Agricultural Prize Essay of Mr. Duncan Campbell.

What we said on this subject last, in relation to the foundations of the agricultural industry of this County, may be said with equal truth of Kings and Hants. It was the hardy settlers of 1759—1755, whose hands removed the virgin forests from the soil, and prepared it to yield its fruits in cereals and esculents for their sustenance; and it is mainly due to their descendants that it has been so largely improved in recent years. Even before the Hector landed her cargo of Scottish immigrants, there was a farm in this County, whose owner possessed more than twenty cows, thirteen horses, eighteen oxen, twenty-seven young cattle, and one hundred and sixty sheep, and on which was raised in 1766, one hundred bushels of rye, besides oats and barley. This was the farm of an old Massachusetts man then domiciled near the old town of Annapolis. His name was Hoar. The township of Annapolis, in that year, numbered only eighty five families all told, of whom not more than sixty were engaged in farming. These families, not then six years on their farms, produced of wheat five hundred and twelve bushels, of barley four hundred and twenty-one bushels and of rye three hundred and seventeen,—in all one thousand two hundred and fifty bushels of sound, wholesome cereal food, being nearly twenty-one bushels to a family. If anything more were wanting to prove that these people were farmers, and understood their business tolerably well, we may add that they possessed in the aggregate, three hundred cows, being an average of nearly four to each of the eighty-five families, to which may be added that in horses they possessed exactly one to each family. Of oxen they had one hundred and sixty or one pair to each household, while their other horned cattle amounted to three hundred and eighty-two, or more than an average of four and one-half to each family, and their sheep, which numbered seven hundred and forty four, gave an average of nine to each household! Verily, the doings of these settlers smack strongly of farming, and of having some little knowledge of and success in, the art, notwithstanding Mr. Campbell had not heard of them. It gives us great pleasure to state for his especial information, that descendants of more than fifty of these families still own and till farms in this fine township, and that several of them still possess the home steads of their ancestors in fee simple to this day—an excellent proof of their knowledge of and thrift in, agricultural pursuits, though seven out of every eight of them have, perhaps, never heard of, much less read, the Letters of Agricola.

We have affirmed that the Essay under review was misleading to the uninstructed reader. Its author would have it to realers believe that agricultural organizations were unknown in the province until recommended by John Young, in 1814-18. He ought to have known that such a statement would be lacking in an essential element. We write with a silver medal before us which was struck, in 1789, by the "Society for promoting Agriculture in Nova Scotia." This medal contains on one side the following inscription:—"The King himself is served by the field," in a circular ring, and in the inner space neatly engraved—"Premium from the Society for promoting Agriculture in Nova Scotia. Mr.——" for the fattest, largest ox between May 1791, and May 1792." The blank is designedly unfilled. On the obverse in a similar circular ring, is the inscription, "Society for promoting Agriculture in Nova Scotia," and the inner space contains in relief, the figures of a plough, a hoe, a spade, a scythe, a rake and a sheaf of wheat. It will be seen by the above that this society was formed in 1789, and was in active operation in 1792, but how long it continued to exist we have been unable to ascertain. It was the offspring of the advent of the Royalists, whom Mr. C. so much disparages. We may add that this premium medal was won by a King's County farmer, and is the property of a grandson now employed in farming in this County.

In conclusion we must not forget to add, that to the late Thomas Ritchie, the father of Chief Justice Ritchie, of Canada, and of the Equity Judge of our own province our agriculturists of other days were indebted for much useful and fostering legislation, of which our Essayist seems to have been entirely ignorant. In 1806 or 1807, he introduced and carried a measure for granting bounties for clearing and seeding wilderness lands, which, in a single year, nearly doubled the pasturage of the County. A little later on his bill to "Encourage the Raising of Bread" so on became law, and was attended by beneficial results. And all this years before Agricola wrote his Letters, or Forrester lectured or wrote on agricultural science. We do not wish to detract from the character or usefulness of these men's works; but when we find a countrymen attributing to their efforts the first steps of progress made in farming in this province, we cannot, in justice to others, be silent. So far as these men strove to elevate the status of the farmer and his noble profession, we are grateful to them; though neither their eloquence nor their example have, even yet, entirely eradicated the notion, that the daughter or son of a successful metropolitan fishmonger or rumdealer, was superior in social standing to the son or daughter of an honest tiller of the soil. With the remainder of Mr. Campbell's paper we have no quarrel, except that it lacks grasp of the subject, and does not do it the justice it merits.

