye. The No. 26 Tablets are a great tablet."
Don't trifle with Catarrh—once it with Father Morrissy's No. 26 for the combined treatment at your dealer's.

Conspiring With Cupid.
As all Branscombe had decided that Charles Schermerhorn was the fit and proper mate for Mabel Howard, that independent young woman promptly decided to transfer her somewhat unsettled affections to Frank Caswell. Branscombe folly pointed out that Schermerhorn had been her girlhood's sweetheart, and was now well to do, and their union would grow a very pretty little romance.
On the other hand, Caswell was practically a newcomer in the village, having made his advent two years before, when Branscombe arrived at the dignity of supporting a national bank. The directors had brought him up from the city to act as receiving teller and to teach the Branscombe boys how to conduct a bank. He had proceeded to make himself generally liked, and the only thing that could be urged against him was that his very evident fondness for Mabel Howard threatened to destroy a Branscombe romance.
Oddly enough, Caswell and Schermerhorn were the closest of friends.
Despite dire predictions of personal encounters nothing marred the course of their friendship, and Schermerhorn seemed to find very satisfying consolation in the company of Grace Payne, Caswell's half-sister, who kept house for him.

Warning to Youth With Small Income.
Histor Lakone the seventeen year old boy accused of having stolen several sums of money amounting to $200 in all from the Place Viger Station, where he was employed as station agent's clerk, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Judge Choquet this morning. It is said that the youth had become infatuated with a girl with rather extravagant tastes, and his salary not being enough to cover his expenses, he took the money from the office in order to gratify her love for finery.
The judge gave the boy a severe supply their sweethearts with possibilities.

When You
Take Cold
One way is to pay no attention to it; at least not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it.
Do as he says, anyway.
When the bowels are constipated, pe-necious substances are absorbed into the bloodstream and helplessly removed from the body as nature intended. Knowing this danger, doctors always inquire about the condition of the bowels. Ayer's Pills

The Loafer.
Punch has his sketch on 'The Loafer'. He is rather small for his age, slim and with an appearance that one would call 'nervy'. He does very little for me, but I keep him partly because I have a genuine affection for him, partly because most business men enjoy the services (such as they are) of one of his class, but mostly because he possesses in a marked degree those characteristics which go to make the ideal servant—obedience and unobtrusiveness. He is always there in case he is wanted, but never in the way. He is perhaps too modest, but it must also be said that he leads the blindest of lives. His handwriting is so admirable that I cannot trust my correspondence to him, and if I ask him to do any odd jobs they are usually badly done.
He has the annoying habit of drumming his fingers on the table and desk, a sure sign of the idler. However, although he could hardly be called my right hand in business, I should be genuinely sorry to lose him.
Perhaps I ought to have mentioned at the outset that I am referring to my left hand.

After Six Years
of Indigestion.
DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS MADE A PERMANENT CURE.
There are many medicines that will relieve indigestion for a time—there are few that will make a permanent cure. But there is one medicine that is sure to cure indigestion, and that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of cases—many of them standing. Cases like that of Mr. John R. Seale, of Montreal, Que., after many other medicines have been tried and found worthless. Mr. Seale says:—"For nearly six years I suffered with indigestion. During all that time I was constantly taking medicine for the trouble, but never got more than temporary relief. Finally I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using them for some time the trouble disappeared and I am now able to eat heartily without the least trace of the suffering I formerly endured. I can, from my own experience, strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a permanent cure for indigestion."
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are good for every disease that good blood is good for, simply because they make good blood—that is why they cure rheumatism, heart palpitation, indigestion, neuritis, St.
Vitus dance and the ailments of girls, hood and womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all medicine dealers or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dishonest Apple Packing.
According to the Montreal Gazette, "Complaints are being cable from England about the dishonesty of Canadian apple packers who fill the ends of the barrel with good fruit and put the inferior product in the middle."
This sort of thing is of yearly occurrence, and still the people on the other side of the water buy Canadian apples in great quantity. It looks as if, on the whole, fair packing was the rule, and that the buyers generally get what they pay for. The trade would suffer more if the cheating was anything but the exception.
"Back to Ireland" is to be the great slogan next year. The movement originated with Mr. Francis J.
Kilkenny, of Washington, as backed by the National Board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, representing 400, 000 members in all parts of the world.
There is nothing of a political character in this movement. The trip is being organized solely upon the lines of the home coming weeks in many cities.

Misery of Protruding Piles
Read the evidence that this distressing ailment is cured by DR.
CHAS. B. CHAMBERLAIN.
Some people find it hard to believe that anything short of a surgical operation will cure protruding piles. The doctors have brought about this belief.
There is no amount of proof that Dr.
Chamberlain's Ointment is a positive cure for this as well as all other forms of piles.
Capt. William Smith, Revelstoke, B.
C., writes:
"It is with much pleasure I state that I have used Dr. Chamberlain's Ointment for itching, protruding piles of many years' standing, and it has completely cured me. I had previously tried many other remedies, but they did me no good. I would strongly recommend this ointment to those suffering from this complaint, for it is a good and genuine cure."
In several of ways Dr. Chamberlain's Ointment is useful in every home in the treatment of itching skin diseases.
It is probably the only treatment that can be positively relied upon to relieve and cure itching, bleeding and protruding piles. 50 cts. a box, at Higher Education.

