CALL 'EM "BOOZE GREYHOUNDS"

Drinking on Steamers Between Havre and New York Greater Than Before Prohibition.

Paris, May 1.—When the liner La France, now generally known as the "booze greyhound," left Havre for New York yesterday she carried three times the amount of alcohol she has borne on previous trips. Even some of the storage accommodations were converted into storage room of huge quantities of champagne, gin, vermouth, and other liquors, notably all the ingredients for cocktails. Everything was done to see to it that the passengers did not go dry, either on the trip to New York or on the way back to France.

Drinking aboard ocean liners is more than four times what it was in the days before prohibition. This is due, according to the stewards of La France, not only to the impracticability of filling the "cup that cheers" anywhere in the United States, but also to the comparatively low prices of spirits aboard ship.

A special corps of stewards has been busy night and day loading La France. The wet stock on the liner includes 200,000 gallons of liquor, 60,000 gallons of champagne, and 80,000 gallons of other wines.

WOULD REDUCE LIVING COST BY GOV'T CONTROL

Application of War-Time Standardization, Also Suggested.

Washington, May 1.—Reduction of the cost of shoes and clothing might be accomplished through the removal of "any illegal barriers which make for a restricted distribution," and through application of propaganda and advertisement which falsely state the scarcity or impossibility of obtaining these things," wrote Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, in a letter to Senator McNary, made public today.

Mr. Baruch suggested also that if the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers would co-operate under government supervision in applying the principles of standardization, efficiency, and elimination of waste and inefficiency which prevailed during the war, prices would be substantially reduced.

In a memorandum accompanying his letter Mr. Baruch suggested that limited government control be applied not alone to the shoe industry, but to all industries, in the interest of lower prices.

The letter and memorandum were sent to Senator McNary in response to an inquiry he addressed to Mr. Baruch in connection with the investigation into shoe costs, which the senate subcommittee headed by Mr. McNary, is making.

LYNN STORE IS ROBBED OF SILK WORTH $10,000

Lynn, May 1.—Silk valued at $10,000 was stolen from Schmidt's silk specialty shop, 33 Market street, by burglars who left a note on a table, written on the firm's note paper and which read, "Thanks for the silk. A Boston boy." The burglar was considered, for he took only two-thirds of the stock in the store, leaving about $5,000 worth of the best silk goods.

News of the burglary spread through the business districts this morning and shop owners and police were much wrought up by the boldness and success of the crime, which is the boldest and biggest robbery which has been committed in Lynn in many years.

Schmidt Brothers, who own the shop, could offer no clue which will help the police in their investigations. It is believed the burglars came in an auto truck and carried away the stolen goods in it.

Some of the bolts of silk were valued at $100 each. The burglars gained an entrance by breaking through a skylight on the second floor and making their way down into the silk shop. They also stole $15 from the cash drawer.

The stolen silks evidently were passed out through an open window to a confederate in an alleyway in the rear of the store where an automobile evidently was standing during the burglary.

Miss Ruth Stockhaus, a clerk in the silk shop, discovered the burglary when she opened the shop. It was immediately reported to the police and the entire force was set at work investigating the burglary.

The North End community teacher training class which has met in one of the rooms of the Portland Methodist church during the winter and received instruction from Rev. H. L. Eisenor, spent a very enjoyable evening at a social gathering, given by a group of ladies, on behalf of the members of the class, presented to Mr. Eisenor an address and a fountain pen as a token of appreciation of his kindness in leading the class. Mr. Eisenor replied in a few appropriate words expressing grateful thanks. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

FINDS BOARD OF GOVERNORS JUSTIFIED

Judgment in University of Saskatchewan Case

Dismissal of Professors Upheld in Court of King's Bench Decision—Some Comments on the Evidence and Situation.

Regina, Sask., May 1.—(Canadian Press)—Judgment was rendered in the court of King's Bench yesterday by three judges who were appointed to exercise the university powers conferred by the University of Saskatchewan Act upon the lieutenant-governor in the matter of the dismissal of Professors MacLaurin, Hogg and Mackay, and S. E. Greenway, director of extension work, by the board of governors of the university. The judgment unanimously finds that the board of governors in dismissing these men not only acted strictly within their powers, but that "the facts disclosed in the exhaustive enquiry of twelve days prove that the course taken by the president and board was necessary that a state of affairs in the university had been created such as made it impossible that these men should remain any longer in the service of the university." On this point the judgment says "there is no room for doubt," rectifying the charges made by Mr. Greenway to the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Chas. Dummer, against President Murray. The judgment continues:—

"The evidence shows that each and every one of these charges was untrue and had no foundation in fact."