GUITEAU.—Experts on insanity have examined Guiteau, but there is a wide divergence in their opinions. Should a verdict of murder in the first degree be given, Mr. Scovill, Guiteau's council, will ask and thinks he will obtain a new trial.

The man who attempted to shoot Guiteau last week has been indicted for assault with intent to kill.

Mr. Scoville has received a letter from an organization styling themselves "Garfield's Avengers," which says that if the trial results in the acquittal of the prisoner, Judge Cox, the jury and the assassin will all be lynched. The avengers claim to be 1000 strong and expect reinforcements of 2,000.

Guiteau has sent out an appeal for money to defray the cost of his defence. In his examination a fair idea of the whole may be obtained from the following, save in his manner—at times he would become very much excited, pound the rail of the witness stand, etc:—

During the Guiteau trial on Wednesday the assassin said: "On Wednesday after the resignation Conkling was feeling very blue, when suddenly it came over me like a flash that if the President was removed all would be well. It kept coming to me every day. At first I was horrified, but I kept thinking and thinking until I knew it was inspiration. I knew the Lord had employed me, because He always employs the best material, and He knew I had the courage to do it. Then, too I felt the Lord wanted me to do it in order to advertise my book. I kept praying to the Lord to intercept my act if it was not intended to be. I have never since had a doubt of my divine inspiration and that the act was necessary to save the country."

The World's Washington despatch says: Marshall Henry says the Guiteau trial will cost the Government not far short of $150,000.

Charles Reed, of Chicago, is expected to take charge of the defence of the prisoner, associated with Mr. Scoville.

Suspension of the Bank of P. E. Island.

This event took place on the 28th ult., and will probably continue some sixty days. Did it continue more than ninety days, the fact would forfeit the charter. It came about in this wise. Joseph R. Brecken, the cashier, and who succeeded the late lamented Wm. Cundall, Esq., on Monday, 21st ult., left home for St. John, ostensibly to return the Wednesday following. But Wednesday came and Thursday and Friday and Saturday without the gentleman. A letter however from him on the last morning caused the directors to send for Messrs. H. Cundall and Fred Mitchell, the cashier of the Merchants Bank, to make an examination of the affairs of the Bank, and upon their report the Bank officers suspended specie payment. It appeared from their report that over $200,000 were advanced by cashier Brecken to different persons without security, unknown to and of course against the orders of the Directors. The capital of the Bank is $145,000 and the note holders and depositors by law have the Stockholders as security for three times the amount of the stock held by them. —Summerside Journal.

The situation is improving, and as matters stand at present, from information gleaned from despatches, we think there is no doubt that note holders and depositors are safe. Shareholders are liable to the extent of $200,000, which, in addition to the assets of the Bank, will cover liabilities nearly if not quite. One or two firms in the city are advertising to take notes on this Bank at a reduced figure. Mr. Brecken the cashier, is a very young man, respectably connected, and his criminal imprudence has ruined himself and his family.

There is no run on other banks.

MORE SCOUNDRELISM. — Mr. F. H. Mitchell sent us the other day a few apples, as specimens of the fruit some farmers with elastic consciences are in the habit of selling to speculators, buying for the English market. The barrel was branded, "No. 1 King of Tompkins." The top and bottom apples averaged 8 ozs, the middle apples were miserable worthless specimens, actually good for nothing, averaging 1¼ ozs. We understand that Mr. Mitchell purchased 140 barrels, which after being picked over, yielded him 100 barrels marketable fruit. Comment on the subject is needless, and of no manner of use; we have written columns on the subject, and what good has it done? It is not much consolation to say that the putter-up of the particular barrel mentioned, is a Kings Co. Justice of the Peace. Speculators have the remedy in their own hands, and that is to publish to the world the names of those who have thus defrauded them and also to sue them for damages. It is about on a level with highway robbery. The apples may be seen at our office.

Notice is given that an application will be made to Parliament for an Act of incorporation for a company, to be called the Nova Scotia Railway Company, with powers to acquire all the railroads in that Province, finished or unfinished, with the exception of the Intercolonial; the construction of a line of railway in Cape Breton, and lines connecting with the Government railway in Pictou and Halifax counties; the establishment, maintenance and operation of ferries and steamboat service between Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, between Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, between New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and between Nova Scotia and the United States.

