The Way to Keep Down the Cost of Living:
Buy Your Groceries, Teas & Coffees from WENTZELL'S Limited.
From one end of the Province to the other WENTZELL'S LIMITED is known as the "Big Store." It is known as a store having a big stock, a big variety, and giving big value—the only part that is small is the price.
WENTZELL'S LIMITED buy in the very largest quantities direct from sources of supply. Having ample capital, they pay cash, thus securing everything at the very lowest market price.
The policy of the "Big Store" is "large sales and small profits." This has built up a tremendous business, nothing like it east of Montreal. That's the reason why the "Big Store" prices are always so reasonable, and why you can keep down the cost of living if you trade here.

Would You?
If two rows of hair were turned up to mine
With a smile that is rapturous, too,
Would you give them a cold and indifferent touch?
Well, I guess that I wouldn't—would you?
If two dimpled white hands mine own sought
And clasped
With a pressure that's old—but still new,
Would I give them a look of haughty reproach?
Well, I guess that I wouldn't—would you?
If two dreamy blue eyes, with a lingering glance
Were turned to me, tender and true,
Would I give them a look of haughty reproach?
Well, I guess that I wouldn't—would you?
If the Red, White and Blue of this maiden—
Like this "Flag of the Nation" is true,
Would I give my heart, my fortune and hand
To a girl who I would—would you?

Mineral Wealth of Peru.
Peru is generally conceded to be the third richest country in the world in the matter of minerals. Silver is the most abundant of the metals and is found in every section of the republic. In many places it is found in its native state, in deposits of great richness. It is said that between 1630 and 1824, the Jesuit priests took twenty-seven tons of pure silver out of a single valley, while other mines yielded hundreds of millions of dollars, even under the primitive methods of mining and extraction in vogue in the country.
Gold is found in several sections of the country, although this metal was not mined to any great extent before the conquest by Pizarro, the Spanish conqueror for some reason giving all their attention to the silver mines. Therefore the gold mines found that the native Incas derived their fabulous wealth were abandoned for three centuries or more and only within recent years has there been a revival of mining for the yellow metal. The rivers of Eastern Peru all have gold bearing gravel beds.
Mining for copper has proved a most profitable industry in Peru, the mines of Cerro de Pasco being among the most famous mines in the world.

He Wanted a Handkerchief.
It is touching to read, writes Mons Clever in 'Refugees in Paris' in the March Canadian Magazine, how these unfortunate ones long more, sometimes, for the little amenities of life even than for the necessities, as witnessed the case of one of the Sikorski family refugees. He was only an old blind man who, led by his little son, had sold papers in the country around D. Returning one night they found the village occupied by the enemy and their home with the mother and three little girls, impossible to reach. For two months they lived without shelter in the vicinities, hoping to get news of their loved ones, but finally wandering cold and hungry as if hopeless to Paris where they came under the notice of Dr. and Mrs. Sturtevant. They gave them all the clothing they could and made the boy comfortable in a suit of warm underwear. The old man stammered his thanks yet seemed still to want some thing for which he hesitated to ask. At last, under tactful pressure it came out:
'If you could only give me a handkerchief,' he said.
Now, handkerchiefs, were not in plentiful in the refugees' outfit. Mrs. Sturtevant's workers had prepared, and while sympathizing with the newly touching request, she was at a loss how to supply it. Finally she thought of the tiny sheets made for her little daughter's doll-bed, and the small girl readily presented one to the blind refugee.
'This is a "mouchoir de guerre," she told him and he took it with smiles of the deepest satisfaction.

Tired Out Kidneys.
Kidney troubles are so frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by overwork or excess of eating and drinking. There is effected relief by whipping them on to renewed effort but by availing the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rests the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorders then disappear.
He Called the Bluff.
Two young women, entering a street car, found that there was only one standing room.
'I'll soon get a seat,' said one, in a loud whisper, to her companion. 'Now you see!'
She turned to a sedate-looking gentleman.
'My dear Mr. Green,' she exclaimed, 'how delighted I am to meet you! You are almost a stranger. Will I accept your seat? Well, I do feel tired. Thank you so much!'
The man rose.
'Sit down, I've my girl,' said he, as he courteously pointed to the vacant seat. 'You're not often out on a weekday. You must feel tired. I'm sure! How's your mistress?'
'She made a terrible blunder at the auction sale yesterday.'
'What did she do?'
'Somebody bid $6 for that old chair, and fore of habit led her to say: "I'll double that!"

