An Ideal Home City.

Not a week passes in which one or nore families do not come to London o settle permanently. Some come in rder to get employment, but in recent years large numbers of farmers store-keepers in smaller places, and others who have earned a competence, have taken up their residence in this city. They have weighed the various advantages of centers of population and have found that London is an ideal city of homes. Here not only can good houses be bought or rented in choice 'ocalities, but we provide the best domestic water supply on the continent, and we can proudly boast that London is the healthiest city of its size in London's good churches, with pastors possessing more than the average pulpit talent, its free library and general educational facilities further commend it to new-comers. He tarlo, is, indeed, hard to please who, with omething to do or income enough to live without active employment, has a home in London in these piping closing years of the nineteenth century.

The Republican leaders in Greater New York have resolved to put a candidate in the field for mayor in opposition to Mr. Seth Low, a member of their party, who has been nominated by the Citizens' Union, a body omposed of members of both poltical parties. It is possible that Mr. Low ight have been acceptable to the Republican managers if the mixed body by whom he has been selected had refrained from action till the Republican party met and selected him. But his arlier nomination put Republication sible for many a day. indorsation out of the question. The probability, therefore, is that there zens' Union, the Republican, and the year. We cannot for a moment imagine that were the Dominion or Provincial authorities to subsidize the Toronto show managers in order that they might extend the scope of that exhibition, they could refuse to treat the Western Fair with less liberality. In all these years that Toronto has been begging the Governments to come to its aid, London and the West have rerained from asking for national or provincial money for their show. If. however, one of the two great exhibitions in Ontario is subsidized, justice would not be done unless the other was similarly treated. There does not appear to be much prospect of the Toronto men succeeding in obtaining a special Dominion or Provincial bonus; Fair must have like justice.
