Using acetylene gas for lighting, Mr. Foster this morning proceeded to re-charge the tank with carbide, and when out in his garden a few minutes after adding water to the tank, an explosion occurred, followed quickly by a burst of flames which soon enveloped the entire house and spread rapidly to the attached barn. ## Dies From Injuries Sustained By Fall

Rooming House in Princess Street

A woman, about 22 years of age, and giving her name as Long or DeLong, who is believed to have abandoned a five-week-old baby boy in a rooming house at 105 Princess street, is being sought by detectives. When she called at the Princess street house, which is conducted by J. P. Ross—not by Mr. and Mrs. Ross—she said she had come here Saturday from P. E. Island. Yesterday she left the house, presumably on a shopping tour, and left the baby lying on a bed.

The woman is described as being quite tall and stout, hair bobbed, and wearing tortoise-shell glasses. She wore a brown coat with coral trimmings.

It was learned by the local detective department that she had been in the city for the last week. At one place it was said she gave her name as being Clark.