Rheumatism a Mystery.
UNUSUAL SUFFERING OF THE SYSTEM IS ALWAYS WORSE AND WORSE.
Rheumatism gives immunity from another attack, but rheumatism works just the other way. Every attack of rheumatism invites another. Worse than that it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before. If any disease needs curing early it is rheumatism, but there are few disease physicians find more difficult to treat successfully. Wet weather does not cause rheumatism as was once thought, though weather conditions may start the aches and pains. The condition is one known to be dependent upon the condition of the blood because this with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood is, therefore, a reasonable way of preventing and curing rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by a true case which follows a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood which drives out the rheumatic poison, and while the blood is kept in this condition there is no danger of the trouble returning. Mr. W. T. Pell, Palermo, Ont., says:—'I was attacked with a trouble which was ultimately pronounced rheumatism. Often I was barely able to crawl into bed, and seldom able to do a full day's work. In this condition I doctored for a year, absolutely getting no better. Then I consulted another doctor whose chief consolation was that unless I could get rid of the trouble I would be a cripple for life. He prescribed dieting, and I doctored with him for at least six months, but instead of getting relief I became weaker and less able to get around. Then I decided to try a doctor in Toronto, and was under his treatment for about four months with no better results. I gave up the doctor and tried other remedies which were equally futile. Then one day our store keeper sent me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, saying, that if they did not help me I need not pay for them. I took them and then got some more and found they were helping me. I probably used $50 worth before I felt fully cured, but they did cure me and were cheap as compared with the other treatments which did not bring relief. My rheumatism has not returned since. To day I am well and strong and I believe I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.'

Lost by Drink.
It has been fairly safely determined that the average man who drinks spends to some day on liquor, excluding Sundays. This takes from his income twenty pounds a year. Some wholesome thing has to be sacrificed in the name to meet that drain on his pocket.
A man who is a steady drinker requires more medical attendance in a year than a man who is not. This is being constantly testified to by physicians. More men are rejected by life insurance companies because they are drinkers than men who are unfit from any other cause. We have, therefore, less financial protection for the family of a drinker than for the family of an abstainer, and this, in the national aggregate, becomes a matter of tremendous significance.—Leader.

Lobster Was Over Yard Long.
One of the largest lobsters taken from Maine waters in several years was brought into this port Thursday night by the fishing scho. Lochinvar. The lobster measures 37 inches from the tip of its "smellers" to the tip of the tail, weighs 15 pounds and is 18 inches in circumference about the largest part of its body.
Caught in the trawls the lobster was brought to the surface while the Lochinvar's crew were out in their duties to miles off Segun Light. Olat Penny was the lucky fisherman to land the big lobster and will receive a fancy price for his catch.
The claws of the lobster are the size of a big porterhouse steak and there is enough meat in the sea fish to provide a meal for a large family.—Ex.

A Weak Chested Boy.
'My boy Frank seemed weak chested and took a very severe cold,' writes Mrs. D. Stevens, Kings, Man. 'The many medicines used did not seem to benefit him until we tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him. No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for cough and bronchitis. The cure was so marked that I have been able to publish from day to day reports from persons who have been actually cured.'
The case described in this letter was an extreme case and the writer was in a very low condition when he began the use of these pills. The cure was so marked that I have been able to publish from day to day reports from persons who have been actually cured.

House of Assembly.
HALIFAX, N. S., MARCH 6TH, 1916.
The third week of the legislative session was rendered notable by the advent of the government bill. Over two weeks have passed without the submission of any government business to the Assembly, many persons were beginning to wonder why Mr. Murray had the legislature summoned at all this year. It is, therefore, not surprising that the belated arrival of Mr. Murray, armed with a genuine government measure known as bill No. 12, created a mild ripple of temporary enthusiasm among his not-over-observed followers. The purpose of the bill is to provide relief, or to be precise, exemption from tax, to certain American capitalists, with respect to the bonds covering a $5,000,000 Nova Scotia government loan, which Mr. Murray negotiated in Boston some weeks ago. The bill provides that no succession tax shall be collected with respect to these bonds or any of them, either from present or future holders. The Opposition criticized the measure vigorously on the ground that it is class legislation, exempting capitalists and persons of large means from a tax that less wealthy Nova Scotians have to pay. Finally, at Mr. Tanner's suggestion, the government agreed to let the bill stand over for the present.

The strange thing in connection with this solitary government bill was the aliphaw way Mr. Murray handled it. Perhaps this was natural, for the Premier has had little legislative practice this year. But it was certainly amusing to the House and the visiting public. In the first place, Mr. Murray said the bill referred to a $1,000,000 loan which had been placed in Boston a few months ago, and had yielded 98.18 per cent. The fact is that it related to a $5,000,000 loan which was placed in January 1916, and yielded only 67.13 per cent. As Mr. Murray himself, who is supposed to have placed the loan, his ignorance of its amounts, the date of marketing, and the rate it sold at, astounded the members of the House. The fact is that Mr. Murray and his associates, as an inevitable consequence of longholding of office, have delegated the entire administration of the government to themselves. They have little real hand knowledge of what is taking place in the D. P. departments. The large number of instances of this recently coming to light have fastened upon the Murray Government the very characteristic nickname by which it is known in business circles, of the Arm-and-A-Administration.