"Well George," said his employer not long ago to an old dorky in his employ. "I understand that you intend to give your son an education."
"Dat's my intention," responded George. "I know myself what 'is to struggle along without learnin', and I have determined my son ain't goin' to have no sich trouble as I's had."
"Is your son learning rapidly?"
"He shore is, sah. Last week he done wrote a letter to his aunt what lives more'n twenty mile from here and after while he's goin' to write to his aunt dat lives 'bout fifty mile from here."
"Why doesn't he write to that aunt now?" asked his employer.
"He haint write so far yit, sah, but I tote him not try fifty mile. He kin write twenty mile fast-rate, till he gets stronger wif his pen."

From a School Teacher's Point of View.
There are many ways in which another may help the teacher.
Here are some of them:
By regarding the teacher not as a mere hired public servant, but as a friend of the public.
By becoming personally acquainted with the teacher.
By visiting the school room at least once during the school year.
By attending school celebrations and exhibitions.
By heart to heart talks with the teacher regarding the mental, moral and physical characteristics of the child.
By sending the teacher an occasional friendly or appreciative message.
By displaying charity towards the teacher's shortcomings. Teachers are only human. Young, inexperienced teachers often commit blunders quite innocently. Some school rooms are so overcrowded that the teacher has little time to study her pupils individually—and may unintentionally make mistakes.
By teaching the child habits of punctuality, neatness, boldness and obedience.
By withdrawing the child as setback as possible from the influence of the school.
By displaying an interest in the child's school work. The pupil who feels that his school career is closely and sympathetically watched by his parents is very apt to have a good school record.—A School Teacher.

The Difference Between Watching and Looking.
(By Ruth Cameron.)
Every time anyone abuses a privilege he not only risks losing it himself but also making someone else lose it.
A college girl was telling me the other day that the girls were not allowed to go off the campus to evening entertainments at all.
"Why, you always used to be allowed to go if you were properly char-actered," I said.
"Yes," she answered, "but two or three of the girls got around that by getting young girls from the town to act as chaperones, or by promising to have one, and not doing it. So they took the privilege away altogether." That means that two or three girls prevented several hundred from being allowed to enjoy themselves in a perfectly legitimate way.
Several beautiful estates which used to be opened to the public at certain hours of the day have recently been closed altogether.
The reason? Vandals—flowers and fruit stons, initials carved, historic helmets actually chipped by conscienceless crowd hunters. The few who abused the privilege took it away from the many who might have used it properly.
Once, when I was helping to make the arrangements for a college banquet, I marvelled at the high price asked.
"You can get a very good dinner for less than that singly," I commented, "and I should think that collectively it would cost less instead of more."
"It would, madam," replied the manager, "except that we have to charge enough to pay for the spoon or dishes your classmates will carry away as memorabilia." Another case, you see, where the many pay for the lawlessness of the few.
At a shop which has always been most accommodating in its service I asked recently to have a gown sent out on approval.
"We don't do that any more," said the clerk.
I expressed my astonishment. "We couldn't afford to," he explained.
And then he told me of some of the experiences they had had.
Women among their customers continually ordered beautiful hats and even gowns sent out on approval, were then to some special occasion, and then sent them back, saying they did not care for them.
One man who was invited on a two days' automobile trip ordered a $20 fur coat sent on approval, wore it on the trip and then calmly returned it as "not just what he wanted."
And now to take honest advantage of the privilege of having goods sent on approval and they no longer have
it.
Perhaps these people and others like them, who risk their own privileges so lightly, might have the decency to pause a bit if they remembered that they were risking not only their own but many other people's also.
I wonder.

For Good Dirt Roads.
A remarkable article and a series of renewable illustrations appear in the Technical World Magazine for October on the making of good dirt roads, by the use of the King Drag. The story is written by Mr. D. Ward King himself, who has become famous as the inventor of the split-log drag, and the system of dragging by his method. Mr. King has nothing to sell and is purely and simply a good roads missionary, who has made a great discovery, and wants everybody to benefit by it. He works with the public road commissions, and with farmers' associations all over the United States explaining his methods, which have been adopted as widely advertised.
The success secured by the adoption of this method has been extraordinary, and roads impervious to water can be made on practically any soil. The pictures with which Mr. King illustrates his articles, proves that he has accomplished things which have been considered by other road makers almost if not quite impossible. This article is one of the most complete and best expositions of Mr. King's work, which has appeared, and will be read with deep interest by every one who is at all concerned with the improvement of American roads.
