Philiatelists paid 400,000 francs for stamps, most of them American Confederate States and local provisional issues, at the opening of the fourth instalment of the auction of the famous collection of Ferrari, de la Renotiere.

The highest price paid today was 25, 850 francs for a pair of Livingston (Ala.) five-cent blues on a letter.

In class A will be six starters. Class B will have eight, and class C has fourteen listed.

The new comers in the Keys & McBride stable will be seen in action for the first time and nearly all of the others owned on the St. Croix are willing to start. It is surprising how many real good racers are owned in these four towns and when they appear on the local track on Dominion Day you want to be right there and see sport that will do to talk about for some time.

They are also going to put on an

The highest price paid today was 25, 850 francs for a pair of Livingston (Ala.) five-cent blues on a letter.

Nearly all the important issues sold went to Americans, principally to Warren Closen of Boston, who purchased back stamps he had bought for Ferrari, whose agent Colson was in the United States prior to the World War. These stamps have more than doubled in value.

Some of the stamps sold today are the only known specimens extant. They uncluded a pair of Petersville (Va.) five-cents blacks, which fetched 11,162 francs. Fifty Mount Lebanon (La.) five-cent reds brought 15,852 francs, fifty New Smyrna (Fla.) ten-cent and one-cent blocks 11,750 francs, and a Beckman's Post, Charleston, S. C., 1860, two-cent on bluish paper 5,875 francs.

The collection, which up to the present time has been hardly half disposed of, already has fetched $666,000. It represents fifty years of work by Ferrari, and is said to have cost him about $1,000,000. Before the sale began the collection contained particularly complete groups of Confederate and local issues, most of which now have been sold to Americans, Arthur Hind of Utica, N. Suicide in Brooklyn Re-

New York, June 17.—Mrs. Georgiana MacNiff, forty-nine, who had been sepa-rated from her husband, Frank, for the rated from her husband, Frank, for the last five weeks as a result of a quarrel caused, according to neighbors, by the woman's jealousy, was found sitting on a box in a locked clothes closet at her apartment, 2166 Fulton street, Brooklyn, dead from gas poisoning. A rubber tube had been attached to an illuminating gas jet, run through a small hole cut in the panel of the closet, and tied to her mouth with a piece of string.

"Duckie," a pet French poodle, was found unconscious near the woman, but was revived. Mrs. MacNiff had thought to kill the dog, also, as on a table in the bedroom was found a small wooden box on which was a note written by her, directing that the animal's body be placed in the box for burial after its death. "I had to take 'Duckie' with me,' this note said. "Nobody cares for him, death. "I had to take 'Duckie' with me,' this note said. "Nobody cares for him, and he is all that loves me. I don't like to do it to him; he is such a pet. Don't let Frank see him."

A letter addressed to Robert R. Donovan, an undertaker, of 2089 Fulton street, Brooklyn, directed that she be "laid out in the parlor" after death. "Don't let Frank in to see me," the letter said.

Frank MacNiff, the dead woman's husband, lives at 455 181st street Richmond Hill. He was notified and came to his wife's home to take charge of the body.

ATHLETIC PATROLMAN SAVES of St. Paul, Minn., chief physician of the K. of C., after a recent consultation

LIVES OF THREE AT FIRE

New York, June 17—Athletic prowess of Patrolman Shea of the Tremont avenue station, in The Bronx, saved the lives of three women in a fire that resulted in the death of another woman in the factory and dwelling at 4195 Third avenue.

The woman who lost her life was Mrs. Angelino Carluchi Vircenza, twentyfour, who lived on the second floor of the building, a frame structure. Bewildered by flames and smoke, she groped her way to the third floor, and was burned to death. Her body was found in the hallway.

Patrolman Shea, who turned in the alarm, heard Mrs. Lena Filomena, sixtytwo; her daughter, Lena Filomena, sixtytwo; her daughter, Lena Filomena, twenty-two, and Lena Carmelo, twenty-two, at the second floor windows shouting for help. Their escape by the stairs was cut off. With the aid of Walter Carneg of 543 East 181st street, Shea got hold of a sign depending from the building and pulled himself up until he was able to crawl into the second-floor windows. He then guided the three women across the waying sign into a window of the adjoining house.

on his shoulder, in addition to the wire wrapped about the bone. Valin was overseas with the 7th Brigade Artillery headquarters, and was with the 25th Battery as a signaller. He was wounded seven times while in France. He also has 25 feet of wire prapped obout the bones of his left leg.

No spectator could tell from his actions that in place of the sinews of his arm silver wire enabled him to hold the Canadiens to two hits and three runs, striking out six men. Batters who opposed Valin will testify that silver wire doesn't keep the "hop" off his fast ball.

Cornell Saves Chef.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 17—United States District Attorney Hiram Todd of Albany is a sport, in the judgment of the Cornell oarsmen, who left here for Poughkeepsie, taking with them their colored chef, Omer Jones, best cook at Cornell, who is out on bail for an alleged violation of the Volstead act. Federal agents arrested Jones, who cooks for the crew training table, in this city on Cornell's spring day, May 27. They charged him that he had liquor in his possession. Jones' case was to have come before the Federal Grand Jury in Binghamton this week, but when his lawyer made representations to Mr. Todd that Cornell's chances on the Hudson might be jeopardized if the crews lost their cook at the eleventh hour, he readily consented the eleventh hour, he readily consented not to present the case until after the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Ottawa, June 17—Few realized as they watched Clarence Valin pitch winning ball for the Gunners this week in the City League game with Canadiens at Lansdowne Park that he had 27 feet of silver wire wrapped about the bones of his pitching arm, holding it to his shoulder. The pitcher has a silver cap
