NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Of far more interest than the formal arraignment in a police court of Peter C. Hains, Jr., who shot and killed William E. Annis, advertising manager of a magazine, on Saturday at the Bayview Yacht Club landing wharf his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, held at bay a crowd of yachtsmen who sought to prevent the hands of District Attorney Darin bearing upon the cause of the shooting.

It was established that the captain and Mr. Annis were on such friendly terms that they met automatically together as recently as May 29 last. It was also disclosed that there were two women in party and the police believe the women were Mrs. Hains and Mrs. Annis.

The police record, prove that the men were autoing together for a motor cycle policeman arrested the party for speeding on Queen Parkway. The case was postponed in court several times and is still on the calendar.

It was in Mr. Annis' automobile and the police held him in $100 bail. Annis only had $20 so the police were about to lock him up when Capt. Hains stepped forward and handed the prisoner four $25 gold pieces, thus securing his release. The names of the two women were not taken by the police, but from the conversation that took place at the station it was generally supposed they were the wives of both Capt. Hains and Mr. Annis.

This friendship ceased after a talk this, and then the doctor, T. Jenkins Hains, said the District Attorney.

"I intend to have T. Jenkins Hains as an accessory before and during the fact, as I believe he is as guilty as his brother. It was his letter to Captain Hains that made the latter hurry home from the Philippines and question his wife regarding her alleged conduct."

Mrs. Annis, who witnessed the shooting of her husband, has been protesting since the tragedy and cannot be reached by Mr. Annis's day before he was shot. The letter warned him, it is claimed, to leave the country.

Mrs. Annis told to dissuade her husband from going to Bayview. When she saw Capt. Hains and his brother at Bayview just before the shooting, she shouted a warning to her husband and begged him not to come to the landing from his yacht while Captain Hains was there.

Mrs. Annis did not believe Captain Hains intended to shoot her husband, she says, but thought he wanted to shoot him in a divorce case proceeding. Despite the fact that Annis had been named as co-responsible for the shooting, she was not against his wife, Mrs. Annis had the utmost faith in her husband. As a result of the shooting, Mrs. Hains was taken on automobile rides with Mrs. Annis and her husband.

GENERAL IN NEW YORK. General Hains is in New York stopping at the Hotel Astor so that he can be near his son. He was asked today if he had seen his daughter-in-law and replied that he had not. He told of an arrangement which had been reported as existing whereby Mrs. Hains could visit her children every two weeks and stated emphatically that he would not permit her to take charge of the little ones unless his son, Captain Hains, agrees to let her have them.

General Hains declined to discuss the shooting of Annis by his son, saying that his son's lawyers had advised him not to talk about the case.

L. C. Page, a Boston publisher, who is stopping at the Hotel Breslin here and who has published a number of T. Jenkins Hains' stories, today made public a letter he says he received from T. Jenkins Hains more than a month ago in which the writer referred to the trouble between Capt. Hains and his wife.

KILLED A MAN ONCE. The district attorney was interested when he learned that T. Jenkins Hains killed a man at Porters Cove, Va., some years ago, and secured a copy of the court proceedings during his trial.

Not Haines, the man Hains killed, was his best friend, and it is striking fact that he shot him in a salubrious in much the same manner as Captain Hains on Saturday shot Mr. Annis. Mrs. Annis was just leaving his yacht, named the Pam, when Captain Hains fired six shots into his body.

Locked in the safe of the Flushing police station is another bit of evidence that will be used at the trial of Captain Hains. While Mr. Annis was lying on the floor of the yacht, a trip