Referring to the action of the professors, afterwards dismissed in not voting for the resolution passed at a full meeting of the university council, affirming confidence in the president and his administration, the judgment says:—

"It is difficult to understand why a man who is loyal to the president of his own institution should fail him at a time of need or hesitate to vote loyally to his chief if the loyalty exists. We consider that the failure to vote confidence in the president's management of the university and loyalty to the president in the light of the written reasons which were filed constitute such an apparent alignment of these professors against the university as to make it clear that it became essential that their services with the university should be dispensed with in case the charges were not substantiated."

Dealing with the attitude of the professors toward the board of governors, the judgment declares that "their actions in this matter show a spirit of contumacy to the board and a disrespect for their authority."

In conclusion the judgment says:—"We are of the opinion that the recommendation of President Murray and the proceedings of the board of governors in dismissing Professors MacLaurin, Hogg and Mackay and Mr. Greenway, were regular and proper, and necessary in the best interests of the university; and that neither the president nor the board of governors acted oppressively in the matter, nor is there the remotest suggestion of any corrupt or dishonest motive in their decision should therefore be confirmed."

Madrid, May 1.—For the first time in forty years ex-Empress Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III, saw a bull fight at Seville this week. Throughout the last four decades she had shunned the ring. Today, she explained, it was a "whim," and she wanted to see another fight before she died, adding, "I'm getting old, you know." The empress has just celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday.

SISTER ON THE STAND AT TRIAL OF REMILLARD
Quebec, May 1.—The chief witness yesterday afternoon at the trial of Rene Remillard, charged with the murder of Lieutenant Lucien Morissette at Bienville, was his sister, Gabrielle, who swore that the accused had told her on the night of the murder that he was expecting some one who, he said, was one of the friends of their mother. Prior to the shooting, she had heard the telephone ring and the accused answered. A little later she heard her brother tell her mother to answer the back door and some time after her mother had gone to the front door and she heard her say to some one, "My friend, I do not know you." Then she heard two shots. She went downstairs and saw her brother coming in with a body. In cross-examination, Miss Remillard said she heard her brother reply to a telephone call, "Come up, it's all right."

The moon will enter the umbra or dark shadow of the earth at 8 p.m. and this is the time that those interested in astronomy will begin their observations, for the moon from that time on will steadily lose portions of its surface to the devouring shadow.

PROHIBITION'S EFFECTS ON HOSPITALS AND JAILS.

(Christian Guardian)—The effects of prohibition are becoming more and more apparent. These effects are seen even in hospital statistics. The alcoholic ward in the immense Philadelphia General Hospital, which usually had about 150 patients a month, has been almost depopulated. In 1917 that ward treated 1,470 alcoholic cases; in 1918, 1,184; in 1919, after six months dry, 276; and in February, 1920, it dropped to eight, and has now been abolished. And in New York city the same thing is observed. At Bellevue Hospital, where more alcoholic cases are cared for than in any other institution in the city, the records for January and February, 1919, were 225 cases, and for the same months of 1920 only 81 cases. This means that Bellevue Hospital can now take care of 7,000 more patients per year, on the basis of five and a half days per patient; that is, the doctors, nurses and rooms which had to care for drunks are now freed for sober men and women. And the effect on crime, and business, is so plain and unmistakable that Bird S. Coler, New York's commissioner of charities, has come out strongly in favor of the "dry" law. He says that this year New York will receive $500,000 from patients in city hospitals who, under the "wet" regime, would not have paid a dollar. The jails also tell their story—1,400 empty cells in Philadelphia's great building; a decrease in Baltimore of 3,992 commitments to jail last year over the year preceding, and this with only six months of bone-dry law; in Buffalo a falling off in arrests for drunkenness from 2,741 in January, 1919, to 1,019 in January, 1920; while the inmates in Erie county penitentiary dropped from 554 in January, 1919, to 176 in January 1920. And along with this go increased savings accounts, decreased poverty, and better conditions for the workman. Prohibition certainly does prohibit, and the country is the richer and the better for it.

WEEKLY PROGRAMMES THAT WOULD HELP CHILDREN.

(Exchange)
Why should not every church throughout Canada in which there is a good organ and which has a competent organist open its doors freely to children between the age of eight or nine to seventeen or eighteen for one hour every week at such time as may be most convenient for the largest number of the children within its reach and arrange for its organist to render for the children the best music in their best style? Sometimes the organ music might be varied by orchestra and singing, but it should never partake of the nature of a lesson for the children. It should never appear to be in any way didactic, nor should any music low or trashy in its nature be included in the programme.

The music period should never be more than an hour. The programme should be arranged for the young people. The older people should, of course, be admitted, but as the guests of the children. Children should be permitted to come and go quietly. If ushers are provided to help them find seats there will be little danger of their becoming noisy or disorderly. All children, the rich and poor alike, should be invited and made to feel welcome. They should not be expected to dress for the occasion. There should be about the occasion no formality that might tend to keep any children away. It should be easy for newsboys, messenger boys, shop girls, boys and girls from the factories and children at play on the streets to go immediately from their occupations, listen to the music for all or a proportion of the hour and return directly again to their occupations or play.

