Question No. 1,176—Mr. Andre:

1. What is the Crown's precise financial interest in Canadian Colour and Fashion Trend Service as administered by the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce and on what date was such interest acquired, at what cost and for what reason?

2. What was the book value of the Crown's equity on the date of acquisition and what is its latest estimated book value?

3. To date, what is the Crown's total investment, including equity costs, contributions to operating funds, debt forgiveness and what is the Crown's total realized profit from such investment?

4. In what manner is the Crown's interest represented (a) on the Board of Directors (b) in its senior management?

5. Did the government make a policy decision in regard to the future disposition of its interest?

Hon. Jack H. Horner (Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce): In so far as the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce is concerned: 1. The Crown has no financial interest in the Canadian Colour and Fashion Trend Service as administered by the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce. The Crown's financial involvement is limited to annual contributions toward the operating costs of the service over a maximum period of seven years. Formed in October 1975 as a non-profit organization without share capital, the equity of the corporation is limited to the net value of the fixed assets which amount to $5,773.00. The reason for the contribution was to promote the development of an organization that could
