THE AMERICAN BISON SOCIETY WAKES UP

Since Canada Has Secured Famous Pablo Herd United States Undertakes To Secure Remaining Buffalo on the Continent.

Winnipeg, March 30.—The announcement that Dr. Wm. Hornaday, the president of the American Bison Society, had completed the purchase of the Flathead reservation in North-west Montana for the purpose of preserving a herd of bison, is a good deal more interesting than it seems to be on the face of it.

The Flathead reservation is a district which extends from Ravalli, a station some 80 miles west of Missoula, almost to Kalispell, and upon this reservation Michel El Pablo bred the herd of buffalo which were bought by the Dominion government during the spring of last year. The herd numbered in all about 450, and at the time of writing there were 128 animals at Lamont, a town forty miles east of Edmonton, on the Canadian Northern railway. These bison had been brought into Canada in two consignments. The first consignment was transported in the month of May, 1907, and in this consignment there were 128 animals. The second portion of the herd was transported to Lamont during the month of September of last year. The price which was paid by the Dominion government was $250 per head, and the cost of the undertaking to bring the bison to Canada was $500,000. The purchase of the herd was adversely criticized at the time by the members of the opposition, but even the most unenlightened person on the Conservative side of the House at Ottawa has been forced to admit that among the many clever things which the Hon. Frank Oliver has done since he has been the minister of the interior, this deal was one of the best. There is a certain amount of humor in the statement that the American Bison Society has now decided to place a herd of twenty bison on the Flathead reservation, after the bison have been sold and delivered to the Dominion government. All told, outside the Yellowstone Park, there are not more than 200 buffaloes in the United States. There is a small herd at Kalispell, there are about 50 or 60 in Oklahoma; there may be thought to be territory over which waves the Stars and Stripes enough buffaloes to make up to 200.

But there are no more.

The day after the fair, the expression, "the day after the fair," is a wayward and tired, and is not an expression which should be used by any person who claims to be intelligent. It is the only word which describes the action of the American government in purchasing the Flathead reservation for the purpose of breeding buffaloes. The government of the United States had many opportunities to buy the Pablo herd, and from time to time approached El Pablo and offered as much, or even more, than the Dominion government eventually paid.

But the U. S. A. government made one mistake, and this mistake was not the result of diplomacy. It was the outcome of foolishness. El Pablo is a half-breed, and, as is the case with all half-breeds, he is a full-blooded Shoshone Indian, and the family circle, as may readily be imagined, are difficult to coerce.

When the government of Washington offered to buy the herd El Pablo refused the price that was tendered, or rather to be more correct, he asked for time in which to consider the proposal. This tardiness on the part of El Pablo did not please the executive, and they wrote to him and stated that if he did not accept the offer which had been made him they would throw open the Flathead reservation for settlement, and would send surveyors to divide it up into homesteads. This threat did not appeal El Pablo in the very least, and he replied that under no circumstances would he sell the herd to the States, no matter what price they offered. About this time Alexander Ayotte, the Dominion immigration agent at Missoula, who has been in Missoula for a number of years, got wind of the trouble which had taken place between the government of the U. S. A. and El Pablo, and he wired to the Hon. Frank Oliver that the purchase of the buffaloes was possible. Negotiations went on for many months between Mr. Ayotte and El Pablo before the deal was accomplished.

How Douglas Negotiated.

Mr. Howard Douglas, formerly superintendent of the National Park at Banff, now Dominion Parks Commissioner, was sent down to Montana by the minister of the interior to superintend the shipment, and from the time that he crossed the line to the moment that he returned, he encountered the most strenuous opposition.

Not only did the Missoulian, the Helena Independent, the Missoula Herald, the Great Falls Tribune, the Butte Miner, the Anaconda Standard, and all the papers in the state of Montana suggest in their editorials that the buffaloes should not be allowed to leave the country. The people of Missoula went further than that. They took upon themselves to make the six Mexican cowboys who were in charge of the buffaloes intoxicated beyond the utmost confines of delight. When they had succeeded in accomplishing this somewhat easy task they proposed to break open the box cars and let the buffaloes loose upon the prairies.

