A PAPER'S DECEASE. The Micman, a three month's old weekly. published in Halifax, has bidden farewell to the world, "starved to death. To say the Micmac's departure will be universally regretted and the public's loss deeply mourned would sound very polite, but in this case politences must be sacrificed to truth. It never will be missed.

Channelnies.—Alfred Robinson, of Annapolis, has a cranberry bog which brings him more money than as much land would if planted with potatoes or vegetables. Never a thing to do except to pick the berries when ripe and get $250 for the acre's production is certainly a big improvement on the regular method of firming. Mr. Robinson has always sent the berries to B. ston, and realized about seven dollars per barrel, but this year will try Montreal as the price is said to be better than across the border.

NEWS IOR OUR FARMERS.-Cultivated strawberries, raspberries and gooseberries have almost supplanted the wild fruit, but the idea of cultivating blueberries is new. The Manchester Union says the bushes, if carefully transplanted, will grow well and will improve as much by cultivation as other small fruits. It advises that the best bushes be selected and cut nearly to the ground. Then set the roots in good strong land and mulch them well. The first season they will make some growth of wood, but the second year they will make more and begin bearing, and will probably improve in quality and size of fruit above their usual product while growing The blueberry is a berry universally liked, and it has no equal from the culmary standpoint. The season for it is a long one. It bears profusely and always sells at a profit, and, if improved by culture, there will be a proportionate increase in the selling price. Our farmers can try this berry in their gardens with small outlay of money.

A Good Place to go—Kentville is one of the most attractive towns of the Province at this time of the year, and visitors from abroad as well as our own people will find it a most delightful spot in which to spend a vacation. While sea-side resorts have many charms, a beautiful inland town has also its own attractions and in these Kentville excels. Mr. D. McLeod, proprietor of McLeod's Hotel, one of the most satisfactory houses in the Province at which to put up, has had impressed upon him the almost unlimited possibilities of his town as a summer resort, and is preparing to add to its many advantages by the erection of a new hotel, which he proposes to have ready for occupation next spring. The site of the new hotel is a particularly good one, being just opposite the railway station, and the view to be had from this spot is beautiful. The building will be 72 x 70, will contain 50 bedrooms, large, well furnished parlors, fine dining room, etc. in all 75 rooms. A verandah on three sides of the house and extending up to the second story will be an enjoyable feature for the guests of the house, and greatly add to the appearance of the building. Those who have partaken of Mr. McLeod's hospitality need no assurance of the good fare and satisfactory service always to be obtained, and travellers who have not stopped at Kentville are cordially recommended to do so and to make "McLeod's" their headquarters.
