CHERRIES.

Under the tree the farmer said
Smiling and shaking his wise old head:
"Cherries are ripe! but then, you know,
There's the grass to cut and the corn to hoe;
We can gather the cherries any day,
But when the sun shines we must obey;
Tonight, when the work has all been done,
We'll muster the boys for fruit and fun."

Up on the tree a robin said,
Perking and coking his saucy head,
"Cherries are ripe! and so today
We'll gather them while you make the hay;
For we are the boys with no corn to hoe,
No cows to milk, and no grass to sow;
At night the farmer said: 'Here's a trick!
These rashish robins have had their pick.'"

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Cordell's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhea, cholera, and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Gordon Avenged!

The British Standard Floating Over Khartoum.

Awful Carnage Caused by the Maxim Guns.

The Khalifa's Army Literally "Wiped Out."

Fifteen Thousand Dervishes Killed and Many Thousands Captured.

Two British Officers and a War Correspondent Among the Dead—Dispatches From Sir Herbert Kitchener.

London, Sept. 6.—The morning paper editors resound with congratulations upon the avenging of Gordon, and are full of eulogy of Baron Cromer, the British financial adviser to the khedive, Gen. Kitchener, and all concerned in the splendid success. Great crowds gathered about the statue in Trafalgar Square of General Charles ("Chinese") Gordon. Someone had placed on the pedestal a placard, with the inscription, "Avenge at Last," and when the people saw it they burst into loud cheering. The police made no attempt to remove the placard, and later in the day similar placards were placed on the pedestal, all of which were greeted with cheers.

The Queen and Gen. Lord Garnet Wolseley telegraphed their congratulations to Gen. Kitchener. The Marquess of Lansdowne, secretary of war, sent his through Major-General Sir Francis Wallace Grenfell inspector general of auxiliary forces now at Cairo, and charged with the general direction of the expedition.

FROM THE KAISER.
The Cairo correspondent of the Times says: The first telegram of congratulation to arrive from Europe was from Emperor William of Germany, who said: "I am sincerely glad to be able to offer my congratulations to the splendid victory at Omdurman, which, at last, avenges poor Gordon's death."

FIFTEEN THOUSAND DERVISHES
The war correspondent of the Daily Telegraph with the Anglo-Egyptian forces says: Khalifa Abdullah, with his harem and Osman Digna, as his principal general, managed to escape, but Abdullah's banner and thousands of prisoners are in our hands. It is estimated that fifteen thousand of the enemy were slain. Our total casualties were about 600.

FOUGHT ALL DAY LONG.
The war correspondent of the Daily News says: Our victory was not easily or cheaply won. The dervish loss was enormous. Our whole force was engaged in the fighting from 6 a.m. until sundown. The dervishes displayed marvelous bravery to the last. Instead of waiting for us in Omdurman, where they would have cost us thousands of lives, they advanced to meet us. The sight was extraordinary. Some 12,000 men, in four brigades, attempted to rush our zebra. With desperate gallantry they were repulsed, suffering heavy losses. Our guns especially made terrible lanes in their ranks, and our artillery dealt havoc in the town, which was full of women. The dervish army of 20,000 is utterly broken.

THE CORRESPONDENTS IN IT.
Besides Col. Rhodes, another correspondent was slightly wounded. Mr. Howard, the New York Herald's correspondent, was slain by a shell in Omdurman.

Dispatches from Omdurman relate that the Sopha, a correspondent, Howard, who was afterwards killed, rode in the gallant charge of the twenty-first Lancers. These troops were scouting when they saw in the bush between 600 and 700 dervishes. The Lancers charged the enemy and suddenly found themselves face to face with 2,000 swordsmen, who came on at least four to one. The dervishes were hidden from view in a hollow. The Lancers charged through them, reloaded, and charged back to recover their wounded, who were being savagely slaughtered.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN LOSSES
The official list gives the number of British officers killed in the capture of Omdurman as two, while thirteen were wounded. Of the men 25 were killed and 99 wounded. The loss sustained by the natives was: Officers, 1 killed and 8 wounded; men, 4 killed, 221 wounded. Col. Rhodes, a brother of Cecil Rhodes, and a correspondent of the London Times, was severely wounded. There had been no need to recover his bullet having struck him in the shoulder.

ENTERING OMDURMAN.
The march to Omdurman after the great fight was comparatively without incident. The sirdar, with his chief of staff, Gen. Dundas, Col. Wingate and Slatin Pasha, rode behind two companies of Egyptians and Sudanese, who carried with them the khalfa's flag, the black banner which was to lead the troops to victory. As we near the place the people living in houses outside the wall poured out in large numbers to welcome the victors with hoarse shouts. Passing through a long street, we came to the wall itself, a solid-looking piece of rough masonry. There had been no need to employ 40-pounders to effect a breach. An entry was found near the river and the sirdar rode into Omdurman unopposed. The city seemed deserted, save for women and some 200 men, who came forward to lay down their arms. Around the ruined tomb of the Mahdi the city extends on all sides like a rabbit warren.

