LONDON, Dec. 13.—The action to recover amages for libel brought by Mr. and Mrs. Zierenberg, of the St. James Home for camages for libel brought by Mr. and Mrs. Zierenberg, of the St. James Home for Female Inebriates, against Mr. Henry Labouchere, the well-known Radical member of Parliament and proprietor of Truth, was decided this afternoon, the special jury returning a verdict for Mr. Labouchere, A rider was attached to the verdict declaring that the home should be under control of the Government.

On Dec. 8, 1892, an article appeared in Truth headed "Iz Zirenberg's a Home or a Jail?" and suggesting that it was really a laundry kept up for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Zirenberg, and that the inmates were forced to labor for them. The defense was that the words in substance were true in fact, and as regarded matters of opinion were in the nature of fair comment on a matter of public interest. The Zirenbergs shortly after began their action for damages. In opening the case Mr. Reid, Q.C., who appeared for Mr. Labouchere, stated that the charges made by his clients were true, and he gave a long history of the plaintiffs, no part of which redounded to their credit. Women, he said, who were not taken by torce into the "home," where, by force, violence, starvation, bullying and beating they were compelled to work fre the benefit of the plaintiffs. He cited one case where a woman activation a ball dress was taken to the "home" by three men and locked in. The plaintiffs claimed, of course, that there was no truth in Truth's story, and that in starting and maintaining the "home" they had, been actuated by the purest motives. Labouchere easily proved by overwhelming evidence that his charges against the "nome" were absolutely true in every particular.

An Indian Loan of $50,000,000. London, Dec. 13 .- Replying to a ques ion asked in the House of Commons to tion asked in the House of Commons to-day by Sir John Lubbock, Mr. G. E. Rus-sell, Parliamentary Secretary of the India Office, said that the balances in the Indian treasury for the year ended with November were 15 240,000 tens of rupees, against year. Mr. Russell then moved the second reading of the bill providing for an Indian loan of £10,000,000. He stated that the Government must make certain pay-ments in gold in England. The pay-ments were usually met by the sale of drafts which were subsequently paid in ru-pees. The payments in England could not be met unless a certain amount of bills were sold. The closing of the Indian mint had been followed by a rise in England which explained the short sale of bills. During the current year there had been soid £897,000 in drafts against £6,202,000 dur-ing the previous year. The deficiency must be made up. The India councils borrowing powers would be exhausted in February, and therefore it was necessary to grant the council new powers. day by Sir John Lubbock, Mr. G. E. Rus that the Indian Government might have a fair chance to successfully carry out its experiment of closing the mints.

Sir John Lubbock declared that the Government seemed to have embarked upon a speculation in silver. It was an obvious consequence of the continued importation of silver into India that bullion should now be utilized where coin was previously used. He thought there was danger of the people relapsing to barter similar to that carried on in China, when the currency was dispensed with.

Larrabee, of Boston.

The ship had just rounded Cape Horn on the evening of Sept. 8, when it met the dreaded terror of the seas. It was dark and the thermometer was dangerously near the point that to the mariner indicates the presence of icebergs. Second Mate Guthrie was on the lookout and Captain Larrabee was keeping watch himself amidships.

Suddenly there was a cry from the lookout "An iceberg." As the mate shouted he clambered down the ladder. A sailor standing beside jumped, and none too soon. There was a crunching of heavy timber, and it seemed as if the whole forward part of the ship was being ground to splinters.

"As I rushed on deck," said Mate Shields in describing the seene, "the top masts and yards and great blocks of ice came tumbling down to the deck, Shelving away out over us, higher than we could see, was a great mass of ice, while the red port light cast a lurid reflection on the face of the berg, and brought out plainly the mouths of great fissures and creases that seemed to threaten to swallow us.

"We should have been lost that was captalled to threaten to swallow us."