—A young man in St. John, N. B., named James D. Lewin, a son of the President of the Bank of New Brunswick, has been arrested on a charge of stealing and negotiating a cheque for $1500, drawn by Alex. Gibson in favor of Hilyard Bros. Lewin got the cheque cashed, but afterwards refunded the money on discovering that he was found out. A clerk of the Bank of B. N. A., named Chas. E. Furlong, a room mate of Lewin's has also been arrested for complicity,—Furlong, having received the cheque from Gibson, which was a voucher for an order by telegraph, and this cheque was either given to or stolen by Lewin. Furlong was attempting to escape on a west ward bound train when arrested. Both of the young men are in jail.

— At the Methodist sociable held at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Leonard's, Paradise, last Monday evening, $12.75 were realized. What good times these Paradise people are having.

RETURNING HOME.—The inodus has commenced, the eastern bound express train that passed here last Saturday evening was crowded with passengers, on their way home from the States.

A SPLENDID FIGURE.—The enormous price of 36s. 6d. was obtained in London lately for some Ribston Pippins, packed by S. E. Bent, Esq., of Bentville, and sold by John S. Townsend & Co.

— Talmage says that people ought to bombard the clouds with cannons in the time of drought and thus secure abundance of rain. There might be a worse idea.

— Our streets on Friday and Saturday nights last were the scene of drunken, disgraceful rowdyism. We have plenty of magistrates and plenty of constables, but they are never seen on such occasions—nor do they ever know anything about them.

SPECIAL TRAIN.—A special train will be run on Monday the 12th inst., between Kentville and Annapolis, and return same day for one first-class fare, to give all persons so desiring an opportunity to inspect the deep-water pier and frost-proof warehouse of the Acadia S. S. Co.

— Mr. W. McVicar, head master of the Truro model school, has been on trial for alleged severe whipping of a disobedient school boy. The Justices on the case disagreed, but the Town Council passed a unanimous vote upholding Mr. McVicar.

MARGARETVILLE.—A gentleman from the capital has for a few days past been making a survey of a portion of the shore in the vicinity of Margaretville, with the object in view of prospecting for copper, or rather of finding the head quarters of that valuable metal. Some very fine specimens have already been obtained.

— Judge Desbarres is reported as having sent in his resignation. Mr. S. G. Rigby, Q. C., is named as his successor on the Bench. Mr. Rigby is a very clever man in his profession, and no doubt his appointment will give universal satisfaction to the Bar. He will be the youngest on the bench,—being only 40 years of age.

— The brig Arctic reported lost last week under the name of Archie, and as hailing from Annapolis, belonged to Port Lorne. The Arctic was a most unfortunate vessel from the time she was launched and thus ever proved a bill of expense to her owners. The hull was sold on the 25th by the Captain for $100.

GRANVILLE FERRY.—Capt. Joseph Hall, having sold his former desirable residence to Capt. Reynolds, has another dwelling well under way on the adjoining lot, which, when completed, will add another architectural ornament to the village.

Mr. Herbert Weatherspoon has a very fine residence partly completed, located a little further down the street. —Journal.

— Little Corinne, the remarkable child actress, has disappeared. She was undergoing examination before the New York Supreme Court, on a charge brought by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, that she was compelled to overstrain her mental powers. After the first day's hearing, the child accompanied one of the police officers to her boarding place to get some clothing. While the officer waited in a front room the child disappeared. The woman in whose charge she has been thinks she is in safe hands.

HORRIBLE.—"Buncum" was one of the strong words used by our forefathers, now their descendants use, "how's that for high," "that's the kind of a hair-pin I am," "what a love of a bonnet," "shoot that hat," "you bet," &c. But at Sancton's Jewelry Store these slang words are never used, why? Because old and young, men and woman, youths and maidens, stand dumn-founded before the case perfectly entraced with the rich and elaborate display of fancy goods now on hand for Xmas. presents.

Wicked for Clergyman

Rev.—, Washington, D. C., writes: I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergyman or other public men to be giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorous article made of valuable remedies known to all, that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them." —New York Baptist Weekly.

Prominent capitalists in New York are contemplating the building of three steel ocean steamers for passenger traffic only. The vessels will be provided with power three times as great in proportion to their displacement as is obtained by ships now aflost, and are expected to make the voyage to Eng and in about five days.

One Experience from Many

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.