But once more the astuteness of Mr. Oliver, through the medium of Howard Douglas, was exhibited.

Things were just in that condition when an ill-considered word or a hasty gesture would have precipitated matters beyond the possibility of remedy. Mr. Douglas saved the situation.

"If," said Mr. Douglas, "you do this if you let these fellows loose on the prairie, you will not damage or hurt in any way affect the Dominion government at all. The only person

GRAIN GROWERS ATTERMINAL ELEVATORS

Conference in Ottawa on Royal Grain Commission's Report—Winnipeg Grain Exchange Is Condemned By Grain Growers and Defended By Exchange Members.

Ottawa, March 31.—A conference was held in Sir Richard Cartwright's room to-day, of the grain growers, railway men, grain dealers, elevator owners and other persons interested in the western grain trade, for the purpose of informally discussing the report of the Royal Grain Commission and any legislation that may be in contemplation. The ministers present were Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Mr. Fisher, and Hon. Mr. Oliver. Practically all the western members were present.

The discussion resolved itself largely into a debate on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The opening speaker was Mr. Landley, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association. He commended the government ownership of terminal elevators with the object of preserving the identity of grain. He declared that there was wide distrust of the way grain was handled, and he assailed the grain dealers, who he said were not the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, defended that organization from the charges of corrupting government officers, whose duty it is to stand between the producer and the exporter. He admitted that distrust existed, but pleaded for the exchange as a necessary change. He also discussed the question of car shortage and car supply, saying that the value of grain depended on its availability.

R. C. Henderson, vice-president of the Grain Growers' association of Manitoba, attacked the grain exchange as being under the influence of banking and railway interests, and asserted that the farmers had proved before the Grain Commission the existence of a pool in restraint of trade. He objected to dealers owning terminal elevators, and complained that the grain was not handled on the ground of modesty he would rather not. He came from England six years ago, homesteaded, lived three years on his homestead, and then came to Canada and had his depts at home.

He was not only a farmer but a home-steaded man. His wife and sons in his own words, "were not in the land and it was not for farmers they were living at the business. He humbly stated that he was trying to get out of it by getting into this job. Referring to Mr. Root's personal attack on Winnipeg, he said that he had no use for personal attacks. That he had the utmost regard for Mr. Root as a man, but as a politician he could not see the advantage offered by him to drive his point home. Referring to the report of Mr. Root's meeting as given in the Free Lance, he spoke of McDonald, saying that as he was a Scotchman he had made a mistake in text and took as his text, "Why am I a Conservative." McDonald seemed to think that a delivery and the party had a monopoly on truth and virtue, and he compared it to the party of the day. He said that for his part he preferred to go down to Ottawa and thrash the matter out. Replying to the statement that the Liberals said that they would make Canada a cheap place to live in, Mr. Clark said that Mr. Root was very much out in his figures in reference to what the Dominion government had done in the matter of the tariff. Referring to McDonald, who spoke at Mr. Root's meeting at Winnipeg about selling all this land which he claimed the province ought to have, he wanted to know what he would sell all this land. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he said, was following the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, and that was the policy of the Dominion government. Speaking about the British preference he thought that this was the biggest thing that Sir Wilfrid had done for Canada during his term of office. He agreed with Mr. Root that the market was not in a bad state. There were numerous bankruptcies. Manufacturers were in a bad state and wages had fallen very low. The repeal of the corn laws was what brought relief. The doctor said that it would be claimed that he was a free trader. He was not, but he was a tariff for revenue man. He referred to an incident at Olds two years ago, when the Canadian manufacturers were passing through. He noticed them dressed in broadcloth and the ladies in satin and silk. Looking around he saw farmers clad in $1.25 overalls and wondered what had gone wrong that the farmers had to be taxed to help out these people in satins and silks. He concluded his address by saying that if his audience wanted to study politics they should study Emerson instead of George F. Root.