Mr. Murray's prohibition bill bid fair to drive the government into nervous collapse. Premier Murray's shock of the temperance sentiment of the province was his admitted fault. He had no government policy to follow in this direction. He had only regard for the prohibition for Halifax. Now that the measure is before the House, thanks to the Opposition, it is likely to pass the Assembly. The Halifax liquor men, anticipating this, are said to be disgusted with the government's lack of backbone, and are demanding that Mr. Murray take measures to get the Legislative Council to reject the bill, or to mitigate it by amendments, or to have the time of its operation postponed for six months or a year. If he fails to meet the demands of the liquor interests, the campaign fund of the Liberal party will materially suffer, and the elections are in sight. There is, therefore, promise of interesting developments at the capital during the next couple of weeks.

A Prayer Before Action.
Once, in this chapel, Lord,
Young and undaunted,
Over my virgin sword,
Lightly I chanted:
'I've ended my watch, I go
Shining to meet the foe.'
'Swift with Thy dawn,' I said,
'Set the lists ringing.
Soon shall Thy foe be sped
And the world singing!
Bless my bright plume for me,
Christ, King of Chivalry.'
Warriors I kneel tonight,
Lord, by Thine altar!
Oh, is tomorrow's fight
Let me not fail!
Bless my dark armor for me,
Christ, King of Chivalry
Keep Thou my broken sword
All the long night through,
While I keep watch and ward!
Then, the red light through
Bless the wrenched haft for me,
Christ, King of Chivalry.
Take, in Thy pierced hands,
Still, the bruised helmet;
Let not their hostile bands
Wholly o'erwhelm it!
Bless my poor shield for me,
Christ, King of Chivalry.
Keep Thou the sullied mail,
Lord, that I tender
Here, at Thine altar rail!
Then, let Thy sword
Touch it once * * * and I go
Stainless to meet the foe.

Maud S. and Dan Patch.
Names to conjoin with amongst lovers of horseflesh were Maud S. and the famous Dan. They were the outcome of patient training granted on sterling qualities of form and endurance; they were developed in speed and staying power when some evidences of their excellence had been discovered.

In the dairy world many names of excellent cows are emblazoned in history. They have made astounding records in the hands of careful feeders who discovered their great capacity. N. A. S. cows; first, although many good records are now known, the point was, in many cases, the result of a dream of even by the men who at one time owned such magnificent cows; second, what has added to the value of the world's record breakers is the very fact that simple, cold arithmetic has been used to calculate the milk and fat production.
Some system of dairy records, then, has helped this discovery of the complete of Maud and Dan; records are being kept from 1915 to discriminate intelligently between the plodding utility cow and the high speed long-distance cow. A note to the dairy department, Ottawa, will bring any reader, without cost, samples of record forms, the keeping of which will prove a useful endeavor and increase your income. C. W. F.

Was Troubled for Years With Kidney Disease
And This Treatment Cured Me—This Statement Endorsed By a Baptist Minister.
The great majority of people are familiar with the extraordinary curative powers of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. But for the benefit of those who are not so fortunate as to have been cured, I continue to publish from day to day reports from persons who have been actually cured.
The case described in this letter was an extreme case and the writer was in a very low condition when he began the use of these pills. The cure was so marked that I have been able to publish from day to day reports from persons who have been actually cured.
By their unique curative action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure in

FOR HEADACHES, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION.
Nearly all our ailments, and many of the serious ones, too, are traceable to some degree to the disordered action of the liver, kidneys, bowels, stomach, and bowels are equal to the work they have to do. It is a simple matter to take 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup daily, after meals, yet thousands of former sufferers have banished indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and all their distressing consequences in just this simple way. Profit by their experience. As a digestive tonic and stomachic remedy, Mother Seigel's Syrup is unsurpassed.

milder soaps should be used, and these not applied directly to the fabric. If much dirt is present a volatile acid such as ammonium carbonate may be added to the water.
The scrubbing to which fabric is subjected should be gentle, and the wringing through loosely-set wringers.
Once washed, the goods should not be allowed to lie about wet, but should be immediately hung up to dry, preferably out of doors if the air is dry and the temperature above freezing.
The reason for this careful treatment is found in the peculiar nature of the wool fibre. Its outer or epidermal layer is made up of minute serrations, which are arranged in some such manner as the scales on a fish. Now these scales are softened and opened up by hot water and by such alkalies as are found in the household pressure due to hard scrubbing is sufficient to cause the serrated edges of the fibre to unlock and felt. Felted fibres are usually hard and brittle. This is because the alkali which has helped in the felting process has removed from the cells certain fatty substances which serve to make the fibre soft and pliable.
Fabrics which have become hard and felted have not only lost their attractiveness, but also most of their usefulness as a protection from the cold. This latter quality is due to the "air blanket" which forms in the spaces between the fibres, for quiet air is, we know, a very poor conductor of heat and cold. When the fibres have become felted these air spaces are lost, and consequently the fabric is no longer able to materially aid the body to retain its heat.
