

INDEX OF JUDGES, REPORTERS, AND REPORTS 107

|                                                                                                                     |            |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| TAMLYN, John, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                           | PAGE57 |
| THESIGER, Frederic, Lord Chelmsford, Lord Chancellor . . . . .                                                      | 98         |
| THOMSON, Right Hon. William, Archbishop of York, Member of theJudicial Committee of the Privy Council . . . . . | 98         |
| THURLOW, Edward, Lord Thurlow, Lord Chancellor . . . . .                                                            | 98         |
| TRURO, Lord. See WILDE.                                                                                      |            |
| TURNER, Right Hon. Sir George James, Lord Justice of Appeal andChancery Reporter . . . . .                      | 99         |
| TURNER AND RUSSELL, Chancery Reports . . . . .                                                                      | 43         |
| TWELLS, Philip, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                         | 56         |
|                                                                                                                     |            |
| VESEY, junior, Francis, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                 | 36         |
| VESEY AND BEAMES, Chancery Reports . . . . .                                                                        | 38         |
|                                                                                                                     |            |
| WALKER, John, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                           | 42         |
| WEDDERBURN, Alexander, Lord Loughborough, afterwards Earl ofRosslyn, Lord Chancellor . . . . .                  | 99         |
| WEST, Martin John, House of Lords Reporter . . . . .                                                                | 15         |
| WESTBURY, Lord. See BETHELL.                                                                                 |            |
| WHITE, Richard Samuel, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                  | 76         |
| WIGRAM, Right Hon. Sir James, Vice-Chancellor . . . . .                                                             | 100        |
| WILDE, Thomas, Lord Truro, Lord Chancellor . . . . .                                                                | 100        |
| WILSON, John, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                           | 51         |
| WOOD, William Page, Lord Hatherley, Lord Chancellor . . . . .                                                       | 101        |
| WYATT, John, editor of Dickens' Reports . . . . .                                                                   | 31         |
|                                                                                                                     |            |
| YORK, Archbishop of. See THOMSON.                                                                            |            |
| YOUNG, Edward, Chancery Reporter . . . . .                                                                          | 66         |
| YOUNG AND COLLYER, Chancery Reports . . . . .                                                                       | 66         |