H. A. Malcolm called for a hearty vote for the motion of thanks to Mr. Cartwright. The doctor in reply moved to follow the motion of thanks to Mr. Cartwright for the excellent music he had rendered. After the singing of the national anthem the meeting dispersed.

Candidate Speaks.

Dr. Clark in speaking of the constituency south of Innisfail thought that it would give a good Liberal count of itself at the next poll. He took this opportunity to publicly thank the people and his many friends and opponents, for the kind way in which he had been received on his first visit to Innisfail. Mr. Root had given his autobiography he would follow his good example and give a little of his own thought on the ground of modesty he would rather not. He came from England six years ago, homesteaded, lived three years on his homestead, and then came to Canada and had his depts at home.

He was not only a farmer but a home-steaded man. His wife and sons in his own words, "were not in the land and it was not for farmers they were living at the business. BOMB WRECKED BED

Of Marked Man—Enemy of Miners Federation Narrow Escape.

Tulare, Cal., April 1.—Former Adjutant General Billy Wells narrowly escaped assassination by dynamite at his home early today. Despite precautions against such a attempt, such as placing a stick of dynamite or a prepared bomb was placed under the bed. The General, who was sleeping, as was his habit, on an upper porch, was hurried many feet from the wrecked house. The side of the house was completely destroyed, and the bed of the bed remained, and fragments of wood were scattered over the neighborhood. Though badly shaken up, General Wells is said to have escaped practically without injury.

General Wells took a leading part in the suppression of labor troubles in this state in 1904, and was prominently identified with the recent prosecution of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners. He was also a member of the United States army, and was active also in securing the extradition from Italy of Steve Adams, who is to be tried here on charges of murder in connection with the miners' strike in 1904.

Will Stop Issuing Passports.

Vancouver, April 1.—When the number of Japanese entitled to pass to Canada during any one year is reached, the federal authorities have the assurance of the Japanese government that the use of passports for Canada will be stopped, and that there will consequently be no more arrivals here during the remainder of the year. Notices to this effect have been received by Dr. Monroe, Dominion immigration agent at Vancouver. A record of the number of Japanese coming into Canada will be kept at Ottawa, and when the limit of 400 is reached the issue of passports will cease at Tokyo. Up to the present time this year the number of Japanese who have entered Canada is less than 25 per cent. of the number entitled to come.

Citizens of Canada to Benefit.

The minister of the interior has stated in the House at Ottawa that any portion of the Dominion, or any city, or any province which has suitable grounds whereon the buffaloes may live and move, and have their being, can obtain as many of the animals as they need by application to the department of the interior. Given the facts, and in the face of the real history of the purchase from Pablo, as related here for the first time, the average man may be excused if he smiles when he reads that the government of the United States has purchased the Flathead reservation for the purpose of placing buffaloes thereon to the number of 20.

RED DEER CANDIDATE SPEAKS IN INNISFAIL

Dr. Clark, Liberal Candidate, is Well Received in Innisfail—He Deals With Geo. F. Root's, Conservative Candidate, Strictures on Various Questions.

On Friday night last Dr. Clark, the Liberal candidate for the Dominion House, addressed a very good audience at the opera house in Innisfail, in which there was quite an sprinkling of ladies. He was supported on the platform by Messrs. F. Constantine, chairman, and H. A. Malcolm, M.P.P. Mr. Simpson, speaking of Dr. Clark, said the doctor was a farmer and made his living by farming. Speaking on Mr. Root and his recent speech at Innisfail, he said that, and therefore, provided enough capital and, he got together, it is likely that the Exchange building will be thus transferred next week, and that this will be followed by the renting of offices in the city in connection with the building company be formed to buy the building.
