

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JUNE 6, 1919.

Editorial Brevities.

In the recent Salvation Army drive the sum of one and a half millions was contributed throughout Canada.

Hereafter no resident of this province can do business as an insurance agent in Nova Scotia unless he holds a certificate from the Provincial Secretary empowering him so to act.

Lovers of the luscious banana will be pleased to learn that there will be an extraordinary banana crop this year. It is estimated that it will be four times as large as that in 1918.

With the return of Sir Robert Borden the date of prorogation has become a matter of speculation. The majority of members believe that, barring unforeseen developments, the house should rise not later than the end of the first week in July.

As soon as the Bell Telephone Company obtained permission to increase its rates to customers it issued $4,500,000, at par to its own shareholders. As the stock is now selling at 130 this is a present of $30 a share or $1,350,000, to its shareholders at the expense of telephone users. And the Maritime Telephone and Telegraph Company want to raise their rates too!

It is stated that of the ten motor trucks recently purchased by the Provincial Highway Commission, two are to be delivered at Kentville, and that the road between Kentville and Wolfville is to be among the first to receive attention. This road, like all our other county roads, might well be improved. We believe, however, that better methods must be resorted to than at present in vogue if ideal roads are to be secured.

A merchant who does not care enough for your trade to ask you to visit his store and who does not in form you of the many bargains he may have to offer is hardly worth your patronage. The progressive merchant will always let his customers know of the arrival of new goods at once, and the way for our merchants to do this is through the columns of THE ACADIAN which goes into all most every home in the town.

A writer in the Montreal Gazette points out that the greater part of the trade of Jamaica is done with the United States. Of the imports the republic supplied 47 per cent, compared with 38.5 per cent by Great Britain and 8.7 per cent by Canada, 13.5 per cent received by Great Britain and 5.5 per cent by Canada. The writer calls for a preference tariff by Canada, by which, as well as by establishment of a rapid steamship service, he has no doubt that a considerable and profitable development of trade between the Dominion and the British West Indian colonies could be effected.

An Evening Service Incident.

The following paragraph is taken from an interesting letter published in the Monoton Times, on "Reminiscences of 'Mouseton,'" by Brenton A. McNab, of Val Morin, Quebec. We are sure it will be read with pleasure by many of the friends and admirers of Dr. Gates in this vicinity:
Rev. George O. Gates was the pastor of the First Baptist church; and a preacher of rare spiritual power was he. I recall a notable incident, which took place on a Sunday night, while that Reverend gentleman was conducting the service. He began to read a chapter, had finished but a couple of verses when darkness fell upon the congregation, due to the failure of the gas supply. There was no pause in the reading; Mr. Gates went calmly on to the end of the chapter, as if he were viewing the printed page of the Bible all the while; his splendidly modulated voice gaining in impressiveness towards the close of the recital, while the congregation sat in the darkened church, without stir or sound.

Announcement of New Canadian Book by Canadians for Canadians.

The John C. Winston Co., Limited, of Toronto, announce the early publication of "Canada's Sons and Great Britain in the World War" by Colonel Nasmith, Chief of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France and Belgium, with an Introduction by General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Corps. A great portion of the book is compiled from notes made on the battlefield by Colonel Nasmith, and the descriptions of the various engagements, written by an eyewitness, have an intimate appeal that no amount of long-distance reporting could convey.
Colonel Nasmith was born in Toronto in 1877 and gained his bachelor's degree from the University of Toronto in 1900; M. A. in 1903; Ph.D. in 1905; D. Sc. in 1916; D. P. H. in 1918. He was chemist for the Provincial Board of Health of Toronto, 1905-09; Director of Laboratories, Department of Health, Toronto, 1909-18. He went overseas with the Canadian forces in the World War and was in the thick of the fighting in the final stages of the battle of Vimy and in many subsequent engagements. It was he who first reported the nature of the poison gas used by the Germans in 1915, and suggested the use of the protective masks. He first suggested the use of chlorine for purifying water for an army in the field (1906). The mobile filter now used by the British army is the result of his suggestions. Besides many technical papers, Colonel Nasmith published "On the Fringe of the Great