"We should have been lost had we not struck her somewhat slanting. All hands were got to work clearing away the wreckage. The captain ran sit and there tound his sister manning the wheel. 'I guess we're lost this time,' he exclaimed, as he took the wheel, but he never lost his head. 'Catching a breeze, we gradually drifted off, and when daybreak came we were form the head off, and when daybreak came we were going around the Horn for twenty years. It was at least eight miles long, and we judged about 1,500 feet high.

Some Practical Results of Prohibition

A State of Savings Banks - Taxation and Debt Decreasing and Valuation Increasing — Where Liquor is Sold Politics is the Cause.

being true, the only logical, statesmanlike, Christian policy is prohibition. And the LIQUOR MEN FEAR PROHIBITION as the prisoner at the bar fears a sentence in the penitentiary. (Applause.) But I am from Maine. The great objection to prohibition is that the direct results do not justify its adoption. Now, that is a prohibition is that the direct results do not justify its adoption. Now, that is a matter of testimony. You have heard that prohibition is a success in Maine; you have heard that it is a failure. I am going to tell you the truth. I am not going to color the benefits or hide the dofects. We are seeking direct results. Our opponents say that the direct results of prohibition do not justify its adoption. We take issue with them. There are no distilleries or breweries in the State of Maine. That is one direct result. (Applause.) Is not that worth something? You may go through the State of Maine from one end to the other and you will not find a liquor sign.

THE FLAMING, INVITING SYMBOLS OF THE

Ind a liquor sign.

THE FLAMING, INVITING SYMBOLS OF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC ARE ARSENT in Maine. That is one of the practical results. (Applauea.) Is not that worth something? Throughout a large part of the State of Maine, in the rural districts and small towns, there is not what can properly be called a drink shop. There may be some men selling very secretly, but not what you would call an open drink shop, and a generation has grown up in a shop, and a generation has grown up in shop, and a generation has grown up in a arge part of Maine without the presence of open saloons. This is one practical re-sult. I met a lady not long ago in the city of Providence who was born in Maine and she said that in all that time she had never seen a drunken man. At 17 she removed[te of Massachusetta and very soon became acquainted with drunken men. Sincs I have been in Ontario I have been told of a resident of this Province who was born in Maine, and who has told her neighbors that until she was 25 years old she had not seen a drunken man. If you go to the city of Portland, Me., you will be struck by the apparent freedom of that city from the liquor traffic. Compare this city with any other city of its size and you will be struck by the difference. Now THERE ARE MEN SELING LIQUOR IN PORTthe said that in all that tir THERE ARE MEN SELLING LIQUOR IN PORT low down places, constantly on the watch for the officers. We have a city agency for the sale of liquors for medicinel, mechanical and industrial purposes. The man in charge is appointed by the State, but as a matter of fact the agency is more or less abused, but with an honest, conscientious man in charge this would not be. While the royal commission was in Portland, certain men were summoned before them, namely, the mayor, the sheriff and the city master, and they gave applied evidence as to the effectiveness of prohibition. Are you going to take the words of a man who is unknown or are you going to take the words of a man who is unknown or are you going to take the evidence of these men? The mayor said that PROHIBHION HAD GREATLY REDUCED CRIME and done away to a large extent with desiration.

The mayor said that PROUESTION HAD GREATLY REDUCED CRIME and done away to a large extent with drinking. He was better able to secure tenants for his houses and the tenants paid better rents. It did not tend to increase pauperism, but quite the reverse. There is another way to get at the benefit of prohibition in Maine. Our National Government collects a revenue on the liquor traffic in each State. The dealers ail pay a tax and the amount of revenue collected by the Federal Government in each State is a good indication of the amount of revenue expended. The amount of revenue expended. The amount of revenue expended in Maine equals 3 cents to each person. In Connecticut the revenue is equal to 50 cents, in Pennsylvania 95 cents and in Massachusetts $1; so the difference between great and in the difference between 3 cents and 50 cents, 3 cents and 95 cents and 50 cents and 51 (Applause.) If we could get the liquor traffic down that, prohibition throughout the rest of the country would be a benefit."
