Oil Engined Liner Praised. it is very probable that within the "it we years we shall see large ve-its sailing the Atlantic without im-rels or boilers." So says W. R. Fer-guson, managing director of a Glass-gow shipbuilding firm, who is convinc-ed of the almost immediate moress of the oil-engined liner. His confidence is based upon an on-terprise which his even firm has in hand the construction of an oil en-gined ship of about 5,000 tors grass driven by twin screws and having is speed of twelve knots. This new line er, which will have accommodiation iof a limited number of passengers will be propelled by two sets of in-terna, combustion engines. Mr. Forguson declares these engines will, embody _ improvements _ which have evercome initial difficulties con-nected with starting and reversing.

inel for a small flame that burns at one end. The heat from the flame causes the air to expand in the bulb of the see-saw directly above it. As a result the see-saw moves every five seconds. This movement is the sole motive power that actuates the hands. In Switzerland clocks are now being made that do not require hands and faces. The timepiece merely stands in the hall and one presses a button, which by means of the phonographic internal arrangements calls out "Halt".