NOTED ZIONIST HERE ON SUNDAY.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 a mass meeting of the Hebrew population will be held in the Carleton street Synagogue. The purpose of the meeting is the furtherance of the Palestine restoration fund, as since the recent Balfour declaration at San Remo, the future of Palestine as a Jewish homeland under the protection of Great Britain is assured. Kadishevit, a noted Jewish Zionist of Montreal, who has devoted his life work to the cause, will address the gathering.

As the work of restoration and colonization will entail a vast amount of capital, it is a foregone conclusion that local Jewry will respond as readily as have their brethren in other cities to the huge fund now being raised for this purpose.

COMES TO CITY AS PASTOR OF CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. F. H. Bone, the new pastor of the Central Baptist church, was born in the county of Cornwall, England, and only a stone's throw from the spot where John Wesley composed that famous hymn commencing with the following lines:

"Lay on a narrow neck of land, Twist two unbounded seas I stand."

Coming from a line of local preachers, Mr. Bone migrated to Canada some thirteen years ago, settling at New Glasgow (N.S.). Shortly after his arrival he united with the First Baptist church of that town, then under the pastoral care of the late well known and much beloved Rev. W. M. Smallman, and entered heartily into every phase of church work.

In the fall of 1907, at the instigation of his pastor, he was led to accept a call to the work of the Christian ministry extended to him by the Tuxet pastors, Yarmouth county (N.S.). In the summer of the following year he was ordained. The Tuxet pastorate was followed by a pastorate in the New Minas field, Kings county (N.S.), Canning in the same county, and near River in Digby county (N.S.).

Having decided to further equip himself for his work, from an intellectual standpoint, he resigned his pastorate at Tuxet in the fall of 1910, and entered the senior year of Acadia Collegiate Academy. Completing his academy course in the spring of 1911, he entered Acadia University in the fall of the same year. In four years he completed the five-year course, leading to Bachelor of Theology, receiving his degree in 1916. In 1916 he completed his Bachelor of Arts course receiving his B. A. degree in the spring of 1916.

Mr. Bone succeeds the Rev. D. J. MacPherson.

ROCKEFELLER MILLIONS FOR BAPTIST WORK

New York, May 1.—An outright gift of $2,000,000 and conditional pledges of an additional $2,000,000 from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial Fund to the B. Y. F. U. fund being held by the New World Movement of Northern Baptists are announced. Added personal contributions announced from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the Baptist, and received gifts and pledges in two days totaling $6,000,000 from the Rockefeller family.

Of the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Fund pledges, $1,000,000 is conditional upon the raising of $2,000,000 by the Baptists, and a second million is conditional upon the fund's reaching $87,600,000.

GIVING TO THE CHURCH.

A well-to-do business man tells of a recent experience he had. Speaking of himself and his wife he said, "We were going over our family budget for the year. Suddenly I looked up at my wife with a gasp of astonishment. 'Do you see what we have done?' I exclaimed. For amusements and automobile we have allotted ten times as much as we are planning to give to church and charities. I have never realized it before. Together we went over the figures."

What they had set aside for benevolence would just about buy one new automobile tire. They were so impressed with this disparity that they decided to lift God's portion from the bottom to the top of their budget.

This story is worth thinking about. A minister tells that he had in the choir of his church a young man who spent $75 a year in tobacco and when he gave $25 to the church, his only contribution, as there was not any collection taken in the choir, his parents and friends cried shame on the church for taking it. He was single and earned something more than $12 a week—good pay in those days.

The Veterinarian.

Kingston Whig: The tragic death of a Kingston veterinary as the result of an accident while responding to a call to perform an act of mercy has called forth expressions of deep sorrow. The life of the veterinarian is a busy one. Like the medical practitioner, he is on call at all hours of the day and night, for the treatment of the dumb animals has become as scientific as that of human beings. Research and experimental work is continually producing new treatments in veterinary science and many valuable dumb beasts are preserved through the use of serum and other discoveries. The veterinarian performs a most important duty in the community in the relief of the dumb creatures. He is generally a lover of all animals, and he who loves and cures the dumb beasts must in a way walk in the footsteps of the Great Physician, for the Almighty created all life, and not a sparrow falls to the ground without His knowing.

Rice Versus Spuds.

(Toronto Telegram)
The Parliamentary restaurant has joined the "potato boycott."

It is said that this is not under any pressure from the farmers' government, but, nevertheless, the succulent "murf" has disappeared from the menu card for at least three days every week until the potatoes they are holding up.

Rice is a good substitute for spuds. Rice has about as many calories as potatoes. Whether this is correct or not, the diners in the Parliamentary restaurant must be content to live potatoes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and rice as a substitute on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
