

note with pleasure that Pythianism here oversteps the international boundary line and that the brethren of Windsor and Detroit meet in fraternal visitations.

It is with feelings of regret that we notice the death of P. G. M. at A. John Blackwood, whose past services were not forgotten as was evidenced by the large gathering of brethren who buried him with Pythian honors.

District No. 6 (a).—In this district Bro. E. Biggings is still at the helm, holding his own and in hopes of a bright future.

District No. 6 (c).—Bro. Gillie still hold the fort in this district with no particular change since the last meeting of Grand Lodge.

District No. 8.—We are pleased to note that Bro. Stacey reports the lodge in his district as active, well posted, and taking a deep interest in lodge work, with a large increase in membership.

District No. 9.—We regret to find such an unfavorable report from this district but hope that the social feature just added to the constitution will prove beneficial and be the means of infusing new life into this dormant lodge.

District No. 20.—Bro. Robb's report is rather deficient in information regarding the state of the order in his district, but we gather from the report of the Grand Chancellor that his visit, accompanied by the rank team from Toronto, has had a most salutary effect and we expect to hear of greater results in the future, especially as he reports No. 44 "a real live lodge."

District No. 13.—We are pleased to report that Inglewood Lodge is again within the fold, and we must congratulate Bro. Inglis on the very satisfactory nature of this, his first, report since its revival.

District No. 18.—This is the first report from this district and we wish to congratulate Bro. W. McWhinney on the very satisfactory showing made since the institution of Hamlet Lodge, Stratford, and also on the fact that the work is conferred without the use of the rituals.

District No. 19.—We are sorry that the duties in this district are not more onerous—there being only one lodge—as Bro. Secord complains of not having sufficient work to do, and would highly recommend the organization of lodges in Burford and Paris. We know of no better organizer than Bro. Secord himself, and would suggest that he, with some of the influential members of Calanthe Lodge, make an effort in that direction as we have no doubt the incoming Grand Chancellor will render him every assistance in his power.

Lodge Inspection.—Your Committee is pleased to note that the tabulated statement of the inspection of lodges is still continued in the report as it certainly furnishes, at a glance, information otherwise almost unattainable, and we only hope that Deputy Grand Chancellors will pay more attention to their
