GALT CHAMPIONS GOT THEIR WATERLOO TOOK THE STANLEY CUP HUNTERS INTO CAMP.

SCORE WAS 8 GOALS TO 1

Back Irving's bunch at hockey pucksters clearly demonstrated last evening that on hard ice they are invincible. Their opponents were the champions of the league last year and who contemplate going to Ottawa in quest of the Stanley Cup. We might just say here they had better save the expense as the team that represented Galt last evening have very little chance in hitting the Cup.

The game last night was a hummer from start to finish. The Waterloo bunch were in their element and their combination and back checking was good to look at. The defence was greatly strengthened by Corbeau who played a magnificent game. Rolly Young who showed his old form and electrified the crowd by his serpentine rushes. He certainly got the glad hand from the rooters present.

The forwards were all good. Mahson, Dumsie and McLaughlin getting in some great combination play. Stalker was at Rover and played a much better game than on Christmas. Pete Charleston was at right wing for Galt, and it was a shame what the kid, McLaughlin did to him. The kid held him safe at all stages of the game.

The first half of the game was hockey of the championship variety. Galt made a dead set on the goal, but Groom saved and passed to Holley who made a dash through the whole bunch and scored No. 1.

The second goal took a little longer, but finally Mahson got away and scored in eight minutes. For the rest of the half it was give and take.

The Galt forwards would get away but Groom was there with the goods. He played a wonderful game in goal and will make good. The half ended 2 to 0 favor Waterloo.

The second half was just as fast as the first. Stalker scored in six minutes followed by Serviss for Galt in eight minutes.

McLaughlin got the next in two minutes and Mahson again found the net. McLaughlin run in another in less than a minute, and to break the monotony Bosland made a nice rush and scored. Dumsie scored two more in quick succession and Serviss and Doherty scored for Galt and the game was over.

Jimmy Seibert of Berlin was referee and his duties were right, only three men being penalized. Dumsie, Murphy and Doherty were getting one minute. The teams lined up as follows:

Galt	Goal	Waterloo
Bosland	Point	Cross
Murphy	cover-point	Young
Serviss	Rover	Corbeau
Mailen	Centre	Stalker
Charlton	Right Wing	Manson
Doherty	Left Wing	Dumsie

The win last night has put confidence in the public and a bumper crowd will be on hand for the opening game Monday night. McDonald, Fraser and McRobbie will be on the line-up for sure.

The Bride's Fate

Sequel to "The Changed Bride"

Fortunately, also, everywhere Dr. Alexander Lyon now is. No need of confidence and warm clothes. One could look on her, or hear her speak, and doubt her goodness.

It is very queer. There's a screw loose somewhere, but whoever it was, she is all right, "was the verdict of the neighborhood in the young wife's favor.

Meanwhile a very brief correspondence went on between General Lyon on one part, and Messrs Henge and Kent (Drusilla's lawyers) on the other. The General soon convinced the legal gentlemen that Anna Drusilla Lyon, born Shirling, was the heiress of whom they were in search.

Still, where so much was at stake, they were bound to be very cautious and to receive nothing but the smallest fact, upon trust.

So, though General Lyon very seldom troubled Drusilla with this correspondence, he did sometimes feel obliged to come to her for information as to where a certain important witness was to be found; in what cemetery a particular tombstone was to be looked for, or in what parish church such a marriage had been solemnized, or such a baptism administered.

And Drusilla's prompt and pointed answers very much cleared and expedited the business.

In a more advanced stage of affairs it seemed that she would have to go up to Baltimore, but General Lyon would not hear of her taking any trouble that he could save her, so he wrote to the legal gentlemen, requesting one of the firm to come down to Old Lyon Hall in person, or to send a confidential clerk, and promising to pay all expenses of travelling, loss of time, and so forth.

In answer to this letter, Mr. Kent the junior partner, arrived at the hall early in February.

He was armed with a formidable bag of documents and he was close, tied all day long with General Lyon in the study.

One can have no secrets from one's lawyer any more than from one's physician or confessor, and so General Lyon left constrained to tell Mr. Kent of the existing estrangement between the heiress and her husband.

"And what I particularly wish," said the General confidentially, and earnestly, "is that the whole of this large inheritance, coming as it goes from her family, may be secured to her separate use, independently of

Fifteen Years of Agony

"Fruit-a-lives" Promptly Cured Him After Doctors Had Failed To Give Relief.

CHARLES BARRETT, Esq.
Harbor au Bouche,

Antigonish Co., N.S., March 24, 1909.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the great benefit I received from taking 'Fruit-a-lives.' I suffered from Bilelessness and Dyspepsia for fifteen years and I consulted physicians and took many kinds of ordinary medicine, but got no relief. I was in miserable health all the time and nothing did me any good. I read the testimonial of Archibald McKeechin, of Ottawa, and I decided to try 'Fruit-a-lives.' I have taken a number of boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives' but before I had taken one box I felt better and now am entirely well. I am thankful to be well after fifteen years suffering, and I am willing to have this statement published for the sake of other sufferers, and to them I strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-lives.'

her husband."

"And that, you are aware, cannot be done, except through a process of law. Still, one has a right to a separate maintenance. Even in such a case I doubt whether the court would adjudge her the whole of this enormous fortune, or even the half of it. Still it is her only resource," answered Lawyer Kent.

"A resource she will never resort to. It would be vain and worse than vain to suggest it to her. She would rather starve, and without through no fault of hers that they are estranged. Indeed it was through consideration for him that she was so 'reticent' last year, as to raise suspicion in your mind that her claim to the estate was an unjustly assumed one. No, Mr. Kent, we must take some other course to secure her inheritance, to her, and without saying a word to her on the subject either."

"There is no other way, sir, but by such a suit as I have suggested," so 'reticent' there is. Mr. Alexander Lyon has desisted his wife and child and failed to provide for them. Such is not the course of an honorable man. Still, as some of the same sort of blood that warms my own old heart runs also in his veins, there must be some little sense of honor somewhere in his nature, and he will be awakened by appeal to it. He must of his own free will make over all his right, title and interest in this inheritance to his injured young wife."

"Does he know of this inheritance, sir?"

"Not one word, I think."

"Do you believe that he will act as you wish?"

"I have not the least doubt of it. Without this fortune of his wife, he is as rich as Croesus; and he is also as proud as Lucifer. Having discarded her, he would not touch a penny of her money, if it was to save his own life or hers. So it is not because I think he would waste, or even use her means, that I wish her fortune settled upon herself, but because I wish her to be totally independent of him and to be able to do her own will with her own money."

"I see," said Mr. Kent. "Where is Mr. Alexander Lyon now?"

"In Washington City where I would like you to call upon and apprise him of this large inheritance and of our wishes in regard to it."

"I will do so with pleasure. Pray give me your instructions at large, and also a letter of introduction to Mr. Lyon."

"I had almost sworn never to hold any communication with that man again, but for his wife's dear sake I will write the letter. And now Mr. Kent, there is our first dinner-bell. Allow me to ring for a servant who will show you to a chamber prepared for you. I will await you here and take you to the dining-room."