ON THE RUN.
Cairo, Sept. 6.—Advices from Omdurman say that the Anglo-Egyptian the reported increase of the forces for the Dominion's defense, it was learned that the matter has as yet received no official sanction, nor it is likely to. A fire started in a night in an engine shop in the Elswick shipyard, Newcastle-on-Tyne, and it was thought that the flames would do damage to six warships that are building there. The fire was extinguished, however, before it spread much. Two or three thousand hands will be without work until the machinery is replaced.

GALA DAY

In Amsterdam—Enthusiastic Reception Given Queen Wilhelmina.

Amsterdam, Sept. 6.—Beginning at early dawn yesterday, vast crowds of people gathered in the streets, which were lavishly decorated in anticipation of Queen Wilhelmina.

The queen arrived at two o'clock, and was enthusiastically received. After the burgomaster had delivered a speech of welcome, she drove to the Damplaat. The crowd in the streets, at the windows and on the roofs formed a scene of wildest enthusiasm, everybody shouting and singing to the utmost of their ability.

After Burgomaster Van Den Hoven, governor of the Province of Northern Holland, had offered the province's homage, referring to the ties that bound more than three centuries had bound the province and the house of Orange, the queen briefly replied, saying, "I am happy that the great day has arrived."

Six hours before Queen Wilhelmina's arrival, 20,000 people had assembled in the streets and around her palace. Her majesty appeared at 2:30 o'clock, preceded by thirty divisions, including representatives of the army and navy, government officials, and the provincial and municipal officials, who came here expressly to witness the enthroning of the young queen.

The royal coach was of white, ornamented with gold, and drawn by eight black horses. The queen sat in the front of the coach, and waved her handkerchief continually. In front of the palace the army of the navy were drawn up in the form of a great square. A few moments later Queen Wilhelmina appeared upon the balcony and bowed repeatedly to the 50,000 people who approached the palace, waving handkerchiefs, hats and flags. Meanwhile many bands were playing national airs, chimes of bells were ringing, and steam whistles shrieking their salutes to the young sovereign.

GLADSTONE'S WILL

Written in a Clear Hand by the Veteran Statesman.

His Servants Were Not Forgotten by the C. O. M.

Gen. Zurlinden Appointed French Minister of War.

New South Wales Will Have Wheat to Export.

BIG WHEAT CROP IN NEW SOUTH WALES.

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 6.—The area of sown wheat in New South Wales is shown by complete reports to be 1,500,000 acres, which is an increase of 26 per cent to the area devoted to the product last season. It is estimated that the total yield will be 15,000,000 bushels, which will allow of substantial exports.

CAVAIGNAC'S SUCCESSOR.
Paris, Sept. 6.—Gen. Zurlinden, military governor of Paris, has accepted the ministry of war in succession to M. Cavaignac, resigned. Gen. Zurlinden was a member of the Ribot cabinet, which went out of office on Oct. 28, 1895. When the cabinet met, the minister of justice, M. Ferdinand Sarrien, informed his colleagues of the receipt of Madame Dreyfus' request for a revision of the verdict against her husband. M. Sarrien promised to give a statement of the result of his examination into the matter at a meeting of the cabinet, to be convened at a date which the minister of war shall have been appointed.

GLADSTONE'S ESTATE VALUED AT $297,530.
London, Sept. 6.—The will of the late Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone has been probated. It shows that his personal estate is valued at $297,530. Mr. Gladstone's will was written by himself in an ordinary memorandum book. It is a document of about 2,000 words, and is a remarkable specimen of penmanship. The second clause of the will has reference to the funeral arrangements, and says: "Commending myself to the infinite mercies of God in the incarnate Son as my only and sufficient hope, I leave the particulars of my burial to my executors, specifying only that they be very simple and private, unless that there be conclusive directions to the contrary. And where I am buried I desire that my wife shall also lie. On no account shall a laudatory inscription be placed over me." After appointing his sons his executors, he will charges the future possessor of Hawarden to remember that, as the head of the family, it will be his duty to extend good offices to other members thereof, according to his ability, and their manifest needs and merits. The rest of the document leaves bequests to servants, and bequests to his grandson, William, and heirs, all patents of crown offices held by the testator, and books and prints presented to him by the Queen, letters from the Queen, etc. The will bears date of Nov. 28, 1896.

Statement That the Anglo-Russian Understanding Is Complete—A Different Story.

London, Sept. 6.—The Daily Mail says this morning: We learn from good authority that the Anglo-Russian understanding is practically complete. Great Britain recognizes Russia in Manchuria. Russia is undertaking to satisfy Great Britain in Chinese railway matters, and to respect England's sphere in the valley of the Yang-tse-kiang.

DIFFERENT STORY.
The Pekin correspondent of the Times, who has just paid a visit to Niu-Chang, in the province of Liaotung, Manchuria, terminus of the proposed railway extension, the contract for building which has been at issue between the Russian and British governments, says: The Russians are acting there quite regardless of the rights of Englishmen and others, and as if the place belonged to them.

According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai, it is rumored there that the British fleet is under orders to rendezvous at Niu-Chang.
